U.S. Breaks Up Spy Ring In Germany

Members May Have Operated As Red Agents

Large-Scale Subversive Movement Against U. S. Army Hinted

MAN REPORTED TO BE LEADER IS ARRESTED

Russian Repatriation Officers Are Said To Have Financed Ring

STUTTGART, Germany, Friday, Aug. 30 (AP)—United States Intelligence authorities said last night that they had broken up a ring of German spies suspected of operating in the American occupation zone as undercover agents for Soviet Russia. There were hints of a possible large-scale German subversive movement against the United States Army.

Counterintelligence Corps officers at Stuttgart and at United States Army headquarters in Frankfurt revealed that the suspected spy ring was exposed after it had engaged in undercover activities for several months. Members of the ring were said to belong to a secret German organization known as "Free Germany." This was the first time the existence of such an organization had been revealed.

Agents refused to discuss the nature or activities of the "Free Germany" group and whether it was large or small. They gave indications, however, that the arrested Germans were only members of a large organization.

Leader Is Trapped

There also were strong indications that the arrested Germans had spied on American secrets on their own initiative. There was no statement that they had been prompted by Russian authorities.

A man named Walther Kazmarek was said to be the leader of the ring. Intelligence officers quoted Kazmarek as saying he had received funds from Russian repatriation officers and had reported American troop movements in the Frankfurt area some months ago.

Kazmarek was trapped, the agents said, partly by a recording of a speech he made in which he said: "We support the Soviet policy fully."

Officers refused to say whether the speech was made to a group of any size.

"The leader was believed to be connected with Russian agents in the zone. He declared in a statement that he had received some money some time ago," a high intelligence officer at United States Army headquarters said.

Ring Broken Months Ago

The ring of Germans was broken up "two or three months ago," it was revealed by agents at Stuttgart.

The Germans were arrested after months of investigation of the secret undercover activities of the ring, the agents said.

Allegedly the Germans had maintained contact with Russian agents and sent representatives to the Russian zone of Germany.

Intelligence officers at United States Army headquarters said Kazmarek confessed he had received 5,000 marks from Russian repatriation officers.

"He alleged that he reported troop movements in the Frankfurt area some months ago," the officers declared.

The agents said the counterintelligence corps had recorded a speech in which Kazmarek had declared: "We support the Soviet policy fully."

Arabs Will Remain Away From Holy Land Parley; Lives Of 18 Jews Spared

ACCUSED OF SLAYING—Charles Hazlett, 13, sits in county court at Buffalo, N. Y., where Judge Hamilton Ward, Jr., held that the boy could not waive extradition to Pennsylvania to face charges of first degree murder in the death of his playmate, Michael Gerrich, 12, whose skeleton was found in a Pittsburgh cellar.

Death Sentences Of Saboteurs Commuted To Life Imprisonment

JERUSALEM, Aug. 29 (AP)—Palestine Arabs "will flatly refuse to go to London and will insist that other Arab nations also refuse to attend the conferences" in the British capital on the Palestine question, Dr. Hssein El Khalidi, secretary of the Arab Executive, said tonight.

Khalidi made this statement during an interview shortly after receiving from the High Commissioner the British government's refusal to accept the Mufti of Jerusalem as a delegate to the conference.

Khalidi said he would be in telephonic communication yet tonight with the Mufti, Haj Amin El Hasseini, who now is in Alexandria.

Earlier, the British commander in Palestine, Maj. Gen. Sir Evelyn Barker, had commuted to life imprisonment the death sentences imposed on 18 young men of the Stern Gang, a Jewish underground organization. The youths had been convicted of sabotage.

Reprisals Threatened

The Jewish underground had threatened reprisals if the sentences were carried out. Guards around Acre prison had been doubled and then trebled recently as a precaution against any underground attempt to free the men.

During the interview Khalidi assailed the British government for "rejecting all three terms on which we (Arabs) agreed to participate in the London talks."

He made public a letter from Sir John Shaw, British chief secretary, dated August 27, in which Shaw announced September 9 as the date for the talks and declared "His Majesty's government have decided to convene the conference for the purpose of establishing peace in Palestine."

"This is the first time," Khalidi said, "the British have admitted they are not seeking a solution to the problem but merely were trying to find a policy of appeasement."

Detention Camp Searched

Barker's action was announced as British troops suddenly searched Latrun detention camp for hidden arms and blocked all roads to Tel Aviv after reports of an impending "suspicious action" — possibly an underground attempt to free 500 Jewish detainees at Latrun.

The camp was cordoned off while soldiers searched it and the neighborhood. Large-scale searches and identity checks were made in Tel Aviv. At Rehoboth, soldiers made a house-to-house search with mine detectors in the Kfar Menahem neighborhood. Settlers there said some soldiers parachuted from planes early this morning.

The 18 members of the Stern Gang were sentenced August 16 by a military court which found them guilty of sabotaging the Haifa railway workshop and firing on British soldiers last June.

Cotton Textile Prices Again Are Boosted By OPA

Harried Agency Works Overtime To Write Higher Livestock Prices

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — OPA again boosted cotton textile prices tonight, as required by the new price law, presaging another one or two per cent rise in the cost of cotton garments to consumers.

Cotton mill prices were raised two and one half per cent effective tomorrow in the fourth increase since March. The total price climb this year on basic fabrics is over 30 per cent.

Meanwhile the harried agency worked late to write higher livestock prices over the country, jibing with Secretary of Agriculture Anderson's ceiling recommendations — which amount to orders—of yesterday. The new ceilings will be announced tomorrow or Saturday.

Anderson announced prices on pork $1.40 a hundred pounds higher than the June 30 ceilings at Chicago, and on beef $2.25 higher. Agriculture officials said this would mean two and a half to three cents more at retail for pork and five and one half to six cents more for beef cuts.

Prices Revised Monthly

The cotton price increase resulted from the provision of the new OPA law that cotton products reflect current costs of raw cotton or parity, which ever is higher. Raw cotton prices have been rising.

Textile prices therefore must be revised monthly, OPA said, with clothing prices fluctuating with them. The last increase, early this month was 16 per cent on the average. It followed a March increase of eight and one half per cent, largely to cover wage increases and an April rise of five per cent to spur production of basic fabrics.

Porter asserted tonight his agency will not "bail out" dealers who have withheld lead and lead scrap from the market on the "mistaken belief that ceiling prices would be raised."

He said in a statement that OPA does not plan to increase ceiling prices on the metal above June 30 levels in the "foreseeable future."

Acetylene Torch Blast Kills Three

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 29 (AP) — Three workers were killed this afternoon in the explosion of an acetylene torch at the big plant of the Trumbull Asphalt Company of Delaware in North Memphis.

The explosion tore the bodies to bits, and first reports said at least five persons were killed. However, Nelson Dale, an operator at the plant, said a thorough check of time-cards had been made and indicated that only the three men—all of whom were working with the torch—were killed.

They were T. H. Wolfe, about 35; Howard Wolfe, about 16, and Henry Gleece, about 50.

Dale said the three were operating the torch near an asphalt still on the plant grounds when the torch exploded.

Two hours after the explosion, parts of the bodies of the victims were still being recovered.

Economy Measure Ordered By Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The War Department today slashed the number of its civilian employes in the United States nearly 10 per cent and forecast additional measures to meet President Truman's economy demands.

Orders went out to Army headquarters and field agencies to drop 53,079 employes by October 1. There were 572,579 on the payroll July 31.

The reduction was ordered by the Budget Bureau in accordance with a congressional directive that government departments must absorb the cost of pay raises voted Civil Service employes.

KEY WEST, Fla., Aug. 29 (AP)—Two explosions rocked the oil tanker Chester Sun 100 miles in the Gulf of Mexico from Key West today and injured four men.

NMU Leaders Favor Ending Lakes Strike

Union Membership Must Vote On Terminating General Walkout

DETROIT, Aug. 29. (AP)—Leaders of the CIO National Maritime Union voted tonight to call off a strike against all Great Lakes ship operators except seven described as "not interested yet in reaching a satisfactory settlement."

The action, coming on the 15th day of the walkout, was taken by the strike strategy committee. Spokesmen expressed confidence that ratification by the membership would follow in meetings in all Great Lakes ports scheduled later tonight.

All strike-bound vessels except the 21 operated by the seven companies thus will be freed as of noon tomorrow, NMU strike headquarters said.

Three More Carriers Sign

The union listed the seven carriers as Inland Steel, Nicholson, American Steel and Wire, Johnson Transportation Company, Brown and Shasta, Jupiter, and Texas Oil.

No estimate was given by the NMU as to the number of ships which will be affected by the back-to-work action. The union claims to have signed new contracts with nine companies operating 33 lake vessels, with all pacts embodying clauses reducing the standard 56-hour work week to 48 hours at sea and 44 hours in port.

Latest signed, the NMU reported, were the Interstate Steamship Company and the International Harvester Company, in negotiations at Cleveland, and the Ford Motor Company at a bargaining session in New York.

The NMU asserted it was "not giving up the fight for the 40-hour week," its original demand.

At the outset of the strike, an NMU spokesman pointed out, the union invited unorganized seamen to join the walkout.

"It would be unfair to penalize them by asking them to stay off their jobs any longer," he said.

56-Hour Week "Broken"

The strategy committee's announcement said two factors prompted it to call off the general strike:

1. The union had "broken" the seven-day, 56-hour work week.

2. The Lake Carriers' Association, representing operators of 316 vessels, had recommended to its members the adoption of the shorter work week.

The strategy committee did not go into particulars for its decision to continue the strike against seven companies except for its statement on the firms' attitudes. Three of the group—Inland Steel, American Steel and Wire, and Brown and Shasta—are members of the carriers' association.

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Artist

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 29. (AP)—John Steuart Curry, one of the lusty triumvirate whose painting carried midwestern art to the galleries and peoples of the world, died today at 48 after a heart attack. He had been ill two days.

The death of Curry, artist in residence at the University of Wisconsin since 1936, following that of Grant Wood, leaves only Missouri's Thomas Hart Benton of the trio whose work raised storms of critical conflict as violent as their canvas portrayals.

Curry, born on a Kansas farm, said that he never had escaped the impression of overwhelming, elemental force gained in his childhood from sun-blighted prairies, disaster-hounded people and sudden storms. The destructive forces of nature lurked always in his pictures of rural life and the fierceness of his style influenced his historical murals and circus studies, in which latter he earned a reputation as the most poetic painter since Albert Ryder.

DENIED U. N. MEMBERSHIP—The United Nations Security Council last night failed to approve the membership application of Russian-sponsored Albania, whose delegates are shown above as they appeared at the reopening of the council meetings at Lake Success, N. Ministers Agree On Procedure For Handling Treaty Proposals

Fall Will Bring Transportation Crisis To Nation

ODT Chief Says Pinch Will Begin About Oct. 15, Continue To May

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The nation "is facing the greatest transportation crisis in 20 years," ODT Director J. Monroe Johnson said today.

The real pinch will begin about October 15 and continue until May, he said, with such results as:

1. Some factories will be compelled to close down or reduce operations during periods of the fall and winter;

2. The movement of crops will be strung out over a longer-than-usual period. The railroads still will be moving this year's wheat crop when the next crop ripens.

Johnson said in an interview that "the railroads simply cannot handle all the traffic which will be offered them during coming months. So when the storage facilities of industrial plants are filled, they'll just have to close down or curtail operations until they can move their goods."

High Demand Will Last

Normally, Johnson said, the peak demand for railroad freight cars begins apout October 15 and continues several weeks. But this year, he said, the high demand will continue well into next year.

"We shall be in a terrible fix in transportation until May," the ODT director said.

"Right now the railroads are hauling more freight than at any time during the war. For the week ended July 30, the carloading figure was over 921,000, the highest weekly loading since the week ended October 12, 1941."

But demand will reach 1,000,000 cars a week by fall, Johnson said, with the result that 75,000 cars of freight will back up each week for an indefinite period.

Shortage Of Freight Cars

Johnson attributes the high traffic demand to mounting industrial production, the movement of bumper food crops and the stockpiling of winter supplies such as coal and ore, by homes and factories.

Another big factor is an acute shortage of railroad freight cars. Six hundred thousand fewer cars are now rolling than during the First World War, Johnson said, and the total supply of serviceable box cars has decreased 25,000 since August 1, 1943.

Byrnes And Bevin Oppose Molotov's Demand For Postponement Of Meeting Of U. N. Assembly

PARIS, Aug. 29. (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers decided tonight to stick by their agreements already reached in peace treaty drafts, and to support proposed changes to those agreements only if all four powers approved.

But each still will have a free hand to vote as it pleases if the Big Four disagree on proposed amendments concerned with parts of the drafts on which they previously had not reached agreement.

The treaty drafts submitted by the ministers to the peace conference contain sections on which the Big Four agreed completely, and sections on which they disagreed.

A French informant, amplifying the announcement after the Foreign Ministers' Council session, said that when amendments to unagreed portions of the drafts were mutually acceptable, then all four powers would be committed to support them in committee meetings.

Ministers In Cheerful Mood

A procedure for reviewing and handling the flood of 300 proposed amendments was agreed upon at the ministers' session, called to speed the work of the bogged-down conference. All four ministers emerged in cheerful mood.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov demanded that the United Nations General Assembly meeting be postponed until December or early January, the French informant said, but United States Secretary of State Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Bevin opposed any postponement beyond the assembly's scheduled September 23 opening in New York.

Byrnes and Bevin said both the peace conference and General Assembly could be held at the same time.

Regarding the request for postponement of the General Assembly, Molotov declared it would be impossible to hold the assembly and the peace conference at the same time.

Transportation Problem

Byrnes responded that the prestige of the United Nations forbade a second postponement. He added that another factor was the transportation and hotel reservation problem, but that more important was the fact that the United Nations budget must be voted before the end of the year if the administrative personnel were to be paid.

The council argued also without desision a proposal by Byrnes to merge peace conference committee discussions on some tropics in order to simplify and speed debate. Byrnes urged that similar issues in various treaties be handled in general committee rather than in various individual committees.

The council instructed the deputy foreign ministers to begin tomorrow a review of all amendments submitted by the 17 other nations, and then adjourned until next week. The French informant said the ministers probably would get together again Monday.

Ryan To Head Moose

CHICAGO, Aug. 29 (AP)—Leo W. Ryan, Bradford, Pa., today was nominated for the supreme governorship of the Loyal Order of Moose at the lodge's 58th annual national convention. No opponents to Ryan and other officers were nominated and the full slate will be elected at tomorrow's sessions.

Hopes For Ending Chinese Conflict Reach New High

Central Government And Reds Join In "Unofficial" Committee

NANKING, Aug. 29 (AP) — The Central government and the Communists joined today in an "unofficial" committee to examine procedure for ushering in an all-party state council and propects of a cessation of Chinese civil strife appeared closer to realization than at any time in recent weeks.

The Communists agreed to participate in the five-man committee, proposed and headed by United States Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart, on the condition that Chiang Kai-Shek would issue a national cease fire order as quickly as it reaches a "basic understanding."

War Grows In Violence

These developments came as hostilities grew in violence in North China, especially in Jehol Province, and after peace negotiations had been stalemated for weeks.

Chou En-Lai, chief Communist negotiator, conferred for more than two hours with Gen. Marshall, special American envoy. He concluded by naming himself and Tung Pi-Wu as the party's members on the committee. Tung, one of the party's elder statesmen, was a delegate to the United Nations conference at San Francisco.

Earlier, Premier T. V. Soong gave Dr. Stuart the names of the government representatives on the committee. They are Wute-Chen, Secretary General of the Kuomintang, and Chang Li-Sheng, Minister of the Interior.

Situation "Clear Cut"

"The situation is clear cut. The government now can demonstrate the sincerity of its desire for peace," A Communist spokesman told the Associated Press in commenting on formation of the committee.

Activities to the group will be restricted solely to the organization of the state council, and it will not study the military situation.

Soviet-Backed Nations' Bids Are Rejected

ALBANIA, MONGOLIA DENIED MEMBERSHIP

Reds Demand Study Of Allied Armies On U. N. Members' Territory

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 29, (AP)—Soviet Russia tonight vetoed the admission of Trans-Jordan, Portugal and Ireland to the United Nations and in a surprise move demanded that the United Nations Security Council study the situation of Allied armies stationed on territory of other members of the United Nations.

Russia refused to approve the application of the three nations because the Kremlin does not have normal diplomatic relations with them.

The Security Council now must decide whether to hear the charges lodged by Soviet Ukraine that Greece is a menace to the peace of the Balkans. Russia wants to press the case now; Greece has asked a 10-day postponement.

The council argued at length over whether to meet tomorrow, as Russia and Poland demanded, or next Tuesday, as advocated by the United States and other members. Finally, ending the longest day's work in council history — about nine hours in three sittings—the delegates adjourned at 9:45 p. m., E. D. T., until 3:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Three Nations Approved

After a long and bitter wrangle the Security Council failed to approve the membership applications of Russian-sponsored Albania and Outer Mongolia.

The only nations approved were Afghanistan, Iceland and Sweden.

Despite the long and tiring session, Russia then surprised the council with a demand that the delegates study the question of Allied armies now on the terriory of members of the United Nations, specifically excepting the territory of former enemy countries.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, said the council should demand information as to in what places not former enemy territory are forces situated and in what places air and sea bases are established.

Gromyko said the procedure of keeping large Allied armies in occupied countries beyond the conclusion of the war cannot help but provide anxiety in those countries. The chairman, Dr. Oscar Lange, said the matter was not on the agenda and should not be discussed now.

Cadogan's Suggestion

Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Britain, suggested it might refer to the Ukrainian charges against Greece, in which country British troops are stationed now. Lange noted that Dmitri Manuilsky, foreign Minister of the Soviet Ukraine who lodged the complaint against Greece, had just arrived in New York.

For approval, each application for membership required seven affirmative votes, with all of the five great powers holding the veto right concurring. The results of the quick flurry of voting ending the long arguments were:

Albania—Five affirmative: Russia, Brazil, France, Mexico, Poland. Three negative: Britain United States, the Netherlands. Abstaining: Australia, China, Egypt.

Outer Mongolia—Six affirmative: Russia, Brazil, Mexico, China, France, Poland. Three negative: United States, Britain, and the

Nation's Industry Reaches Virtual Capacity Production, CPA Reports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Industry is pouring out civilian goods and services at a rate approaching total production at the climax of the war effort, Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small reported tonight.

Free for the present from the "stop-and-go" of labor discord, producers of basic materials have reached their virtual capacity, Small's monthly production report stated. Factories now are "within sight of full production of finished goods."

Automobile assembly lines ran 56 per cent more in July than in June, while sewing machine output, the other outstanding laggard of reconversion, jumped 30 per cent.

The gross national product—the value of the country's productive effort, in 1939 dollars—hit a $130,000,000,000 annual rate in the April-May-June quarter, the CPA director said.

"A somewhat larger increase is now indicated for the third quarter, which may bring gross national product to within five per cent of the all-time peak of $142,000,000,000," the report predicted.

The peak was the second quarter of last year, the period of all-out arms production climaxed by Germany's surrender.

Civilian employment hit the unprecedented total of 58,100,000. The expansion of factory and commercial activity was indicated by the fact that the entire increase of 1,400,000 over June was in nonfarming jobs.

Despite this "full employment," Small estimated that more than

Cancellation Of Third Atom Bomb Test Blast Is Distinct Possibility

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Cancellation of the third atom bomb test planned for next spring is a distinct possibility, it was learned today.

The Navy strongly favors "Test Charlie" to supplement information gained from the two tests held last month at Bikini, a spokesman for "Operations Crossroads" told a reporter today. The fate of the third test will be determnied by the joint chiefs of staff, he said, adding its prospects look "grim."

Original plans for the joint Army-Navy operation called for a bomb burst in the air over a target fleet, a second one just below the surface and a third several thousand feet down. The first two were carried out at Bikini.

Three main obstacles to the last test have arisen:

(1) Scientists borrowed from their laboratories want to resume their research work on atomic fission, (2) the presidential order slicing $650,000,000 from the Navy budget means a tightening of the purse strings, and (3) technical personnel, eligible for discharge, who volunteered to stay for the first and second tests will be long gone by next spring.

Almost clinching the fate of "Charlie" is the reliability with with which results were predicted for "Able" and "Baker", the first and second tests held in July.

Until the tests were actually held, the spokesman said, no one knew for sure just how right the slide rules and calculations were.

Acetylene Torch Blast Kills Three

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 29 (AP) — Three workers were killed this afternoon in the explosion of an acetylene torch at the big plant of the Trumbull Asphalt Company of Delaware in North Memphis.

The explosion tore the bodies to bits, and first reports said at least five persons were killed. However, Nelson Dale, an operator at the plant, said a thorough check of time-cards had been made and indicated that only the three men—all of whom were working with the torch—were killed.

They were T. H. Wolfe, about 35; Howard Wolfe, about 16, and Henry Gleece, about 50.

Dale said the three were operating the torch near an asphalt still on the plant grounds when the torch exploded.

Two hours after the explosion, parts of the bodies of the victims were still being recovered.

Economy Measure Ordered By Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The War Department today slashed the number of its civilian employes in the United States nearly 10 per cent and forecast additional measures to meet President Truman's economy demands.

Orders went out to Army headquarters and field agencies to drop 53,079 employes by October 1. There were 572,579 on the payroll July 31.

The reduction was ordered by the Budget Bureau in accordance with a congressional directive that government departments must absorb the cost of pay raises voted Civil Service employes.

NMU Leaders Favor Ending Lakes Strike

Union Membership Must Vote On Terminating General Walkout

DETROIT, Aug. 29. (AP)—Leaders of the CIO National Maritime Union voted tonight to call off a strike against all Great Lakes ship operators except seven described as "not interested yet in reaching a satisfactory settlement."

The action, coming on the 15th day of the walkout, was taken by the strike strategy committee. Spokesmen expressed confidence that ratification by the membership would follow in meetings in all Great Lakes ports scheduled later tonight.

All strike-bound vessels except the 21 operated by the seven companies thus will be freed as of noon tomorrow, NMU strike headquarters said.

Three More Carriers Sign

The union listed the seven carriers as Inland Steel, Nicholson, American Steel and Wire, Johnson Transportation Company, Brown and Shasta, Jupiter, and Texas Oil.

No estimate was given by the NMU as to the number of ships which will be affected by the back-to-work action. The union claims to have signed new contracts with nine companies operating 33 lake vessels, with all pacts embodying clauses reducing the standard 56-hour work week to 48 hours at sea and 44 hours in port.

Latest signed, the NMU reported, were the Interstate Steamship Company and the International Harvester Company, in negotiations at Cleveland, and the Ford Motor Company at a bargaining session in New York.

The NMU asserted it was "not giving up the fight for the 40-hour week," its original demand.

At the outset of the strike, an NMU spokesman pointed out, the union invited unorganized seamen to join the walkout.

"It would be unfair to penalize them by asking them to stay off their jobs any longer," he said.

56-Hour Week "Broken"

The strategy committee's announcement said two factors prompted it to call off the general strike:

1. The union had "broken" the seven-day, 56-hour work week.

2. The Lake Carriers' Association, representing operators of 316 vessels, had recommended to its members the adoption of the shorter work week.

The strategy committee did not go into particulars for its decision to continue the strike against seven companies except for its statement on the firms' attitudes. Three of the group—Inland Steel, American Steel and Wire, and Brown and Shasta—are members of the carriers' association.

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Artist

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 29. (AP)—John Steuart Curry, one of the lusty triumvirate whose painting carried midwestern art to the galleries and peoples of the world, died today at 48 after a heart attack. He had been ill two days.

The death of Curry, artist in residence at the University of Wisconsin since 1936, following that of Grant Wood, leaves only Missouri's Thomas Hart Benton of the trio whose work raised storms of critical conflict as violent as their canvas portrayals.

Curry, born on a Kansas farm, said that he never had escaped the impression of overwhelming, elemental force gained in his childhood from sun-blighted prairies, disaster-hounded people and sudden storms. The destructive forces of nature lurked always in his pictures of rural life and the fierceness of his style influenced his historical murals and circus studies, in which latter he earned a reputation as the most poetic painter since Albert Ryder.

Ministers Agree On Procedure For Handling Treaty Proposals

Fall Will Bring Transportation Crisis To Nation

ODT Chief Says Pinch Will Begin About Oct. 15, Continue To May

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The nation "is facing the greatest transportation crisis in 20 years," ODT Director J. Monroe Johnson said today.

The real pinch will begin about October 15 and continue until May, he said, with such results as:

1. Some factories will be compelled to close down or reduce operations during periods of the fall and winter;

2. The movement of crops will be strung out over a longer-than-usual period. The railroads still will be moving this year's wheat crop when the next crop ripens.

Johnson said in an interview that "the railroads simply cannot handle all the traffic which will be offered them during coming months. So when the storage facilities of industrial plants are filled, they'll just have to close down or curtail operations until they can move their goods."

High Demand Will Last

Normally, Johnson said, the peak demand for railroad freight cars begins apout October 15 and continues several weeks. But this year, he said, the high demand will continue well into next year.

"We shall be in a terrible fix in transportation until May," the ODT director said.

"Right now the railroads are hauling more freight than at any time during the war. For the week ended July 30, the carloading figure was over 921,000, the highest weekly loading since the week ended October 12, 1941."

But demand will reach 1,000,000 cars a week by fall, Johnson said, with the result that 75,000 cars of freight will back up each week for an indefinite period.

Shortage Of Freight Cars

Johnson attributes the high traffic demand to mounting industrial production, the movement of bumper food crops and the stockpiling of winter supplies such as coal and ore, by homes and factories.

Another big factor is an acute shortage of railroad freight cars. Six hundred thousand fewer cars are now rolling than during the First World War, Johnson said, and the total supply of serviceable box cars has decreased 25,000 since August 1, 1943.

Byrnes And Bevin Oppose Molotov's Demand For Postponement Of Meeting Of U. N. Assembly

PARIS, Aug. 29. (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers decided tonight to stick by their agreements already reached in peace treaty drafts, and to support proposed changes to those agreements only if all four powers approved.

But each still will have a free hand to vote as it pleases if the Big Four disagree on proposed amendments concerned with parts of the drafts on which they previously had not reached agreement.

The treaty drafts submitted by the ministers to the peace conference contain sections on which the Big Four agreed completely, and sections on which they disagreed.

A French informant, amplifying the announcement after the Foreign Ministers' Council session, said that when amendments to unagreed portions of the drafts were mutually acceptable, then all four powers would be committed to support them in committee meetings.

Ministers In Cheerful Mood

A procedure for reviewing and handling the flood of 300 proposed amendments was agreed upon at the ministers' session, called to speed the work of the bogged-down conference. All four ministers emerged in cheerful mood.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov demanded that the United Nations General Assembly meeting be postponed until December or early January, the French informant said, but United States Secretary of State Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Bevin opposed any postponement beyond the assembly's scheduled September 23 opening in New York.

Byrnes and Bevin said both the peace conference and General Assembly could be held at the same time.

Regarding the request for postponement of the General Assembly, Molotov declared it would be impossible to hold the assembly and the peace conference at the same time.

Transportation Problem

Byrnes responded that the prestige of the United Nations forbade a second postponement. He added that another factor was the transportation and hotel reservation problem, but that more important was the fact that the United Nations budget must be voted before the end of the year if the administrative personnel were to be paid.

The council argued also without desision a proposal by Byrnes to merge peace conference committee discussions on some tropics in order to simplify and speed debate. Byrnes urged that similar issues in various treaties be handled in general committee rather than in various individual committees.

The council instructed the deputy foreign ministers to begin tomorrow a review of all amendments submitted by the 17 other nations, and then adjourned until next week. The French informant said the ministers probably would get together again Monday.

Hopes For Ending Chinese Conflict Reach New High

Central Government And Reds Join In "Unofficial" Committee

NANKING, Aug. 29 (AP) — The Central government and the Communists joined today in an "unofficial" committee to examine procedure for ushering in an all-party state council and propects of a cessation of Chinese civil strife appeared closer to realization than at any time in recent weeks.

The Communists agreed to participate in the five-man committee, proposed and headed by United States Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart, on the condition that Chiang Kai-Shek would issue a national cease fire order as quickly as it reaches a "basic understanding."

War Grows In Violence

These developments came as hostilities grew in violence in North China, especially in Jehol Province, and after peace negotiations had been stalemated for weeks.

Chou En-Lai, chief Communist negotiator, conferred for more than two hours with Gen. Marshall, special American envoy. He concluded by naming himself and Tung Pi-Wu as the party's members on the committee. Tung, one of the party's elder statesmen, was a delegate to the United Nations conference at San Francisco.

Earlier, Premier T. V. Soong gave Dr. Stuart the names of the government representatives on the committee. They are Wute-Chen, Secretary General of the Kuomintang, and Chang Li-Sheng, Minister of the Interior.

Situation "Clear Cut"

"The situation is clear cut. The government now can demonstrate the sincerity of its desire for peace," A Communist spokesman told the Associated Press in commenting on formation of the committee.

Activities to the group will be restricted solely to the organization of the state council, and it will not study the military situation.

Soviet-Backed Nations' Bids Are Rejected

Reds Demand Study Of Allied Armies On U. N. Members' Territory

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 29, (AP)—Soviet Russia tonight vetoed the admission of Trans-Jordan, Portugal and Ireland to the United Nations and in a surprise move demanded that the United Nations Security Council study the situation of Allied armies stationed on territory of other members of the United Nations.

Russia refused to approve the application of the three nations because the Kremlin does not have normal diplomatic relations with them.

The Security Council now must decide whether to hear the charges lodged by Soviet Ukraine that Greece is a menace to the peace of the Balkans. Russia wants to press the case now; Grecce has asked a 10-day postponement.

The council argued at length over whether to meet tomorrow, as Russia and Poland demanded, or next Tuesday, as advocated by the United States and other members. Finally, ending the longest day's work in council history — about nine hours in three sittings—the delegates adjourned at 9:45 p. m., E. D. T., until 3:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Three Nations Approved

After a long and bitter wrangle the Security Council failed to approve the membership applications of Russian-sponsored Albania and Outer Mongolia.

The only nations approved were Afghanistan, Iceland and Sweden.

Despite the long and tiring session, Russia then surprised the council with a demand that the delegates study the question of Allied armies now on the terriory of members of the United Nations, specifically excepting the territory of former enemy countries.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, said the council should demand information as to in what places not former enemy territory are forces situated and in what places air and sea bases are established.

Gromyko said the procedure of keeping large Allied armies in occupied countries beyond the conclusion of the war cannot help but provide anxiety in those countries. The chairman, Dr. Oscar Lange, said the matter was not on the agenda and should not be discussed now.

Cadogan's Suggestion

Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Britain, suggested it might refer to the Ukrainian charges against Greece, in which country British troops are stationed now. Lange noted that Dmitri Manuilsky, foreign Minister of the Soviet Ukraine who lodged the complaint against Greece, had just arrived in New York.

For approval, each application for membership required seven affirmative votes, with all of the five great powers holding the veto right concurring. The results of the quick flurry of voting ending the long arguments were:

Albania—Five affirmative: Russia, Brazil, France, Mexico, Poland. Three negative: Britain United States, the Netherlands. Abstaining: Australia, China, Egypt.

Outer Mongolia—Six affirmative: Russia, Brazil, Mexico, China, France, Poland. Three negative: United States, Britain, and the

Nation's Industry Reaches Virtual Capacity Production, CPA Reports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Industry is pouring out civilian goods and services at a rate approaching total production at the climax of the war effort, Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small reported tonight.

Free for the present from the "stop-and-go" of labor discord, producers of basic materials have reached their virtual capacity, Small's monthly production report stated. Factories now are "within sight of full production of finished goods."

Automobile assembly lines ran 56 per cent more in July than in June, while sewing machine output, the other outstanding laggard of reconversion, jumped 30 per cent.

The gross national product—the value of the country's productive effort, in 1939 dollars—hit a $130,000,000,000 annual rate in the April-May-June quarter, the CPA director said.

"A somewhat larger increase is now indicated for the third quarter, which may bring gross national product to within five per cent of the all-time peak of $142,000,000,000," the report predicted.

The peak was the second quarter of last year, the period of all-out arms production climaxed by Germany's surrender.

Civilian employment hit the unprecedented total of 58,100,000. The expansion of factory and commercial activity was indicated by the fact that the entire increase of 1,400,000 over June was in non-farming jobs.

Despite this "full employment," Small estimated that more than

Cancellation Of Third Atom Bomb Test Blast Is Distinct Possibility

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Cancellation of the third atom bomb test planned for next spring is a distinct possibility, it was learned today.

The Navy strongly favors "Test Charlie" to supplement information gained from the two tests held last month at Bikini, a spokesman for "Operations Crossroads" told a reporter today. The fate of the third test will be determnied by the joint chiefs of staff, he said, adding its prospects look "grim."

Original plans for the joint Army-Navy operation called for a bomb burst in the air over a target fleet, a second one just below the surface and a third several thousand feet down. The first two were carried out at Bikini.

Three main obstacles to the last test have arisen:

(1) Scientists borrowed from their laboratories want to resume their research work on atomic fission, (2) the presidential order slicing $650,000,000 from the Navy budget means a tightening of the purse strings, and (3) technical personnel, eligible for discharge, who volunteered to stay for the first and second tests will be long gone by next spring.

Almost clinching the fate of "Charlie" is the reliability with with which results were predicted for "Able" and "Baker", the first and second tests held in July.

Until the tests were actually held, the spokesman said, no one knew for sure just how right the slide rules and calculations were.

Kilian Is Found Guilty Of Letting Guards Beat GIs

American Officer Is Fined $500 And Reprimanded For His Conduct

BAD NAUHEIM, Germany, Aug. 29 (AP)—A military court today found Col. James A. Kilian, former commander of the United States Army's replacement depot at Lichfield, Eng., guilty of letting guards hit American soldier-prisoners with clubs and fists, then fined him $500 and reprimanded him for his conduct.

The sentence given the Highland Park, Ill., veteran of two world wars was the heaviest yet pronounced on any of four officers convicted in the series of Lichfield trials that began last December. Nine enlisted men have been convicted and a fifth officer is still on trial.

Kilian stood quietly at attention as the verdict ending the 10-week trial was read to the crowded courtroom by Brig. Gen. Robert M. Montague, Louisville, Ky. The florid face of the 55-year-old colonel remained grim but controlled.

The seven-man military court, deliberating for two hours, convicted Kilian of permitting cruel and unusual punishment, including the striking of prisoners with fists and clubs, kicking them in the body, and forcing them to stand with nose and toes pressed against the wall or in other strained positions for extended periods.

The court acquitted Kilian of "aiding and authorizing and abetting" cruelties for which the others were convicted and cleared him of "knowingly" permitting them — apparently accepting Kilian's claim that if prisoners were mistreated he knew nothing about it.

Gov. Martin Orders Klan Inquiry In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 29 (AP)—Gov. Edward Martin ordered state police today to make "a full and complete investigation" of the Ku Klux Klan in Pennsylvania after receiving a copy of a KKK-signed newspaper advertisement proclaiming "We are here to stay."

Martin also wired United States Attorney General Tom Clark requesting that the Federal Bureau of Investigation include the Keystone State in its inquiry into the hooded order "to supplement work of the Pennsylvania State Police."

The inquiry was asked by Justice Meier Steinbrink, of the New York State Supreme Court. He sent Martin a photostatic copy of the advertisement, "KKK — An open letter to the public," and signed "Franklin County Klan," with a Chambersburg, Pa., post office box number.

"The Jews have their organization, the Catholics theirs and the Protestants have the Klan," said the advertisement published in the Chambersburg Public Opinion. "We are here to stay and God help America if we die. Men join the Klan and get both sides of the story first-handed."

Justice Steinbrink, who acted as chairman of the B'nai Brith Anti-Defamation League, said in a statement the Klan advertisement "audaciously reveals the existence of organized Klan activity in Franklin county, Pa., and publicly solicits members."

He said the Franklin county Klan was inciting race hatred by falsely claiming in the advertisement that "if the negro gets his vote they will turn quickly on those who held them down."

Martin ordered Col. C. M. Wilhelm, commissioner of state police, to make the inquiry and Wilhelm said it would get under way immediately.

"I have, on many occasions, publicly expressed my vigorous opposition to any un-American organization," Martin said in a statement.

Charles R. Nicklas, editor of the Chambersburg Public Opinion, said that "the name of the person who inserted the advertisement is known and will be disclosed to the proper authorities under proper conditions."

Paul Hasluck, Australian delegate, said he would support Ireland, Sweden, Trans-Jordan and Iceland at the proper time. He has maintained that the General Assembly should deal with the applications first before they reach the Security Council for its recommendation.

The United States had expressed a desire to postpone the applications of Albania and Outer Mongolia. A resolution to that effect presented by American Delegate Herschel V. Johnson was lost by a six to three vote, with Russia, Poland and France in the negative on a question requiring seven affirmative votes including all the Big Five. Australia and Mexico abstained.

The failure of Albania and Outer Mongolia to receive the required majority made it unnecessary for the United States to invoke a veto against them as Johnson had threatened to do. The United States had opposed approval of the applications at this time.

Two Officers Are Shot During Hunt For Armed Negro

One Anne Arundel Officer Wounded By Another Member Of Force

DRURY, Md., Aug. 29 (AP)—Two Anne Arundel county policemen were shot one accidentally by another member of the force, as they searched for a negro who fired on a party of Virginians returning from a fishing trip, County Police Chief John Souers, Jr., reported today.

The policemen, Sgt. Homer Dawson, 38, and Patrolman John J. Burl, 27, were taken to Emergency Hospital, Annapolis, for treatment.

At 5:30 p. m. the county police teletype reported one of the fishermen who had been missing for more than six hours had returned unhurt to his home. He was identified by Souers as Leonard McDonald, Fairfax, Va.

Negro Held In Jail

Souers said a negro has been arrested and is held at the county jail.

The story of events leading up to the shooting as gathered from witnesses and told by the Anne Arundel county police chief:

The party of fishermen was returning by automobile from a Chesapeake Bay excursion.

They stopped the car on the Southern Maryland boulevard at Wayson's Corners, about one-quarter of a mile from here, and two of the party, including McDonald got out and walked into a field.

A shotgun blast rang out and one of the men jumped back into the automobile. McDonald did not return to the car.

The four pulled away and sped down the road. After traveling a short distance, they returned to the scene to search for McDonald.

When they left the automobile, a negro, 12-gauge shotgun in hand came toward them and told them he had "just shot" one man and if they came any further, he would shoot another.

Officer Caught In Cross-Fire

They reported the incident to Anne Arundel county police at Galesville, and a detail under Sgt. Dawson went to the scene.

As the detail was combing the field, a shot was fired from the edge of the adjoining woods and Burl fell, struck in the face and chest by a shotgun charge.

The police fired at the point the shot came from and Dawson, caught in a cross-fire was hit by a bullet which went through his left arm and penetrated the left leg.

While police were going to the aid of the two wounded men, the negro disappeared. About three hours later a man identified by Chief Souers as William Owens, 58, was captured and taken to the county jail, where he was held for investigation.

Souers said Owens told him he had fired over McDonald's head.

Increase Is Approved

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29, (AP)—State Insurance Commisioner Lawrence E. Ensor announced today that his department had approved increases in automobile insurance rates averaging 10 per cent on bodily injury policies and 29 per cent on property damage liability.

army of 2,500 enforcement agents was mapped meanwhile by OPA.

It was learned that Porter has selected Irving Gruber, an attorney, to lead the black market drive with a force double that used under former price ceilings.

"We plan a very vigorous drive and expect to stop all violations," Gruber told a reporter. "Our aim is to keep meat prices within reach of the general public through a rigid enforcement of ceilings at all levels."

New Agents Get Training

Gruber formerly was chief of the OPA litigation section.

Field offices throughout the United States have recruited the additional meat enforcement agents, mostly from war veterans, and the time since controls expired on June 30 has been used to train these men.

"We have enough manpower to make a full-scale attack on the black market," Porter told reporters here recently, and added:

"I do not think there is any substantial basis for the assumption that recontrol automatically means that we are going back to wide-scale black market operations."

OPA officials made an informal agreement with congressional critics and the meat industry that time lag will be allowed to permit livestock and meat purchased during the higher-price period of no control to pass through distribution channels.

Ceilings will apply at 12:01 a. m. (EST) Sunday on cattle, calves and hogs at both producer and slaughter levels. They will reach distributors and wholesalers on September 5 and the retail butcher shops September 9.

5,000,000 workers—3,000,000 women and 2,000,000 men—have withdrawn from the labor force in the single year since V-J Day. The term "labor force" covers those in the armed services as well as those in civilian employment.

Income payments to individuals showed a rise in the second quarter for the first time since the liquidation of war production began after the European victory.

Consumer spending advanced sharply and savings declined in proportion.

Small declared the cost of living jumped more than five per cent in connection with the 25-day lapse of OPA, with food prices rising 13 per cent by the middle of July.

Shoe production dropped under June. CPA attributed this to slow movement of hides and the industry practice of shutting down for vacation periods.

If there has been a callous disregard for the good of all our people, we must search it out. But those are things which no man of integrity need fear. Those are the steps of a great people — clearing the path for an unlimited future. Those are the things it is good to talk to you about in Drew Pearson's column while he is on vacation. New Livestock Ceilings Defended By Anderson

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 29 (AP)—Replying to criticism of new livestock ceilings, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson said today his department did not regard the prices as too high, "and in view of the recent heavy slaughtering, they may not be high enough."

His comment followed a Washington statement by the CIO Cost of Living Committee attacking meat price increases as "a new and disastrous blow."

Anderson was informed of the statement at his farm home near Albuquerque, and at first declined comment. Then he told a reporter:

"No consumer group likes price increases, but holding livestock prices low today could make meat more scarce and more expensive tomorrow. The law contemplates prices that will stimulate production. The cattle liquidations of these last few days show what happens when prices go too low."

Asked about a Washington report that Price Administrator Paul Porter might appeal directly to President Truman in the meat price dispute, Anderson said, "the president is not involved."

In Washington, Price Administrator Paul Porter would not comment on Anderson's remarks. In postponing the effective date of the livestock ceilings from today until September 1, however, the official OPA announcement yesterday had said:

"The change in the recontrol date was made after the Secretary of the Agriculture announced today (Wednesday) that he had formally recommended an increase in the ceiling prices of livestock. x x x The postponement until September 1 is necessary to enable OPA to make the necessary changes in ceiling prices."

DETROIT, Aug. 29 (AP)—Richard T. Leonard, CIO-PAC director for the CIO'S United Auto Workers Union, demanded the removal of Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson today, charging the secretary "has absolutely no regard for the American worker."

Leonard, in a communication to President Truman and Michigan congressmen, assailed Anderson for directing beef and pork ceiling prices above those recommended by OPA.

But the stillage that's left is rich in vitamins and proteins. This is recovered, dried and turned back to farmers in the form of nutritious feed concentrates."

HARRY: "Do you use them, Jim?"

JIM: "I sure do. Take a look at those fat chickens I'm shipping. I mix distillers' grains with my poultry and cattle rations, and I've figured it out closely, too. Distillers' grains not only help to fatten stock faster, but I'm saving about 20 percent of the grain I'd otherwise use without distillers' grains."

HARRY: "I can see now how false those rumors are about distillers wasting grain!"

Kilian Is Found Guilty Of Letting Guards Beat GIs

American Officer Is Fined $500 And Reprimanded For His Conduct

BAD NAUHEIM, Germany, Aug. 29 (AP)—A military court today found Col. James A. Kilian, former commander of the United States Army's replacement depot at Lichfield, Eng., guilty of letting guards hit American soldier-prisoners with clubs and fists, then fined him $500 and reprimanded him for his conduct.

The sentence given the Highland Park, Ill., veteran of two world wars was the heaviest yet pronounced on any of four officers convicted in the series of Lichfield trials that began last December. Nine enlisted men have been convicted and a fifth officer is still on trial.

Kilian stood quietly at attention as the verdict ending the 10-week trial was read to the crowded courtroom by Brig. Gen. Robert M. Montague, Louisville, Ky. The florid face of the 55-year-old colonel remained grim but controlled.

The seven-man military court, deliberating for two hours, convicted Kilian of permitting cruel and unusual punishment, including the striking of prisoners with fists and clubs, kicking them in the body, and forcing them to stand with nose and toes pressed against the wall or in other strained positions for extended periods.

The court acquitted Kilian of "aiding and authorizing and abetting" cruelties for which the others were convicted and cleared him of "knowingly" permitting them — apparently accepting Kilian's claim that if prisoners were mistreated he knew nothing about it.

Gov. Martin Orders Klan Inquiry In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 29 (AP)—Gov. Edward Martin ordered state police today to make "a full and complete investigation" of the Ku Klux Klan in Pennsylvania after receiving a copy of a KKK-signed newspaper advertisement proclaiming "We are here to stay."

Martin also wired United States Attorney General Tom Clark requesting that the Federal Bureau of Investigation include the Keystone State in its inquiry into the hooded order "to supplement work of the Pennsylvania State Police."

The inquiry was asked by Justice Meier Steinbrink, of the New York State Supreme Court. He sent Martin a photostatic copy of the advertisement, "KKK — An open letter to the public," and signed "Franklin County Klan," with a Chambersburg, Pa., post office box number.

"The Jews have their organization, the Catholics theirs and the Protestants have the Klan," said the advertisement published in the Chambersburg Public Opinion. "We are here to stay and God help America if we die. Men join the Klan and get both sides of the story first-handed."

Justice Steinbrink, who acted as chairman of the B'nai Brith Anti-Defamation League, said in a statement the Klan advertisement "audaciously reveals the existence of organized Klan activity in Franklin county, Pa., and publicly solicits members."

He said the Franklin county Klan was inciting race hatred by falsely claiming in the advertisement that "if the negro gets his vote they will turn quickly on those who held them down."

Martin ordered Col. C. M. Wilhelm, commissioner of state police, to make the inquiry and Wilhelm said it would get under way immediately.

"I have, on many occasions, publicly expressed my vigorous opposition to any un-American organization," Martin said in a statement.

Charles R. Nicklas, editor of the Chambersburg Public Opinion, said that "the name of the person who inserted the advertisement is known and will be disclosed to the proper authorities under proper conditions."

Paul Hasluck, Australian delegate, said he would support Ireland, Sweden, Trans-Jordan and Iceland at the proper time. He has maintained that the General Assembly should deal with the applications first before they reach the Security Council for its recommendation.

The United States had expressed a desire to postpone the applications of Albania and Outer Mongolia. A resolution to that effect presented by American Delegate Herschel V. Johnson was lost by a six to three vote, with Russia, Poland and France in the negative on a question requiring seven affirmative votes including all the Big Five. Australia and Mexico abstained.

The failure of Albania and Outer Mongolia to receive the required majority made it unnecessary for the United States to invoke a veto against them as Johnson had threatened to do. The United States had opposed approval of the applications at this time.

Two Officers Are Shot During Hunt For Armed Negro

One Anne Arundel Officer Wounded By Another Member Of Force

DRURY, Md., Aug. 29 (AP)—Two Anne Arundel county policemen were shot one accidentally by another member of the force, as they searched for a negro who fired on a party of Virginians returning from a fishing trip, County Police Chief John Souers, Jr., reported today.

The policemen, Sgt. Homer Dawson, 38, and Patrolman John J. Burl, 27, were taken to Emergency Hospital, Annapolis, for treatment.

At 5:30 p. m. the county police teletype reported one of the fishermen who had been missing for more than six hours had returned unhurt to his home. He was identified by Souers as Leonard McDonald, Fairfax, Va.

Negro Held In Jail

Souers said a negro has been arrested and is held at the county jail.

The story of events leading up to the shooting as gathered from witnesses and told by the Anne Arundel county police chief:

The party of fishermen was returning by automobile from a Chesapeake Bay excursion.

They stopped the car on the Southern Maryland boulevard at Wayson's Corners, about one-quarter of a mile from here, and two of the party, including McDonald got out and walked into a field.

A shotgun blast rang out and one of the men jumped back into the automobile. McDonald did not return to the car.

The four pulled away and sped down the road. After traveling a short distance, they returned to the scene to search for McDonald.

When they left the automobile, a negro, 12-gauge shotgun in hand came toward them and told them he had "just shot" one man and if they came any further, he would shoot another.

Officer Caught In Cross-Fire

They reported the incident to Anne Arundel county police at Galesville, and a detail under Sgt. Dawson went to the scene.

As the detail was combing the field, a shot was fired from the edge of the adjoining woods and Burl fell, struck in the face and chest by a shotgun charge.

The police fired at the point the shot came from and Dawson, caught in a cross-fire was hit by a bullet which went through his left arm and penetrated the left leg.

While police were going to the aid of the two wounded men, the negro disappeared. About three hours later a man identified by Chief Souers as William Owens, 58, was captured and taken to the county jail, where he was held for investigation.

Souers said Owens told him he had fired over McDonald's head.

Increase Is Approved

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29, (AP)—State Insurance Commissioner Lawrence E. Ensor announced today that his department had approved increases in automobile insurance rates averaging 10 per cent on bodily injury policies and 29 per cent on property damage liability.

The new rates will become effective September 1.

army of 2,500 enforcement agents was mapped meanwhile by OPA.

It was learned that Porter has selected Irving Gruber, an attorney, to lead the black market drive with a force double that used under former price ceilings.

"We plan a very vigorous drive and expect to stop all violations," Gruber told a reporter. "Our aim is to keep meat prices within reach of the general public through a rigid enforcement of ceilings at all levels."

New Agents Get Training

Gruber formerly was chief of the OPA litigation section.

Field offices throughout the United States have recruited the additional meat enforcement agents, mostly from war veterans, and the time since controls expired on June 30 has been used to train these men.

"We have enough manpower to make a full-scale attack on the black market," Porter told reporters here recently, and added:

"I do not think there is any substantial basis for the assumption that recontrol automatically means that we are going back to wide-scale black market operations."

OPA officials made an informal agreement with congressional critics and the meat industry that time lag will be allowed to permit livestock and meat purchased during the higher-price period of no control to pass through distribution channels.

Ceilings will apply at 12:01 a. m. (EST) Sunday on cattle, calves and hogs at both producer and slaughter levels. They will reach distributors and wholesalers on September 5 and the retail butcher shops September 9.

Nation's Industry

5,000,000 workers—3,000,000 women and 2,000,000 men—have withdrawn from the labor force in the single year since V-J Day. The term "labor force" covers those in the armed services as well as those in civilian employment.

Income payments to individuals showed a rise in the second quarter for the first time since the liquidation of war production began after the European victory.

Consumer spending advanced sharply and savings declined in proportion.

Small declared the cost of living jumped more than five per cent in connection with the 25-day lapse of OPA, with food prices rising 13 per cent by the middle of July.

Shoe production dropped under June. CPA attributed this to slow movement of hides and the industry practice of shutting down for vacation periods.

Washington Merry-Go-

And now our goals are not the goals of death and destruction, but production for a world in which we can all have our proper share of responsibility and reward.

If there has been an evil selfishness in certain quarters in our nation, that must come out and the people must know. If there has been a callous disregard for the good of all our people, we must search it out. But those are things which no man of integrity need fear. Those are the steps of a great people — clearing the path for an unlimited future. Those are the things it is good to talk to you about in Drew Pearson's column while he is on vacation. Those are things which help us remember Drew's slogan: To work, fight, give, to make Democracy live.

New Livestock Ceilings Defended By Anderson

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 29 (AP)—Replying to criticism of new livestock ceilings, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson said today his department did not regard the prices as too high, "and in view of the recent heavy slaughtering, they may not be high enough."

His comment followed a Washington statement by the CIO Cost of Living Committee attacking meat price increases as "a new and disastrous blow."

Anderson was informed of the statement at his farm home near Albuquerque, and at first declined comment. Then he told a reporter:

"No consumer group likes price increases, but holding livestock prices low today could make meat more scarce and more expensive tomorrow. The law contemplates prices that will stimulate production. The cattle liquidations of these last few days show what happens when prices go too low."

Asked about a Washington report that Price Administrator Paul Porter might appeal directly to President Truman in the meat price dispute, Anderson said, "the president is not involved."

In Washington, Price Administrator Paul Porter would not comment on Anderson's remarks. In postponing the effective date of the livestock ceilings from today until September 1, however, the official OPA announcement yesterday had said:

"The change in the recontrol date was made after the Secretary of the Agriculture announced today (Wednesday) that he had formally recommended an increase in the ceiling prices of livestock. x x x The postponement until September 1 is necessary to enable OPA to make the necessary changes in ceiling prices."

DETROIT, Aug. 29 (AP)—Richard T. Leonard, CIO-PAC director for the CIO'S United Auto Workers Union, demanded the removal of Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson today, charging the secretary "has absolutely no regard for the American worker."

Leonard, in a communication to President Truman and Michigan congressmen, assailed Anderson for directing beef and pork ceiling prices above those recommended by OPA.

Johnson said the ODT's goal of 80,000 new freight cars this year will not be achieved. He attributed the lag to strikes, the terrific demand for critical materials and to "the reluctance of freight car manufacturers to rush output until they have a big backlog of orders."

HARRY: "I don't quite get the point, Judge. How can the distillers use grain and still conserve it?"

OLD JUDGE: "If you raised poultry and cattle like Jim here, you'd easily understand it, Harry. It's this way...when the distiller makes whiskey, all he uses from the grain is the starch. But the stillage that's left is rich in vitamins and proteins. This is recovered, dried and turned back to farmers in the form of nutritious feed concentrates."

HARRY: "Do you use them, Jim?"

JIM: "I sure do. Take a look at those fat chickens I'm shipping. I mix distillers' grains with my poultry and cattle rations, and I've figured it out closely, too. Judges Deny Prisoner's Petition For Writ

The petition of Glenn Roberts, Baltimore, now serving an 18 months' sentence in the House of Correction on a manslaughter conviction, for a writ of habeas corpus has been denied by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper in Circuit Court.

Roberts filed his petition against Dr. J. Leroy Wright, warden of the House of Correction, and said he was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter on April 3. He said he was placed on probation and later was recalled by the court and sentenced to 18 months on a charge that he had been AWOL from the army.

In his petition Roberts charged that he was not sentenced on a manslaughter conviction, for which he was tried, but on an AWOL charge, for which he was not tried.

Ellerslie Man Fined

Jack Bagley, Ellerslie, was fined $3 in police court yesterday on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct, police said. He was arrested Wednesday night after he fell through a front window of the Medical Arts Pharmacy on Liberty street, and added he was at first booked as "John Doe" due to his inebriated condition.

Father And Son Are Fined After Fracas

Arthur Fazenbaker, 65, Vale Summit, and his son, Bernard Fazenbaker, 36, Midland, were each fined $10 yesterday morning when they were convicted, in trial magistrates court, on charges of acting in a drunk and disorderly manner on or near a public highway.

Trooper First Class Harry Holsinger, who preferred charges, said he and Trooper Glen D. Folk found a disturbance in progress in the front yard of the Fazenbaker home, Vale Summit, late Sunday night.

State police said they were told the trouble started when another son, Calvin Fazenbaker, 20, ordered Bernard and two friends from the house, and added that Calvin smashed a bottle over his father's head during the argument. Bernard was cut about the face while resisting arrest, police reported.

Trooper Holsinger said both men had been drinking heavily but both testified they had only three bottles of beer prior to the altercation. Costs in the case were suspended in recognition of three days the men spent in jail during an investigation of the fracas.

In Garrett county, however, machine mining was on a greater scale, with 393,593.08 tons produced by that method; 345,056.12 tons by pick mining and 85,977.16 tons by strip mining, for a grand total of 824,627.16 tons in 1945.

During the year, the first fatal accident in strip mining in Maryland occurred, when Charles Preston was killed last November 17 when he was struck by the "dipper" of a huge power shovel near Lonaconing.

Judges Deny Prisoner's Petition For Writ

The petition of Glenn Roberts, Baltimore, now serving an 18 months' sentence in the House of Correction on a manslaughter conviction, for a writ of habeas corpus has been denied by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper in Circuit Court.

Roberts filed his petition against Dr. J. Leroy Wright, warden of the House of Correction, and said he was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter on April 3. He said he was placed on probation and later was recalled by the court and sentenced to 18 months on a charge that he had been AWOL from the army.

In his petition Roberts charged that he was not sentenced on a manslaughter conviction, for which he was tried, but on an AWOL charge, for which he was not tried.

Ellerslie Man Fined

Jack Bagley, Ellerslie, was fined $3 in police court yesterday on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct, police said. He was arrested Wednesday night after he fell through a front window of the Medical Arts Pharmacy on Liberty street, and added he was at first booked as "John Doe" due to his inebriated condition.

Father And Son Are Fined After Fracas

Arthur Fazenbaker, 65, Vale Summit, and his son, Bernard Fazenbaker, 36, Midland, were each fined $10 yesterday morning when they were convicted, in trial magistrates court, on charges of acting in a drunk and disorderly manner on or near a public highway.

Trooper First Class Harry Holsinger, who preferred charges, said he and Trooper Glen D. Folk found a disturbance in progress in the front yard of the Fazenbaker home, Vale Summit, late Sunday night.

State police said they were told the trouble started when another son, Calvin Fazenbaker, 20, ordered Bernard and two friends from the house, and added that Calvin smashed a bottle over his father's head during the argument. Bernard was cut about the face while resisting arrest, police reported.

Trooper Holsinger said both men had been drinking heavily but both testified they had only three bottles of beer prior to the altercation. Costs in the case were suspended in recognition of three days the men spent in jail during an investigation of the fracas.

Pick Mining Leads In Coal Output

Pick mining in this county accounted for 622,225.09 tons of the total output, according to the annual report for 1945, submitted to Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor by Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Board of Natural Resources, Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources.

In Garrett county, however, machine mining was on a greater scale, with 393,593.08 tons produced by that method; 345,056.12 tons by pick mining and 85,977.16 tons by strip mining, for a grand total of 824,627.16 tons in 1945.

During the year, the first fatal accident in strip mining in Maryland occurred, when Charles Preston was killed last November 17 when he was struck by the "dipper" of a huge power shovel near Lonaconing.

Veterans Can Vote In November, If Registered

No group of citizens has more to offer in the cause of good government than the men and women who recently have come back from military service. The experiences they endured during the war, especially those who were overseas, have tempered them for an active civilian career. The first duty of that career is suffrage.

By and large, these veterans are members of the younger generation. But there is no reason for them to leave the management of the country in the hands of the older generation, any more than they would have left the winning of the war to their elders. Given the least incentive, most citizens would like to vote. The trouble is that they forget about the mechanics of voting until it is too late. Because of the complexities created by their military service, veterans, through oversight, may miss their opportunity to cast a ballot next November.

That is why the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors have already set September 24 and October 8 as registration days, not only for returning veterans, but civilians who have over the years failed to register, or have failed to have their names transferred from precincts from which they have moved to their present place of voting. The requirements are simple. To vote in November, you must register by the deadline set for such a purpose in Allegany county.

Veterans who voted on military ballots while they were in the services did not necessarily qualify themselves for voting as civilians. The Military Ballot Law did not require a serviceman to be registered to vote. As a civilian, he must register to vote.

Some servicemen were enrolled as voters when they joined the armed forces. But many of these may have been inadvertently stricken from the rolls while they were absent. So registration officials are suggesting that all ex-servicemen and women make certain they are properly listed on the voting rolls.

If you are a discharged serviceman or woman, don't wait until Election Day to find out whether or not you are registered. Don't wait until after the specified registration days. If you think you are registered, inquire when the registration books are opened, and be sure. If you are not registered, do so.

The men who are elected to office in November will be spending your money. Their policies will influence your lives and the lives of your families for years to come. Once elected, they cannot be recalled. Election Day provides your one chance to record your opinion. But you must register.

The average citizen, believing the business of his party to be in competent hands, often refuses to become concerned about primary affairs, and not only fails to register for it, but if registered, stays away from the polls in large numbers. This is, of course, a mistake, and those of voting age should make sure that they are qualified to express themselves through the ballot at the General Election, the real test of a campaign between candidates.

On election day there will be a polling place in your neighborhood. There is nothing like it over the vast areas of the earth. Even where polls are taken there is often little to suggest what your polling booth represents. The Russians don't know much about this institution, nor the Chinese, nor the Italian masses, nor many others. It is something peculiar to our heritage, something allied closely to freedom. The ballot box gives you an opportunity to participate in the affairs of your state and your country at a critical time in history. So don't neglect it. It's your duty.

Mysterious bombs are flying over Sweden. Except for the shooting, the European war seems to have ended.

Peace Moves In China Appear To Be Doomed

After 18 years of bloody fighting, either against the Japanese or among themselves, it might be thought that the Chinese had had enough of war. But there is now in prospect for that unhappy nation a conflict which will ravage its lands and torture its people in a degree not heretofore known.

One guess is all that should be required as to where the communists are getting the implements and ammunition to wage war.

All the efforts made by the United States to promote peace have proved futile. When Gen. Pat Hurley resigned as ambassador to China and shocked leftwingers here by the assertions he made, he clearly saw the handwriting on the wall in China.

That the situation holds tragic possibilities for the world can be open to doubt. So long as the war rages in China in the manner now to be expected, all nations must remain uneasy. The East may be far away geographically, but its interests touch those of the United States and Great Britain in a thousand places. With China added to Russia, the red menace would be far greater than it is today.

Americans have sensed this peril from the beginning. Washington has sought to pacify the communists and to persuade Chiang Kai-Shek to make numerous concessions. But if it has been Russia's intention from the beginning to incorporate China behind the iron curtain, these efforts were foredoomed to futility.

This summer has been perfect proof that you can't depend on the weather—except as a topic of conversation.

To Pay A Debt

To no group of citizens does this country owe a greater debt than to the servicemen who came back disabled or physically handicapped in World War II. This is not a debt which can be written off with pensions or disability payments alone. The great majority of these men want the chance to work, to support their families, and to lead normal lives.

It is good to know that the Veterans Administration and industry now are embarking jointly on a program which promises to meet the country's obligation to these men. There are many jobs which can be done as well by a man who has lost his hearing, his eyesight or one or more of his limbs as by a man with all his normal faculties.

In cooperation with the Veterans Administration such leading firms as General Motors, Ford, General Electric, and many others are now making a concerted effort to locate disabled veterans in these jobs.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE OFFENDING FACTOR IN DIARRHEA

THERE are many causes for diarrhea. One is improper eating, which often leads to cramping and a few watery stools. The stock example is the boy gorging on green apples. Consuming an excess amount of edibles or ice cold beverages may also have the same effect.

Food poisoning is a more common culprit. Spoilage may take place, producing decomposition. The chemicals in the food act up, creating toxins. If enough is ingested, an intense diarrhea follows. The meal can also be overrun by bacteria, either thru poor refrigeration or insanitary handling.

Once the germs reach the alimentary tract, they invade the bowel wall. The ensuing irritation increases the movements and the contents are passed along quickly. A number of organisms can be the offenders, including species which are dangerous and difficult to eradicate. Children particularly are susceptible.

During torrid weather the disorder appears with great ease. Apparently the heat reduces the secretions along the intestines, which are normally capable of combating such invasions. Under this handicap, the microorganisms take over and begin to do their damage. Diarrhea is sometimes seen among vacationists in the spring or fall of the year, especially when there is a sharp decline of 20 to 30 degrees in the temperature. Food is usually blamed, but its guilt is not always easy to prove.

Physicians are acquainted with a form of nervous origin. In adults, it generally occurs during periods of stress and strain. Loose movements in adolescents map precede an exciting dance or football game. In children, fright is more likely to induce the manifestation. One of the most obstinate varieties is exhibited in hysteria.

We cannot tell, when the symptom first develops, if it is going to be serious or will disappear within a few days. Much depends upon the severity, the amount of discomfort, and whether fever exists. The idea that castor oil or salts should be taken is not logical unless the noxious agent is known and was swallowed recently. Otherwise, these laxatives can hardly improve on what nature is doing.

Some will respond if solid nourishment is withheld for 24 hours. Barley or lime water are allowed and paragoric as well as preparations containing bismuth and kaolin will ease discomfort. There are many sulfa compounds on the market which are useful in the infectious types. These include sulfasuxidine and sulfathalidine. Their advantage lies in the fact that little is absorbed into the system, so that the bulk remains within the intestinal passageway.

If diarrhea continues, a physician should be called. Special tests can be done to determine the exact nature of the microbe. Cholera, typhoid, paratyphoid, and bacillary and amebic dysentery should all be considered. Occasionally tumors are responsible, or lack of hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

METABOLISM AND AGE

F. S. writes: Would a difference of two years make any change in a basal metabolism rate in a woman over 40?

REPLY

Actually, a slight difference does exist but the final reading would not be altered since the measurements at the present time are based on four year changes.

PREMATURES

D. M. writes: Is it possible to have a perfectly formed 5½ month premature baby weighing 5½ pounds?

REPLY

It is unusual, but exceptions always are possible in medicine. A baby born before the sixth month rarely lives. Furthermore, at this period the weight is usually 9 ounces, altho it may reach 3-4 pounds.

OLD SOL AND PRESSURE

M. C. writes: Will sunbathing cause a rise in blood pressure?

REPLY

In a normal individual it will probably have no effect. Since the person is lying down during the sun bath, relaxation occurs, which may decrease the level.

SUNSTROKE AFTERMATH

M. L. Writes: My wife had a sunstroke several years ago. Since then she suffers from the heat because she cannot perspire. Is there any way that sweating can be induced in her case?

REPLY

This is a difficult problem as there are no sure fire methods that are effective. The alternative is to keep cool by staying out of the sun, light clothing, and cold baths. Some individuals so afflicted go north for the summer.

WHY WORRY?

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Henry J. Kaiser Says: Too Much Name-Calling Perils Democracy; Believes Future Looks Bright; Says He Is Winning His Production Fight

By HENRY J. KAISER

(Ed. Note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by several distinguished guest columnists—today, by Henry J. Kaiser, the famous West Coast Industrialist.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28 — Almost exactly a year ago to the day, I took advantage of Drew Pearson's first offer to ride free on the Merry-Go-Round. He is vacationing again. Drew may need vacations, but our Democracy cannot afford one.

Some people tell me we're not going to recover. They say we're headed toward inevitable disaster; that we're well on our way to the dogs, and that nothing short of a miracle can save mankind from oblivion. I don't believe it. I don't think the people of the United States believe it. Our way of life will stand any test of competitive comparison. So, let's think about Drew's slogan—to work, fight, give, to make Democracy live!

How about taking a look at the so-called "horrible" things that are happening to us. Some say, "TOMORROW we're going to have inflation. TOMORROW either the communists or the fascists are going to take over. TOMORROW there will be no church because we have turned our faces from Christianity. And worst of all—TOMORROW there will be war."

I do not believe a word of it. It is like saying we've suddenly decided to become sheep, not men.

If I were to believe what I hear, there would be no people in this world any more. There would be only labels—an endless, insulting array of labels. In the last few years, my friends, the men with whom I work, my competitors, all the millions of our country and the world have supposedly sacrificed their identity and become liberals or reactionaries, Communists or Fascists, labor or management, Democrats or Republicans, dark-skinned or white, and I do not like it.

Confused Thinking

I wonder if we're not guilty of the most confused thinking the world has ever seen. It is high time we were realizing that we are still men, not labels, capable of setting goals and achieving them; willing to fight for the things in which we believe—not with treacherous weapons, but with the vitality of our own beliefs and the strength of our purpose.

Not long ago we contacted the steel industrialists of the East in a search for sheet steel. In the process we got irritated and we think they did, too. We wanted sheet steel to build automobiles. They said they couldn't give it to us. We thought we knew why. We didn't like the reasons. But they didn't call us Anarchists and we didn't call them Fascists. Maybe we thought they believed in Princes of Privilege. They didn't give us the sheet steel we wanted; we got it another way. Our production is continuing on its way without the world falling about our ears.

Trouble is only opportunity in work clothes. Take an example from our own experience. The West has always needed a steel industry. In 1942 we built Fontana Steel Mill, in the face of obstacles which, in terms of tomorrow, couldn't be overcome. But it was built for war production with the money we were forced to borrow because no one else would build it. When the war ended, the West needed the continued operation of that mill. We were told Fontana was hopeless—a steel industry in California would be a "dead duck." Competitively it couldn't be done. We couldn't continue to operate. Our fixed charges would eat us up.

West Needs Steel

Close down? Hardly. The West had to have steel. And it has steel. Fontana is operating today, still bearing the tremendous burden of wartime evaluation. It is producing at as low an operating cost as any plant in the nation. It will continue to produce steel, because steel should be made in the west. I can't tell you how all its problems are going to be met. I only know that they will be met as they arise, and that the destiny of the West isn't to be sold short because there's trouble. Fontana cannot make its full contribution to the West when it is competitively throttled by the Great Steel Corporation buying the Government-owned Geneva steel plant at twenty cents on the dollar and Fontana being forced to pay the Goverment one-hundred cents on the dollar of its war cost. Fontana now is a gateway releasing some of the great potential economic strength of our western country. It couldn't be done . . . but it's being done.

I have never had so much fun with anything as I have been having with the automobile business. They said we couldn't do it. But show windows all over the country are giving the answer to those who said we couldn't do it. The most friendly of critics said it would take us a year to turn our first cars off the assembly line. We did it in seven months. They said we couldn't get any steel to make the cars. We got some. Not enough, it's true. They said we couldn't get a staff together. But we did. They said the cars wouldn't run. The cars run. They said the car would be a crackpot job. They now know that it's the most practical and modern car being made anywhere.

New Cars Coming

Naturally, you readers of the Merry-Go-Round like to get the news and get it first. There is an ample precedent for this made through the years by the conductor of this pillar of information. So I'll let you know that our Willow Run assembly line is moving; cars are now being shipped to our dealers. From hundreds each month to thousands. Next year by the tens of thousands.

Of course, it's going to be tough. It always has been tough. It was tough in those critical days of the war, but we made it.

"It Says Here"

By BOB HOPE

It was a big night for me when they "sneak-previewed" my new picture, "Monsieur Beaucaire" here in Hollywood. A sneak preview—that's when the theatre hasn't the courage to put the name of the picture on the marquee.

I was really thrilled when I found out the studio had finally released my picture. It wasn't exactly released, it was sort of paroled; if it's bad they throw it back in the can.

Being the star of the picture and not wanting to be mobbed by autograph seekers, I went incognito. No one recognized me; I paid for my ticket. In this picture I play the part of a barber and my acting was so convincing that someone must have left a tip for me at the box office. Being a barber is a hindrance to my love making, though every time I run my fingers through Joan Caulfield's hair she asks for a shampoo.

The most exciting part of the picture is when I go to Spain impersonating royalty to marry the princess. I'm found out before the wedding, though, and never do get to pull the wool over her eyes.

The audience received the usual cards on which to write their opinion of the picture and after reading them I'm happy to say the audience reaction was splendid. One guy said he'd never spent a more enjoyable evening and that the dish was the nicest he had ever received. After the show people coming out through the lobby were still holding their sides, but I cleared my brother of the pickpocketing charge.

First Unknown Soldier Dates Back Many Years

By SAMUEL R. PETTENGILL

The oldest human bones in the United States can now be seen at the Peabody Museum in Harvard. The spirit that clothed these brittle bones in warm and loving flesh gave up the ghost 100,000 years ago. That was 98,054 B. C. This sturdy gentleman, Neanderthal by name, lived in Palestine, where war is still raging, and there he was gathered to his fathers. He slept quietly for 99,986 years. Fourteen years ago his relics were dug up by those who love to look at skulls. The bones were brought to London.

There, reposing in the Royal College of Surgeons, they were bombed in a war to save civilization. But, being very durable, they have now been brought to America, sometimes known as "Newdealand" to authorities on progress.

No One Knows How He Died

How he died, no one knows. It is likely that he was killed in a struggle for hunting grounds, which we moderns call "Lebensraum" or geopolitik. I am sure he did not die in vain. Some great cause possessed his soul at the last moment. Probably women wept, and an oration was pronounced upon his courage as Pericles did over those who died in the Peloponnesian War 97,623 years later.

Or was his flesh so mangled as to be unrecognizable, and so he became the world's first Unknown Soldier? Who knows? There is no way to tell.

What the war in which he died was called has escaped the historians. But it was without doubt fought for some great purpose, even though the purpose was forgotten 99,993 years ago, seven years after he fell.

Peace Conference Probably Held

Way back then, according to Havelock Ellis, it was the custom in many tribes, for the generous victors to give reparations to the lozers on the ground that the losers needed reparations the most. To us civilized Twentieth Century men this practice is recognized as logical, but our peacemakers now insist on the winners getting all the reparations. This makes another war inevitable where another generation of generals and statesmen can win great reputations and have monuments erected to them for causing 20,000,000 more skeletons to enrich their mother earth.

I imagined that the old man came alive and I was asked to show him through the Museum of One Thousand Centuries of Progress. I took chief pride in showing him the tools of war, ancient and modern, in which we have made the greatest progress.

The Weapon You Knew

"Here," I said, "was the weapon you knew—a stone tied to a stick. Its chief fault was that you could only bash in the head of one man at a time. So, we pass on. Here is David's sling-shot and the catapult renowned in Bible times. One may think lightly of the spear and battle-axe but they were effective. Here is what they did. Here is Tamerlane's pyramid of skulls—a really fine collecion. Now we come to the cross-bow which ennobled the days of chivalry. And the Damascus blade—a neat thing through the chest, I assure you. It was used in the Crusades against the heathen. And then the bell muzzled musket with which we civilized the Indians. But we must hurry on to those magnificent creations of our great scientists—mustard gas, a remarkable achievement, and Big Bertha that shot 70 miles. Then the tank, the torpedo, the B-29. But here is our latest and best, the atom bomb. It kills 100,000, maybe a million at a time. See this picture of Nagasaki."

Here Mr. Neanderthal stopped. Regarding me sadly, he asked, "Why did you wake me?"

Third Test Of Atomic Bomb May Not Be Held Next Year

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—The third test of the atomic bomb, which was scheduled for some time next year, may have been proved superfluous by what the first two tests have taught.

The practical value of detonating a bomb 3,000 feet under the sea is beginning to be doubted. In the first place, it is questionable whether any sure way can be devised for suspending a bomb that can be set off at such great depth. But, more than this, it is beginning to be recognized that even if a bomb were touched off at 3,000 feet below the surface, it would hardly prove that targets in the future would be exactly in similar spots.

Ships are too mobile to remain in any area very long, and it would hardly seem possible that if a bomb were detonated at 3,000 feet undersea it would prove that such a weapon could be put to use against moving fleets.

The stationary targets used in the tests received all the damage that the atomic bomb can inflict from a comparatively low depth, and this is sufficient to indicate what the bomb can do from an underwater explosion. With the data gathered on the dropping of an atomic bomb from the air and detonation in relatively shallow water, all the information needed to redesign ships and figure out what defense, if any, is available is now at hand.

Tests Are Costly

The atomic bomb tests, moreover, take a lot of personnel and ships and consume the time of top-ranking officers. Unless a test has an assured value, it does not warrant all the expense and time given to it.

There is a feeling here that the atomic bomb tests should not be continued unless they are going to be of some immediate value. Unless some purpose can be served, there is a disposition not to flaunt the bomb before other nations.

The trend, therefore, now is toward the elimination of the third test for all the reasons mentioned above, but, if in the examination of data by the research men any practical value can be seen for a third test, there would not be the slightest hesitation to order such a test.

To explode the atomic bomb at 3,000 feet underwater requires an apparatus which can contain the bomb and yet afford some method of detonating it that is sure. Once such a bomb is exploded, it would be difficult to make sure that ships on the surface would be in the exact spot needed for the experiment.

Altogether there has been much learned already from the second test about the way an atomic bomb behaves under water. It was conducted under ideal conditions which showed the damage to hulls as well as the extent of radioactivity. Certainly a bomb at a greater depth than that used in the second test could not tell any more than the second test did, and the naval officers of the world would be inclined to say that no means of detonation in actual warfare has been or could be devised which would not also injure the ship that dropped its cable overboard or tried to carry the bomb to some depth below ships.

May Develop Defense

It is quite conceivable that, instead of underwater explosions, some means of using the atomic bomb in guided missiles either above the water or on its surface may be used. But the first and second tests already tell what damage could be done by detonation of the bomb close to the targets.

Whether a defense against the atomic bomb will ever be devised remains in the realm of the speculative, but it is noticeable here that since the first and second tests there is more confidence in the ultimate development of a defense than there was after the two bombs were dropped on Japan.

It has been apparent, too, that those who design ships believe that they will be able to overcome in future construction some of the ill-effects of the atomic bomb. It would seem that the danger of radioactivity to human life is of far more concern now than the ability of the designers to use materials or so arrange for their coverage as to mitigate the effects of the atomic bomb. In the field of science, however, the study of radioactivity may lead to some countervailing substance that might neutralize the radioactivity. In short, the information derived from the first and second tests is adequate for all practical purposes, and that is why a third test for next year seems improbable.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Mr. Sam Satan,
Lower Depths, 18,
Purgatory
Dear Boss:

As manager of one of your busier branch offices, I think I ought to tell you we're in for trouble. Unless you can get new equipment and more coal, you're likely to be overwhelmed with more business than you can handle. I know you're operating at capacity right now—what with ex-Fuehrers, black marketeers, writers of singing commercials, and the other wrongos. But there's something cooking up here even bigger than what you're cooking down there.

Billy Rose

Here's the dope. Commodore John D. Small, boss of Civilian Production Administration, is insisting women's skirts get SHORTER. He says slashing two or three inches off the hemline will save 50 million yards of fabric.

Well, Your Royal Lowness, you remember what happened back in 1929 when the hemline went up — everything else went down, down, down. Wasn't it during the Twitching Twenties that you had to install conveyer belts in the ovens?

Haven't you got some influence with the Democrats? Can't you persuade the government to stop messing with women's clothes? Explain to the Cabinet that fashion is 10 per cent protection from the cold and 90 per cent sex. And sex has always been a private enterprise in which you owned a majority of the stock. Commodore Small is barking up the wrong knee. You've got some rights and you ought to speak up.

Tell the skirt-slashers in Washington what you're up against — that you haven't had a new waffle iron or automatic toaster since 1941. Point out that District 50 has organized your stokers, that the boys in the broiling department are striking for hotter working condition, and that before long eternity will be operating on a 40-hour week. Tell them, Old Firebug, about your housing problem — that you've got in-laws living with in-laws.

Ask them now, in all conscience, they can turn out sinners faster than you can burn them up. And make no mistake about it, Mr. Scratch, that's what will happen when 70 million girls run around in skirts up to here, instead of down to there! Tell them the windswept streets of Chicago alone will use up this year's supply of brimstone. Warn them that when the Lake Michigan breeze get gay with bobbed skirts, every male over 14 will be stepping into open manholes. Ask them how they're going to legislate against looking. Remind them that the lady voters may go Republican when their husbands go out for a pack of cigarettes and are never heard from again. Paint them a picture of a million bandylegged girls marching on Washington, beseeching the Government to pull the wool over their knees.

Convince them that shackling Schiaparelli to save cloth is like telling Hemingway to eliminate adjectives to save paper.

Tell them anything, Beelbebub, but Hold that Hemline! When that goes, we're all in the fire.

That's about all the news. Otherwise everything is going fine. Everybody up here seems to have your best interests at heart. Regards to the boys. I'll be seeing you, I suppose.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Mood Of The Sky

For hours this summer I have sat and rested under the canopy of the sky, with my eyes following every change of light and color—a veritable carpet of intricate and massed designs, some threading across the background of blue, as though from hidden skeins, spreading their silken lines as though spun for the purpose of beauty alone.

Then there are great formations that resemble great puff-balls of fleecy cotton, then through it all will come streams of golden light, as though suggesting the changing of partners for the next dance in the sky—and all so smoothly done and with utter silence.

Nothing is more fascinating than this look into a cloudy sky on a summer day. One late afternoon I looked upon a magnificent display of mackerel cloud, fleecy and massed across half the sky. What made them that way, I wondered. Like a great poem, written in measured manner.

You can look all day into a cloudy sky and never repeats up design. Nature never repeats up there. One moment there will be great rounded domes, then all melting into a mountainous range of peaks that show their splendor, as though invested with power, and at times you imagine a floating city within your vision.

The late afternoon sky, to me, however, is the most poetic. I watch for it each day, for then the sunset nears. These are always beautiful, as viewed across a body of water, on a still, cool day. Great strokes of color—blues, greys, purple, orange, and often, fiery reds, form the picture—and across the horizon, lifted a little, these strokes of color melt and are consumed in one great riot of beauty, many resembling long strokes that a master artist might have done, could he have just been divine!

The mood of the sky is something like our own—ever changing—but the mood of the cloudy sky is always a mood of silence. That is why its moods are so peaceful, and such good medicine for any one of us, at times when all else is veiled in mystery, or confusion. We need the lessons of nature to lift us spiritually.

Veterans Can Vote In November, If Registered

No group of citizens has more to offer in the cause of good government than the men and women who recently have come back from military service. The experiences they endured during the war, especially those who were overseas, have tempered them for an active civilian career. The first duty of that career is suffrage.

By and large, these veterans are members of the younger generation. But there is no reason for them to leave the management of the country in the hands of the older generation, any more than they would have left the winning of the war to their elders. Given the least incentive, most citizens would like to vote. The trouble is that they forget about the mechanics of voting until it is too late. Because of the complexities created by their military service, veterans, through oversight, may miss their opportunity to cast a ballot next November.

That is why the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors have already set September 24 and October 8 as registration days, not only for returning veterans, but civilians who have over the years failed to register, or have failed to have their names transferred from precincts from which they have moved to their present place of voting. The requirements are simple. To vote in November, you must register by the deadline set for such a purpose in Allegany county.

Veterans who voted on military ballots while they were in the services did not necessarily qualify themselves for voting as civilians. The Military Ballot Law did not require a serviceman to be registered to vote. As a civilian, he must register to vote.

Some servicemen were enrolled as voters when they joined the armed forces. But many of these may have been inadvertently stricken from the rolls while they were absent. So registration officials are suggesting that all ex-servicemen and women make certain they are properly listed on the voting rolls.

If you are a discharged serviceman or woman, don't wait until Election Day to find out whether or not you are registered. Don't wait until after the specified registration days. If you think you are registered, inquire when the registration books are opened, and be sure. If you are not registered, do so.

The men who are elected to office in November will be spending your money. Their policies will influence your lives and the lives of your families for years to come. Once elected, they cannot be recalled. Election Day provides your one chance to record your opinion. But you must register.

The average citizen, believing the business of his party to be in competent hands, often refuses to become concerned about primary affairs, and not only fails to register for it, but if registered, stays away from the polls in large numbers. This is, of course, a mistake, and those of voting age should make sure that they are qualified to express themselves through the ballot at the General Election, the real test of a campaign between candidates.

On election day there will be a polling place in your neighborhood. There is nothing like it over the vast areas of the earth. Even where polls are taken there is often little to suggest what your polling booth represents. The Russians don't know mueh about this institution, nor the Chinese, nor the Italian masses, nor many others. It is something peculiar to our heritage, something allied closely to freedom. The ballot box gives you an opportunity to participate in the affairs of your state and your country at a critical time in history. So don't neglect it. It's your duty.

Mysterious bombs are flying over Sweden. Except for the shooting, the European war seems to have ended.

Peace Moves In China Appear To Be Doomed

After 18 years of bloody fighting, either against the Japanese or among themselves, it might be thought that the Chinese had had enough of war. But there is now in prospect for that unhappy nation a conflict which will ravage its lands and torture its people in a degree not heretofore known.

One guess is all that should be required as to where the communists are getting the implements and ammunition to wage war.

All the efforts made by the United States to promote peace have proved futile. When Gen. Pat Hurley resigned as ambassador to China and shocked left-wingers here by the assertions he made, he clearly saw the handwriting on the wall in China.

That the situation holds tragic possibilities for the world can be open to doubt. So long as the war rages in China in the manner now to be expected, all nations must remain uneasy. The East may be far away geographically, but its interests touch those of the United States and Great Britain in a thousand places. With China added to Russia, the red menace would be far greater than it is today.

Americans have sensed this peril from the beginning. Washington has sought to pacify the communists and to persuade Chiang Kai-Shek to make numerous concessions. But if it has been Russia's intention from the beginning to incorporate China behind the iron curtain, these efforts were foredoomed to futility.

This summer has been perfect proof that you can't depend on the weather—except as a topic of conversation.

To Pay A Debt

To no group of citizens does this country owe a greater debt than to the servicemen who came back disabled or physically handicapped in World War II. This is not a debt which can be written off with pensions or disability payments alone. The great majority of these men want the chance to work, to support their families, and to lead normal lives.

It is good to know that the Veterans Administration and industry now are embarking jointly on a program which promises to meet the country's obligation to these men. There are many jobs which can be done as well by a man who has lost his hearing, his eyesight or one or more of his limbs as by a man with all his normal faculties.

In cooperation with the Veterans Administration such leading firms as General Motors, Ford, General Electric, and many others are now making a concerted effort to locate disabled veterans in these jobs.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE OFFENDING FACTOR IN DIARRHEA

THERE are many causes for diarrhea. One is improper eating, which often leads to cramping and a few watery stools. The stock example is the boy gorging on green apples. Consuming an excess amount of edibles or ice cold beverages may also have the same effect.

Food poisoning is a more common culprit. Spoilage may take place, producing decomposition. The chemicals in the food act up, creating toxins. If enough is ingested, an intense diarrhea follows. The meal can also be overrun by bacteria, either thru poor refrigeration or insanitary handling.

Once the germs reach the alimentary tract, they invade the bowel wall. The ensuing irritation increases the movements and the contents are passed along quickly. A number of organisms can be the offenders, including species which are dangerous and difficult to eradicate. Children particularly are susceptible.

During torrid weather the disorder appears with great ease. Apparently the heat reduces the secretions along the intestines, which are normally capable of combating such invasions. Under this handicap, the microorganisms take over and begin to do their damage. Diarrhea is sometimes seen among vacationists in the spring or fall of the year, especially when there is a sharp decline of 20 to 30 degrees in the temperature. Food is usually blamed, but its guilt is not always easy to prove.

Physicians are acquainted with a form of nervous origin. In adults, it generally occurs during periods of stress and strain. Loose movements in adolescents map precede an exciting dance or football game. In children, fright is more likely to induce the manifestation. One of the most obstinate varieties is exhibited in hysteria.

We cannot tell, when the symptom first develops, if it is going to be serious or will disappear within a few days. Much depends upon the severity, the amount of discomfort, and whether fever exists. The idea that castor oil or salts should be taken is not logical unless the noxious agent is known and was swallowed recently. Otherwise, these laxatives can hardly improve on what nature is doing.

Some will respond if solid nourishment is withheld for 24 hours. Barley or lime water are allowed and paragoric as well as preparations containing bismuth and kaolin will ease discomfort. There are many sulfa compounds on the market which are useful in the infectious types. These include sulfasuxidine and sulfathalidine. Their advantage lies in the fact that little is absorbed into the system, so that the bulk remains within the intestinal passageway.

If diarrhea continues, a physician should be called. Special tests can be done to determine the exact nature of the microbe. Cholera, typhoid, paratyphoid, and bacillary and amebic dysentery should all be considered. Occasionally tumors are responsible, or lack of hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

METABOLISM AND AGE

F. S. writes: Would a difference of two years make any change in a basal metabolism rate in a woman over 40?

REPLY

Actually, a slight difference does exist but the final reading would not be altered since the measurements at the present time are based on four year changes.

PREMATURES

D. M. writes: Is it possible to have a perfectly formed 5½ month premature baby weighing 5½ pounds?

REPLY

It is unusual, but exceptions always are possible in medicine. A baby born before the sixth month rarely lives. Furthermore, at this period the weight is usually 9 ounces, altho it may reach 3-4 pounds.

OLD SOL AND PRESSURE

M. C. writes: Will sunbathing cause a rise in blood pressure?

REPLY

In a normal individual it will probably have no effect. Since the person is lying down during the sun bath, relaxation occurs, which may decrease the level.

SUNSTROKE AFTERMATH

M. L. Writes: My wife had a sunstroke several years ago. Since then she suffers from the heat because she cannot perspire. Is there any way that sweating can be induced in her case?

REPLY

This is a difficult problem as there are no sure fire methods that are effective. The alternative is to keep cool by staying out of the sun, light clothing, and cold baths. Some individuals so afflicted go north for the summer.

WHY WORRY?

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Henry J. Kaiser Says: Too Much Name-Calling Perils Democracy; Believes Future Looks Bright; Says He Is Winning His Production Fight

By HENRY J. KAISER

(Ed. Note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by several distinguished guest columnists—today, by Henry J. Kaiser, the famous West Coast Industrialist.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28 — Almost exactly a year ago to the day, I took advantage of Drew Pearson's first offer to ride free on the Merry-Go-Round. He is vacationing again. Drew may need vacations, but our Democracy cannot afford one.

Some people tell me we're not going to recover. They say we're headed toward inevitable disaster; that we're well on our way to the dogs, and that nothing short of a miracle can save mankind from oblivion. I don't believe it. I don't think the people of the United States believe it. Our way of life will stand any test of competitive comparison. So, let's think about Drew's slogan—to work, fight, give, to make Democracy live!

How about taking a look at the so-called "horrible" things that are happening to us. Some say, "TOMORROW we're going to have inflation. TOMORROW either the communists or the fascists are going to take over. TOMORROW there will be no church because we have turned our faces from Christianity. And worst of all—TOMORROW there will be war."

I do not believe a word of it. It is like saying we've suddenly decided to become sheep, not men.

If I were to believe what I hear, there would be no people in this world any more. There would be only labels—an endless, insulting array of labels. In the last few years, my friends, the men with whom I work, my competitors, all the millions of our country and the world have supposedly sacrificed their identity and become liberals or reactionaries, Communists or Fascists, labor or management, Democrats or Republicans, dark-skinned or white, and I do not like it.

Confused Thinking

I wonder if we're not guilty of the most confused thinking the world has ever seen. It is high time we were realizing that we are still men, not labels, capable of setting goals and achieving them; willing to fight for the things in which we believe—not with treacherous weapons, but with the vitality of our own beliefs and the strength of our purpose.

Not long ago we contacted the steel industrialists of the East in a search for sheet steel. In the process we got irritated and we think they did, too. We wanted sheet steel to build automobiles. They said they couldn't give it to us. We thought we knew why. We didn't like the reasons. But they didn't call us Anarchists and we didn't call them Fascists. Maybe we thought they believed in Princes of Privilege. They didn't give us the sheet steel we wanted; we got it another way. Our production is continuing on its way without the world falling about our ears.

Trouble is only opportunity in work clothes. Take an example from our own experience. The West has always needed a steel industry. In 1942 we built Fontana Steel Mill, in the face of obstacles which, in terms of tomorrow, couldn't be overcome. But it was built for war production with the money we were forced to borrow because no one else would build it. When the war ended, the West needed the continued operation of that mill. We were told Fontana was hopeless—a steel industry in California would be a "dead duck." Competitively it couldn't be done. We couldn't continue to operate. Our fixed charges would eat us up.

West Needs Steel

Close down? Hardly. The West had to have steel. And it has steel. Fontana is operating today, still bearing the tremendous burden of wartime evaluation. It is producing at as low an operating cost as any plant in the nation. It will continue to produce steel, because steel should be made in the west. I can't tell you how all its problems are going to be met. I only know that they will be met as they arise, and that the destiny of the West isn't to be sold short because there's trouble. Fontana cannot make its full contribution to the West when it is competitively throttled by the Great Steel Corporation buying the Government-owned Geneva steel plant at twenty cents on the dollar and Fontana being forced to pay the Goverment one-hundred cents on the dollar of its war cost. Fontana now is a gateway releasing some of the great potential economic strength of our western country. It couldn't be done . . . but it's being done.

I have never had so much fun with anything as I have been having with the automobile business. They said we couldn't do it. But show windows all over the country are giving the answer to those who said we couldn't do it. The most friendly of critics said it would take us a year to turn our first cars off the assembly line. We did it in seven months. They said we couldn't get any steel to make the cars. We got some. Not enough, it's true. They said we couldn't get a staff together. But we did. They said the cars wouldn't run. The cars run. They said the car would be a crackpot job. They now know that it's the most practical and modern car being made anywhere.

New Cars Coming

Naturally, you readers of the Merry-Go-Round like to get the news and get it first. There is an ample precedent for this made through the years by the conductor of this pillar of information. So I'll let you know that our Willow Run assembly line is moving; cars are now being shipped to our dealers. From hundreds each month to thousands. Next year by the tens of thousands.

Of course, it's going to be tough. It always has been tough. It was tough in those critical days of the war, but we made it.

Being the star of the picture and not wanting to be mobbed by autograph seekers, I went incognito. No one recognized me; I paid for my ticket. In this picture I play the part of a barber and my acting was so convincing that someone must have left a tip for me at the box office. Being a barber is a hindrance to my love making, though every time I run my fingers through Joan Caulfield's hair she asks for a shampoo.

The most exciting part of the picture is when I go to Spain impersonating royalty to marry the princess. I'm found out before the wedding, though, and never do get to pull the wool over her eyes.

The audience received the usual cards on which to write their opinion of the picture and after reading them I'm happy to say the audience reaction was splendid. One guy said he'd never spent a more enjoyable evening and that the dish was the nicest he had ever received. After the show people coming out through the lobby were still holding their sides, but I cleared my brother of the pickpocketing charge.

First Unknown Soldier Dates Back Many Years

By SAMUEL R. PETTENGILL

The oldest human bones in the United States can now be seen at the Peabody Museum in Harvard. The spirit that clothed these brittle bones in warm and loving flesh gave up the ghost 100,000 years ago. That was 98,054 B. C. This sturdy gentleman, Neanderthal by name, lived in Palestine, where war is still raging, and there he was gathered to his fathers. He slept quietly for 99,986 years. Fourteen years ago his relics were dug up by those who love to look at skulls. The bones were brought to London.

There, reposing in the Royal College of Surgeons, they were bombed in a war to save civilization. But, being very durable, they have now been brought to America, sometimes known as "Newdealand" to authorities on progress.

No One Knows How He Died

How he died, no one knows. It is likely that he was killed in a struggle for hunting grounds, which we moderns call "Lebensraum" or geopolitik. I am sure he did not die in vain. Some great cause possessed his soul at the last moment. Probably women wept, and an oration was pronounced upon his courage as Pericles did over those who died in the Peloponnesian War 97,623 years later.

Or was his flesh so mangled as to be unrecognizable, and so he became the world's first Unknown Soldier? Who knows? There is no way to tell.

What the war in which he died was called has escaped the historians. But it was without doubt fought for some great purpose, even though the purpose was forgotten 99,993 years ago, seven years after he fell.

Peace Conference Probably Held

Way back then, according to Havelock Ellis, it was the custom in many tribes, for the generous victors to give reparations to the lozers on the ground that the losers needed reparations the most. To us civilized Twentieth Century men this practice is recognized as logical, but our peacemakers now insist on the winners getting all the reparations. This makes another war inevitable where another generation of generals and statesmen can win great reputations and have monuments erected to them for causing 20,000,000 more skeletons to enrich their mother earth.

I imagined that the old man came alive and I was asked to show him through the Museum of One Thousand Centuries of Progress. I took chief pride in showing him the tools of war, ancient and modern, in which we have made the greatest progress.

The Weapon You Knew

"Here," I said, "was the weapon you knew—a stone tied to a stick. Its chief fault was that you could only bash in the head of one man at a time. So, we pass on. Here is David's sling-shot and the catapult renowned in Bible times. One may think lightly of the spear and battle-axe but they were effective. Here is what they did. Here is Tamerlane's pyramid of skulls—a really fine collecion. Now we come to the cross-bow which ennobled the days of chivalry. And the Damascus blade—a neat thing through the chest, I assure you. That was used in the Crusades against the heathen. And then the bell muzzled musket with which we civilized the Indians. But we must hurry on to those magnificent creations of our great scientists—mustard gas, a remarkable achievement, and Big Bertha that shot 70 miles. Then the tank, the torpedo, the B-29. But here is our latest and best, the atom bomb. It kills 100,000, maybe a million at a time. See this picture of Nagasaki."

Here Mr. Neanderthal stopped. Regarding me sadly, he asked, "Why did you wake me?"

Third Test Of Atomic Bomb May Not Be Held Next Year

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—The third test of the atomic bomb, which was scheduled for some time next year, may have been proved superfluous by what the first two tests have taught.

The practical value of detonating a bomb 3,000 feet under the sea is beginning to be doubted. In the first place, it is questionable whether any sure way can be devised for suspending a bomb that can be set off at such great depth. But, more than this, it is beginning to be recognized that even if a bomb were touched off at 3,000 feet below the surface, it would hardly prove that targets in the future would be exactly in similar spots.

Ships are too mobile to remain in any area very long, and it would hardly seem possible that if a bomb were detonated at 3,000 feet undersea it would prove that such a weapon could be put to use against moving fleets.

The stationary targets used in the tests received all the damage that the atomic bomb can inflict from a comparatively low depth, and this is sufficient to indicate what the bomb can do from an underwater explosion. With the data gathered on the dropping of an atomic bomb from the air and detonation in relatively shallow water, all the information needed to redesign ships and figure out what defense, if any, is available is now at hand.

Tests Are Costly

The atomic bomb tests, moreover, take a lot of personnel and ships and consume the time of top-ranking officers. Unless a test has an assured value, it does not warrant all the expense and time given to it.

There is a feeling here that the atomic bomb tests should not be continued unless they are going to be of some immediate value. Unless some purpose can be served, there is a disposition not to flaunt the bomb before other nations.

The trend, therefore, now is toward the elimination of the third test for all the reasons mentioned above, but, if in the examination of data by the research men any practical value can be seen for a third test, there would not be the slightest hesitation to order such a test.

To explode the atomic bomb at 3,000 feet underwater requires an apparatus which can contain the bomb and yet afford some method of detonating it that is sure. Once such a bomb is exploded, it would be difficult to make sure that ships on the surface would be in the exact spot needed for the experiment.

Altogether there has been much learned already from the second test about the way an atomic bomb behaves under water. It was conducted under ideal conditions which showed the damage to hulls as well as the extent of radioactivity. Certainly a bomb at a greater depth than that used in the second test could not tell any more than the second test did, and the naval officers of the world would be inclined to say that no means of detonation in actual warfare has been or could be devised which would not also injure the ship that dropped its cable overboard or tried to carry the bomb to some depth below ships.

May Develop Defense

It is quite conceivable that, instead of underwater explosions, some means of using the atomic bomb in guided missiles either above the water or on its surface may be used. But the first and second tests already tell what damage could be done by detonation of the bomb close to the targets.

Whether a defense against the atomic bomb will ever be devised remains in the realm of the speculative, but it is noticeable here that since the first and second tests there is more confidence in the ultimate development of a defense than there was after the two bombs were dropped on Japan.

It has been apparent, too, that those who design ships believe that they will be able to overcome in future construction some of the ill-effects of the atomic bomb. It would seem that the danger of radioactivity to human life is of far more concern now than the ability of the designers to use materials or so arrange for their coverage as to mitigate the effects of the atomic bomb. In the field of science, however, the study of radioactivity may lead to some countervailing substance that might neutralize the radioactivity. In short, the information derived from the first and second tests is adequate for all practical purposes, and that is why a third test for next year seems improbable.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Mr. Sam Satan,
Lower Depths, 18,
Purgatory
Dear Boss:

As manager of one of your busier branch offices, I think I ought to tell you we're in for trouble. Unless you can get new equipment and more coal, you're likely to be overwhelmed with more business than you can handle. I know you're operating at capacity right now—what with ex-Puehrers, black marketeers, writers of singing commercials, and the other wrongos. But there's something cooking up here even bigger than what you're cooking down there.

Billy Rose

Here's the dope. Commodore John D. Small, boss of Civilian Production Administration, is insisting women's skirts get SHORTER. He says slashing two or three inches off the hemline will save 50 million yards of fabric.

Well, Your Royal Lowness, you remember what happened back in 1929 when the hemline went up—everything else went down, down, down. Wasn't it during the Twitching Twenties that you had to install conveyer belts in the ovens?

Haven't you got some influence with the Democrats? Can't you persuade the government to stop messing with women's clothes? Explain to the Cabinet that fashion is 10 per cent protection from the cold and 90 per cent sex. And sex has always been a private enterprise in which you owned a majority of the stock. Commodore Small is barking up the wrong knee. You've got some rights and you ought to speak up.

Tell the skirt-slashers in Washington what you're up against—that you haven't had a new waffle iron or automatic toaster since 1941. Point out that District 50 has organized your stokers, that the boys in the broiling department are striking for hotter working condition, and that before long eternity will be operating on a 40-hour week. Tell them, Old Firebug, about your housing problem—that you've got in-laws living with in-laws.

Ask them now, in all conscience, they can turn out sinners faster than you can burn them up. And make no mistake about it, Mr. Scratch, that's what will happen when 70 million girls run around in skirts up to here, instead of down to there! Tell them the windswept streets of Chicago alone will use up this year's supply of brimstone. Warn them that when the Lake Michigan breeze get gay with bobbed skirts, every male over 14 will be stepping into open manholes. Ask them how they're going to legislate against looking. Remind them that the lady voters may go Republican when their husbands go out for a pack of cigarettes and are never heard from again. Paint them a picture of a million bandylegged girls marching on Washington, beseeching the Government to pull the wool over their knees.

Convince them that shackling Schiaparelli to save cloth is like telling Hemingway to eliminate adjectives to save paper.

Tell them anything, Beelzebub, but Hold that Hemline! When that goes, we're all in the fire.

That's about all the news. Otherwise everything is going fine. Everybody up here seems to have your best interests at heart. Regards to the boys. I'll be seeing you, I suppose.

Today's Talk

Mood Of The Sky

For hours this summer I have sat and rested under the canopy of the sky, with my eyes following every change of light and color—a veritable carpet of intricate and massed designs, some threading across the background of blue, as though from hidden skeins, spreading their silken lines as though spun for the purpose of beauty alone.

Then there are great formations that resemble great puff-balls of fleecy cotton, then through it all will come streams of golden light, as though suggesting the changing of partners for the next dance in the sky—and all so smoothly done and with utter silence.

Nothing is more fascinating than this look into a cloudy sky on a summer day. One late afternoon I looked upon a magnificent display of mackerel cloud, fleecy and massed across half the sky. What made them that way, I wondered. Like a great poem, written in measured manner.

You can look all day into a cloudy sky and never repeats up design. Nature never repeats up there. One moment there will be great rounded domes, then all melting into a mountainous range of peaks that show their splendor, as though invested with power, and at times you imagine a floating city within your vision.

The late afternoon sky, to me, however, is the most poetic. I watch for it each day, for then the sunset nears. These are always beautiful, as viewed across a body of water, on a still, cool day. Great strokes of color—blues, greys, purple, orange, and often, fiery reds, form the picture—and across the horizon, lifted a little, these strokes of color melt and are consumed in one great riot of beauty, many resembling long strokes that a master artist might have done, could he have just been divine!

The mood of the sky is something like our own—ever changing—but the mood of the cloudy sky is always a mood of silence. That is why its moods are so peaceful, and such good medicine for any one of us, at times when all else is veiled in mystery, or confusion. We need the lessons of nature to lift us spiritually.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Wilma Ryan To Become Bride Of W. R. Parker

Wedding Ceremony To Be Performed Tomorrow in Centre Street Church

Miss Wilma Miller Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvey R. Ryan, Hazen road, will become the bride of Wilbur Reese Parker, son of R. Reese Parker, 306 Fayette street, and the late Mrs. Parker, tomorrow evening, at 7 o'clock in Centre Street Methodist Church.

The couple will exchange their marriage vows, before an altar banked with palms and interspersed with white gladioli. Tall candelabra with lighted tapers will illuminate either side of the altar. The bridal motif will be carried out in the white satin kneeling bench, and repeated in the satin ribbon bows marking the family pews.

Rev. Robert Hutson Parker, Baltimore, brother of the bridegroom, will officiate at the double ring ceremony. He will be assisted in the ritual by Rev. Walter Marion Michael, D. D., pastor of Centre Street Church.

Mrs. Walter Hering, Washington, D. C., will be her sister's matron of honor. Her bridesmaids will be Mrs. Dwight Rose, Centerville, Pa., and Miss Betty L. Hare, city. Sylvia and Sharon Parker, nieces of the bridegroom, will be her little flower girls.

The wedding party will also include George E. Balog, Trenton, N. J., who will serve as Mr. Parker's best man; and Robert B. Ryan, city, brother of the bride. Felix R. Bready, city, cousin of the bridegroom; Albert C. Clark, Hasbrouck, N. J., and Anthony G. Pongratz, South Bound Brook, N. J., will be the ushers.

A program of nuptial music will be played by Mrs. Thorner Smith, during the seating of the guests. Preceding the ceremony she will accompany Miss Margery Hinkle, who will sing "Always," and "Because." The traditional wedding march will be given with the seven bells.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, has chosen a gown of white satin and net. It is fashioned with a fitted bodice of satin, featuring a net yoke with inset of lace, giving a deep square neckline effect. Ceilings Lifted On Nine Fresh Produce Items

The Office of Price Administration announced yesterday that nine fresh fruit and vegetable items have been exempted from community pricing for an indefinite period because they are in plentiful supply.

Of the four remaining items on OPA's price list, oranges have gone up a penny a pound to cover a rise in parity. "Parity" means that the price farmers get for a product must be raised in line with increased production costs. California oranges are now quoted at 16 cents per pound.

Other fresh fruit and vegetable prices follow:

Apples (eastern), 12 cents per pound; bananas, 12 cents pound; sweet potatoes and yams, ten cents pound.

Timid Bidding Gives Stock Market Selective Lift; Many Leaders Lag

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 — Timid bidding gave the stock market a selective lift today although many leaders failed to attract support.

Accounts were reinstated here and there, brokers said, on the idea recent selling had been overdone and the list due for a substantial technical revival. Dividends and earnings still were on the bullish side but only a few issues concerned were responsive. Wall Streeters remained more or less cautious because of foreign uncertainties and apprehension over strike prospects at home.

The late rally of Wednesday was extended at a fairly fast opening. While gains of fractions to a point or more were plentiful at the close losers persisted, with assorted rails and utilities slipping. Dealers turned somewhat slow as the session proceeded and transfers of 1,060,000 shares compared with 2,100,000 the day before.

Advancers included Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, American Smelting, Air Reduction, Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Railway, Texas Company and Anaconda.

On the offside were Youngstown Sheet, Republic Steel, United Aircraft, Electric Power and Light, American Water Works, Kennecott, Standard Oil (NJ), Southern Pacific, Great Northern and Illinois Central.

Medium-priced rails turned upward in the bond market with some recording gains of a point or more.

Among those showing improvement were St. Paul convertible 4½s, Chicago and Eastern Illinois income 4½s, St. Louis San Francisco 4s and 5s and most Missouri Pacific, New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio issues.

The list generally was mixed. Gainers included American Tobacco, 3s, Pennsylvania Central Airlines 3½s, American Telephone 2⅝s and Pacific Gas and Electric 3s. Slightly lower were Celotex 3¼s, Commonwealth Edison 3s, Standard Oil of California, 2⅝s and International Hydro-Electric 6s.

Sales totaled $3,480,000 compared with $5,510,000 Wednesday.

Bids for United States governments in dealers' markets ranged from 1-32 of a point lower to 4-32 higher.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Is Told To Beware Of Man Who Is Too Noble To Let Her Wait For Him

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love And Marriage

Maybe I am just an old cynic, but I have very little faith in the sincerity of the man who offers his girl her freedom on the ground that he can't marry her for a while and so believes that it is his duty to give her up. Men in love are not often that generous. Usually, they are so afraid that somebody else will get their girl that they want to tie her up tightly, with all the promises possible.

That is why it is sometimes a little hard to understand why so many girls seem to accept such noble-minded offers on their face value.

Here is one who is not certain whether to do so:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am a girl 21 years old and very much in love with a fellow of 25.

"We went steady for over a year while he was stationed in my city. Everything was too wonderful for words until he was discharged. Then he decided to go to college away from here. Of course, I had no objection to this, for I realized what it would mean later on, and before he left he promised me that within a year we would get married, if I was willing to go to work and help along, to which I agreed.

"Later, I received a letter from him, saying that he loved me very much but that he thought we should part. He felt that we should be warm friends, but that I should go out with other fellows. Then if, after he was through with school, he was lucky enough to find me still single, and we still felt the same about each other, we would get married. He said he was heartbroken, for he will never love anyone else, but he feels that it is not right to ask me to wait for him.

"I never answered him, and a few weeks later he came to see me. He never mentioned his letter but, instead, seemed to have forgotten the fact that we would be 'just warm friends.' Now he has gone away again and I have just received a letter from him, saying that he loves me very much, etc., but still he feels that I should not wait for him.

"Sometimes I think he is taking me for granted, for he knows I have always been faithful to him. He knows that I am going out with other fellows but doesn't know I am just as much in love with him as ever. I would do anything to be with him. I am willing to keep on working and I know I could get a good job. But why does he act this way? If he loves me, why does he want me to go out with others? I haven't answered his last letter yet, and I don't know how to answer it. "H. L."

You sound to me as if you were anxious to know the truth, even though it might hurt you, and so I am going to tell you frankly how the situation looks to me.

My feeling is that this young man has probably decided he wishes his own freedom and wants to be in a position to do as he pleases, instead of being tied up to anyone. I don't believe that he is as much in love with you, or is as heartbroken, as he tries to make you believe. I think he is taking this way of "letting you down easy," in order to avoid hurting you, if possible, and also to keep you feeling that he is a pretty fine fellow. In other words, he wants to get out of the situation and have the freedom he desires without paying any price for it, which is neither honest nor courageous.

If I were you, I would simply write and tell him that you fully agree that it would be foolish for you to be tied to each other, in view of the circumstances, and that you are perfectly willing to be "just friends." This may surprise him enough to make him take a different attitude, but, if he doesn't, then I would just cross him off the list, and go out and have all the fun you can with other young men. I am sure that there is someone else more worthy of your love and loyalty waiting for you.

Bible School Picks Course Of Study

By LILLIAN HARDEN CRABTREE

Police Capture Escaped Convict In Keyser Home

Washington Was Serving 2 To 10 Year Term In Moundsville

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 29—Lester Mark Washington, 21, who escaped from the West Virginia Penitentiary several days ago was apprehended today at his mother's home in Potomac Heights by Claude A. Martin, chief of police, Edgell Rotruck and R. R. Karrickhoff, of the state police.

When the officers went to the home yesterday and questioned Mrs Emma Washington she said she had no knowledge of her son's whereabouts. However, when they returned today they found Washington there.

He is being held in the Mineral County jail, pending instructions for his return to the Moundsville prison.

Washington was convicted in July 1944 in the Mineral County circuit court on a charge of stealing an automobile from the Woolf Milling Company in April 1944. He was sentenced by the late Judge Robert McV. Drane to from two to 10 years in the penitentiary.

2 Fined $5 Each

Mrs. Iris Haines Landis, Springfield, and Roger Haines, Romney, appeared before George C. Ludwick, justice of the peace, Wednesday, charged with assault and battery. Upon being found guilty, each was assessed a fine of $5 and costs.

The complaint against them was made by George C. Mutch, proprietor of the Fort Ashby Tavern in the village of Fort Ashby. He claimed that Mrs. Landis struck him with a beer bottle and that Haines hit him in his place of business, during a disturbance there on Saturday night, August 17.

Complaints against Mickey Cherry, Bettie Cherry and "Bootchie" Field, Springfield, for participating in the disturbance, were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

Bank Clerk Helps Romney Police Capture Criminal

ROMNEY, W. Va., Aug. 29—An alert bank clerk caused the arrest yesterday of a man believed to be AWOL from the army and wanted by Pennsylvania and Maryland authorities.

Marvin Williams, cashier of the First National Bank in Romney, W. Va., became suspicious when J. E. Gallagher tried to cash a check, saying he was from Rowlesburg.

"The only man I know in Rowlesburg," Williams said, "is the druggist so I asked Gallagher his name. When he couldn't tell me I decided he wasn't from Rowlesburg at all."

When questioned further Gallagher became confused and told Williams he had identification papers in his car and would go and get them. Williams followed him as he left the bank and his suspicions were even more aroused when Gallagher started to get into Judge G. K. Kemp's car.

A shout from Williams caused the man to run to his own car and attempt a getaway.

Sheriff Heber Parsons was called and at Williams suggestion a truck was used to block the highway at a stategic point.

In his efforts to find an exist from the main street, Gallagher drove the car onto what used to be known as Whippoorwill Hollow, a road that comes out right where it starts. Consquently he found himself going around in circles and eventually surrounded by authorities.

According to Williams, Gallagher's car was stolen in Pennsylvania and contained jewelry worth hundreds of dollars and large amounts of clothing.

He is being held in the Romney jail pending the next session of the grand jury.

Meanwhile, authorities in Baltimore, Pennsylvania and Rowlesburg have contacted Romney officials in regard to having him extradited as he is wanted on burglary charges.

The Hampshire District Christian Churches, which includes churches in the area from Cumberland to Brandywine, W. Va., concluded their 65th annual convention at Del Ray, W. Va., on Sunday. Next year's meeting will be held in Laurel Hill, W. Va.

During the convention a pen and pencil set was presented to Rev. J. O. Patterson, host pastor, in recognition for his years of service in the district. Rev. Mr. Patterson has served in the ministry for 40 years, most of them in the district. For many years he was convention song leader, but resigned this year and nominated Mrs. D. K. Police Capture Escaped Convict In Keyser Home

Washington Was Serving 2 To 10 Year Term In Moundsville

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 29—Lester Mark Washington, 21, who escaped from the West Virginia Penitentiary several days ago was apprehended today at his mother's home in Potomac Heights by Claude A. Martin, chief of police, Edgell Rotruck and R. R. Karrickhoff, of the state police.

When the officers went to the home yesterday and questioned Mrs. Emma Washington she said she had no knowledge of her son's whereabouts. However, when they returned today they found Washington there.

He is being held in the Mineral County jail, pending instructions for his return to the Moundsville prison.

Washington was convicted in July 1944 in the Mineral County circuit court on a charge of stealing an automobile from the Woolf Milling Company in April 1944. He was sentenced by the late Judge Robert McV. Drane to from two to 10 years in the penitentiary.

2 Fined $5 Each

Mrs. Iris Haines Landis, Springfield, and Roger Haines, Romney, appeared before George C. Ludwick, justice of the peace, Wednesday, charged with assault and battery. Upon being found guilty, each was assessed a fine of $5 and costs.

The complaint against them was made by George C. Mutch, proprietor of the Fort Ashby Tavern in the village of Fort Ashby. He claimed that Mrs. Landis struck him with a beer bottle and that Haines hit him in his place of business, during a disturbance there on Saturday night, August 17.

Complaints against Mickey Cherry, Bettie Cherry and "Bootchie" Field, Springfield, for participating in the disturbance, were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

Services For Broome

Funeral services for William H. Broome who died Monday, were held in Grace Methodist Church at 2:30 this afternoon. Rev. Harry S. Myerly, pastor of the church, officiated. Interment was made in Queens Point Cemetery.

The pallbearers were James, Lawrence and Richard Broome, Roy Dohrman, Wood Grimes and Wright Welton.

Hospital Notes

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lannon, Westernport, in Potomac Valley Hospital.

Others admitted to the hospital are Mrs. Catherine Mason, Mrs. Malissa Lacy and William L. Gardner, Keyser; Mrs. Nellie Wilson, Aurora, W. Va.; Edgar Barrick and John Sprague, Westernport; Miss Twila Love, Shalmar; Mrs. Clara Cosner, Bismark; John Gray, New Creek, and Billy Brown, Vindex.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stephens and family who spent several weeks at Deep Creek Lake, have returned.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rendle, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Rendle and John J., James and George Cassell, all of Grafton, visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Broome and Miss Anna Rendle, 24 Spring street, recently.

A move to fix movie admission fees has been started in the Philippines.

Bank Clerk Helps Romney Police Capture Criminal

ROMNEY, W. Va., Aug. 29—An alert bank clerk caused the arrest yesterday of a man believed to be AWOL from the army and wanted by Pennsylvania and Maryland authorities.

Marvin Williams, cashier of the First National Bank in Romney, W. Va., became suspicious when J. E. Gallagher tried to cash a check, saying he was from Rowlesburg.

"The only man I know in Rowlesburg," Williams said, "is the druggist so I asked Gallagher his name. When he couldn't tell me I decided he wasn't from Rowlesburg at all."

When questioned further Gallagher became confused and told Williams he had identification papers in his car and would go and get them. Williams followed him as he left the bank and his suspicions were even more aroused when Gallagher started to get into Judge G. K. Kemp's car.

In his efforts to find an exist from the main street, Gallagher drove the car onto what used to be known as Whippoorwill Hollow, a road that comes out right where it starts. Consquently he found himself going around in circles and eventually surrounded by authorities.

According to Williams, Gallagher's car was stolen in Pennsylvania and contained jewelry worth hundreds of dollars and large amounts of clothing.

He is being held in the Romney jail pending the next session of the grand jury.

Meanwhile, authorities in Baltimore, Pennsylvania and Rowlesburg have contacted Romney officials in regard to having him extradited as he is wanted on burglary charges.

Hampshire Church Convention Ends

The Hampshire District Christian Churches, which includes churches in the area from Cumberland to Brandywine, W. Va., concluded their 65th annual convention at Del Ray, W. Va., on Sunday. Next year's meeting will be held in Laurel Hill, W. Va.

Earl Loy, Augusta, W. Va., was convention president and over 200 attended the youth rally at which six sessions were held.

The group was addressed by Rev. Rufus Peer, Augusta; Rev. Conrad McDonald, Paw Paw; Rev. S. J. Goode, Capon Bridge; Rev. Ray L. Henthorne, Cumberland; Rev. D. K. Sprangler, Romney; Prof. I. T. Green, Bethany College; Nathan Williamson, Winchester, Va.; and Mr. Loy.

During the convention a pen and pencil set was presented to Rev. J. O. Patterson, host pastor, in recognition for his years of service in the district. Rev. Mr. Patterson has served in the ministry for 40 years, most of them in the district. For many years he was convention song leader, but resigned this year and nominated Mrs. D. K. Spangler as his successor.

During the war between the Spaniards and the Moors in the 15th Century, Queen Isabella of Spain organized the first field hospital in which friends and foe were treated alike.

GET OUT OF YOUR OWN WAY

Have you ever tried to walk with a frantic youngster clinging to your knees? Didn't get ahead very fast, did you? You'd certainly hate to do all your walking with such a handicap.

And yet that's exactly the way most of us stumble through life!

Here we are, all set to go! So much to do . . . so many schemes to get under way . . . and we'll have to hurry, for others are getting ahead of us.

But we can't move! For every time we start, that pesty youngster grabs us . . . squalling with fright, shrieking with rage, gripping us with desperate, stupid stubbornness! An outrageous nuisance . . . why doesn't someone call it off? Because there's no one to call it off.

That pest belongs to us, and to us alone! It is our own childishness which hangs to our knees and keeps us from going ahead . . . our own childishness which we should have completed years ago, but which we will carry with us into our maturity. to blame God . . . or society . . .

Why don't we get ahead? We like or our families. But we ourselves are to blame. It is the spoiled brat in each of us that breaks our stride. You know how it is with yourself. Those sudden spasms of anger . . . that panic that besets you in a crisis . . . your dread of making changes . . . your resentment of criticism . . . the difficulty of making decisions. You know how these traits bother you. You resent them and think wistfully, how wonderful life would be if you were free of them.

"But there's nothing I can do about it!" you say, with a resigned shrug. "I'm just made that way."

Snap out of it! Be your age! You're not made that way. These tiresome traits are not crosses which God has given you to bear. They're hang-overs from your childhood . . . infantile habits which you should have outgrown as you've outgrown snuffing and giggling and biting your nails.

Really mature people do outgrow such traits. Those quiet, strong, efficient people whom you so often envy, those people who seem never fussed, who do so much work with so little friction . . . They didn't just happen to get that way. They worked to get that way. They deliberately "put aside childish things" and learned to think and act like men. And now they have full control of themselves. No fractious child blocks their stride.

You can be as free as they, if you will follow the same method. Face facts. Stop blaming God. Blame yourself . . . blame the spoiled brat in yourself. Get rid of that spoiled brat. Get out of your own way.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

BY LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29. — Well, Clark Gable has the new and finished script of the much discussed "Hucksters" right in his fists, and just between you and me and the whole world, he likes it. Luther Davis, brilliant radio writer, has done a swell job on the script for Arthur Hornblow, the producer. Soooo, Mr. Gable will star in "The Hucksters". No, I best selling novel, as his next M-G-M movie. Everybody happy?

Writer Davis knows all the radio angles and he gives them to this fascinating Frederick Wakeman story about Vic Norman. Who will play Kay? I don't know. But I hear through the grapevine that Jack Conway, who made many Gable pictures, will direct. That would be an arrangement that would please Clark because he likes Jack—who doesn't?

Personally I think Loretta Young is a very sensible girl she has asked for her release from Robert Riskin in "Magic Town", the picture in which she was to have co-starred with Jimmy Stewart. I say sensible because Loretta has been working very, very hard and she isn't very strong. No sense in getting all run down. I'm a good one to talk. But anyway, Loretta's husband, Tom Lewis, wanted her to go away on a vacation and she couldn't go for months if she made the picture. She wanted so much to make it with Jimmy, natch. But her doctor, too, advised a rest, so she'll go to Honolulu with her husband and enjoy a nice vacation.

I told Norma Shearer she and Marty Arrouge should really go in the agency business. First she discovered Janet Leigh, Van Johnson's new leading lady, and now Marty is bringing Art Devlin, ski jumping champion, to Hollywood for a movie try. "Just wait," said Norma, "until you see Artie. He's the best looking thing and Marty has him under personal contract. I met Janet right for the first time when I went to M-G-M to be photographed with her and Van Johnson," Norma went on. "What," I shrieked. "I thought you discovered Janet." "I did, from enchanting photographs her father showed me," Norma said. "I was displaying them to Eddie Mannix when Lou Wasserman of Music Corporation literally grabbed them out of my hands and signed her—and, well, you know the rest—she'll leap to fame with Van in "The Romance of Rosy Ridge."

Cary Grant, who was on the radio with Parsons, Jr., Sunday, was later at a small dinner at the Cabana Club honoring Harriet. Cary told me that the Shirley Temple run-in with W.C.T.U. was the most ridiculous thing he ever heard. "Shirley doesn't take a cocktail," he said. "She comes uninvited to my house, in the movie, and tries to be sophisticated. She pours herself out what she believes to be a highball and spits it out. I am hauled into court by her sister, who is a judge, and I'm so mad I sock the bailiff." Why Cary! Being suspicious by nature, I accused David Selznick's press department of cooking up this little number for publicity. Between you and me, I'd be sorry to see Shirley take a drink on the screen even though I don't belong to the W.C.T.U.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: When Irene Wrightman McEvoy reaches Paris, she will definitely find out whether or not Freddy McEvoy has obtained a divorce from her. I know Irene's mother, Mrs. Irene Wrightman, a charming woman, did everything humanly possible to try to persuade her beautiful young daughter not to fly to Paris with the baby. The first McEvoy child died in Mexico City, and the older Irene adores this baby. Certainly Irene Jr. has the right to know whether or not she is divorced because McEvoy's name has been linked continuitly with dime store millionaires Barbara Hutton Grant.

Well, it couldn't happen to a nicer guy. Ben Lyon has just received word from Washington that he has been awarded the Legion of Merit, one of the most sought after decorations in World War II. The letter from Washington states Ben is being decorated for services rendered in the Army Air Force from 1942 to 1945. He was lieutenant colonel and served in England with distinction and honor. The colonel will be decorated either in Washington or March Field or here, depending whether he can get away from that the big new job of his at 20th Century-Fox as head of the casting department.

I am going to have one more producer to worry about, and I couldn't be more excited if he were in my own family. Young Sam Goldwyn, whom I first met when he was two days old, has joined the Sidney Box Company in London as an associate producer. Sammy showed considerable talent staging shows during the time he was in the Army. He'll work both in London and Paris. One of these days he'll be coming back to Hollywood to go in business with his father, the famous Samuel Goldwyn. Sammy, Jr. is a fine lad who has a good example in his father, who makes outstanding pictures. He has never made a really bad one.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: wow! Connie Bennett's husband, Colonel Coulter, has been ordered to Maxwell Field, Alabama, for nine months. The Zanucks and the Coulters came back after three days on the briny deep; Lucille Man Bill Grady's very pretty assistant, says it is not wedding bells for her and John Carroll—that the gentleman hasn't asked her. What's the matter with you, John? Lucille's an awfully nice girl; Irene Whightsman McEvoy was at Lake Tahoe, the house guest of Mitzi Stack and her son, Bob, when she decided to go to Paris; too bad that Mary Beth Hughes has gone to Las Vegas to divorce Ted North. She's expecting a baby. This is their third separation; Lana Turner is whispering that she has a new beeeg secret romance, but the man she sees most often is her ex-husband, Steve Crane. Glimpsed them lunching with their daughter Cheryl at the Beverly Hills club; Father Edward Murphy, who recently sent me his latest book, "Road From Olivet" is in Hollywood. He told me he will confer with David Selznick about his book, "The Scarlet Lily." Dined with George Dixon, who writes that very amusing column in the Hearst newspapers, his sister, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Igor Cassini, George and Bootsie Cassini, both Washington columists, were busy taking down notes—well, so was I, but being the hostess I had to be polite and let them have first dibs. J. Edgar Hoover stopped at our table. Jack Warner came and ate his dinner with us, but what he said goes in the other columns; Desi Arnaz and his band are signed for the Bob Hope air show and you can bet his flaming haired bride, Lucille Ball, is a happy gal; Claire Trevor now a free woman, walked into the Cabana Club flanked by two escorts, John Shelton and Producer Stanley Rubin; Patricia Morison, who is one of our real Hollywood beauties, goes into a broadway show, "Mirror In The Sky" in December — starring part, too; the Dr. Edward Goursons expect another visit from the stork—the second within the year. Mrs. G. was formerly married to Huntz Hall, one of the Dead End Kids That's all today. See you tomorrow.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

BY LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29. — Well, Clark Gable has the new and finished script of the much discussed "Hucksters" right in his fists, and just between you and me and the whole world, he likes it. Luther Davis, brilliant radio writer, has done a swell job on the script for Arthur Hornblow, the producer. Soooo, Mr. Gable will star in "The Hucksters", No. 1 best selling novel, as his next M-G-M movie. Everybody happy?

Writer Davis knows all the radio angles and he gives them to this fascinating Frederick Wakeman story about Vic Norman. Who will play Kay? I don't know. But I hear through the grapevine that Jack Conway, who made many Gable pictures will direct. That would be an arrangement that would please Clark because he likes Jack—who doesn't?

Personally I think Loretta Young is a very sensible girl she has asked for her release from Robert Riskin in "Magic Town", the picture in which she was to have co-starred with Jimmy Stewart. I say sensible because Loretta has been working very, very hard and she isn't very strong. No sense in getting all run down. I'm a good one to talk. But anyway, Loretta's husband, Tom Lewis, wanted her to go away on a vacation and she couldn't go for months if she made the picture. She wanted so much to make it with Jimmy, natch. But her doctor, too, advised a rest, so she'll go to Honolulu with her husband and enjoy a nice vacation.

I told Norma Shearer she and Marty Arrouge should really go in the agency business. First she discovered Janet Leigh, Van Johnson's new leading lady, and now Marty is bringing Art Devlin, ski jumping champion, to Hollywood for a movie try. "Just wait," said Norma, "until you see Artie. He's the best looking thing and Marty has him under personal contract. I met Janet Leigh for the first time when I went to M-G-M to be photographed with her and Van Johnson," Norma went on. "What," I shrieked. "I thought you discovered Janet." "I did, from enchanting photographs her father showed me." Norma said. "I was displaying them to Eddie Mannix when Lou Wasserman of Music Corporation literally grabbed them out of my hands and signed her—and, well, you know the rest—she'll leap to fame with Van in "The Romance of Rosy Ridge."

Cary Grant, who was on the radio with Parsons, Jr., Sunday, was later at a small dinner at the Cabana Club honoring Harriet. Cary told me that the Shirley Temple run-in with W.C.T.U. was the most ridiculous thing he ever heard. "Shirley doesn't take a cocktail," he said. Boy Larkmead Captures Manley Memorial

Time Play and Roman Boy Cop Other Feature Races

Betting Hits $2,411,338; Gen. Markey Presents Trophies; Bob Runyon Boosts Wins To 13

Boy Larkmead, a 7 to 1 shot, won the Harry A. Manley Memorial, the main event on yesterday's program at the Cumberland Fair Grounds as 7,500 fans braved intermittent showers to wager $316,087 and increased the mutual handle for the eight days to $2,411,338, which is just $176,090 short of the all-time ten-day mark of $2,587,428 established at the Cumberland Fair Association's half miler last year.

The Manley, named in honor of the association's late president and general manager, went to Boy Larkmead over Comedy Player, which missed by one length of repeating its victory of 1945. A year ago White Easter, which finished first, was disqualified, and Comedy Player was declared the winner.

Tammaro Rides Winner

Johnny Tammaro was aboard Miss K. A. Slaughter's five-year-old son of Sting, which is the eleventh horse to give its owner a leg on the imported trophy valued at $1,000 and first placed in competition at Fairgo in 1936. Jons, coupled with Carlotta as the Corbin-August entry finished third.

Gen. D. John Markey, Republican nominee for the United States Senate, presented the Manley trophy to Trainer Dan Chamblin, who accepted in behalf of Miss Slaughter, owner of the winner. Gen. Markey also presented the Chaney Memorial trophy to Corbin. This award was offered by Mrs. Howard Chaney in honor of her late husband, one-time jockey, who conducted a bowling parlor and cigar store here for many years.

Two other trophy races appeared on the card. The Ward Hauger Jeweler trophy went to Mrs. James Tucker, whose veteran router, Time Play, stepped off the mile and a sixteenth sixth in 1:54 1-5 to emerge the winner over Stinging Sam in a Photochart finish. Whiscendent came in third.

Time Play Scores Again

It was Time Play's second win of the meeting and the third winning mount for Patrick "Tommy" O'Brien, the classy apprentice rider from Midland, this county, who received a nice hand from the crowd when introduced by Col. Nelson W. Russler. O'Brien's two other wins were scored on Paula Grier.

The S. T. Little Jewelry trophy, second offered by the Baltimore street firm during the meeting, went to P. H. Faulconer's Roman Boy, another two-time winner at Fairgo. The 10-year-old gelded son of Ha-Ha won by a head over She's Scotch, the favorite, while Granju, showed. C. H. Fitzgerald, trainer of Roman Boy, accepted the Little trophy in behalf of the horse's owner.

Bobby Runyon marked up his thirteenth win of the meeting on Roman Bay. It was his second win of the day and coupled with a second and third sent his point total soaring to 78. He is now 19 points in the fore of his closest competitor, Johnny Tammaro, who has amassed 59 tallies.

A. L. Beach's Rocky Craig, piloted by Eddie Ballenger, took the opening number on the card from Wa-

one runway 2,700 feet long, with night lighting facilities and a custodian on 24-hour call. Expansion plans include lengthening the runway to a distance of 4,000 feet and building a cross-runway measuring between 2,900 and 3,000 feet.

The field was established about eight years ago by the Civil Aeronautics Administration as part of the CAA system of emergency fields, although it has been in active operation only about 15 months because of the war. A 40 by 100-foot hangar is located at the field, and seven training planes are kept there by O. R. Oates, flight instructor, as well as one private plane.

Other speakers at the meeting, who discussed problems of airport planning and construction, were Phillips Moore, CAA chief engineer; Paul Stafford, assistant CAA airport engineer; and George W. Pride, airport engineer for the West Virginia Board of Aeronautics.

The 52 persons attending the meeting included Mayor M. F. Gray and the town council, and representatives of the Kiwanis Club, Business and Professional Women's Club, Grant County Post No. 178, American Legion, and its Auxiliary; the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Petersburg Rod and Gun Club, all of which are co-sponsors with the Petersburg Aero Club of the airport expansion project.

Survey Authorized

The group decided to authorize a survey by R. W. Baker, Jr., Petersburg Army veteran and one of the engineers who assisted in building the Washington National Airport, who was appointed airport engineer at the meeting.

Baker will report to President Allan Foley and the three commissioners of the Grant County Court on his findings, after which cost estimates will be made and plans discussed for raising funds.

Dr. Hugh Allen, whose son, Hugh Allen, Jr., 17, is the youngest licensed private pilot in this section, acted as toastmaster. Melvin Muntzing introduced Rep. Randolph, who is president of the Congressional Flying Club, chairman of the West Virginia Planning Board Aviation Committee, and author of several legislative measures to promote the growth of aviation. Rep. Randolph left for Morgantown following the banquet. He is scheduled to give a similar address there tomorrow.

After the speaking program, colored movies of the Fourth of July air show here were shown by Rev. R. W. Morrow, Jr., pastor of the Methodist Church.

The entire group, including Rep. Randolph, made an inspection tour of the air field this afternoon.

Keating Memorial And Eagles Trophy Head Today's Card

"Lefty" Grove To Present F.O.E. Trophy In 6th Race At Fairgo

Two trophy races appear on today's program at Fairgo.

The fifth event will be known as the John J. Keating Memorial and to the owner of the winning horse will go the trophy offered by the Queen City Neon Company.

This race will be over 6½ furlongs and the field is topped by Paula Grier, two-times winner in seven days.

The owner of the winning thoroughbred in the sixth race will be presented the trophy offered by Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles. The presentation will be made by Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, of Lonaconing, one of the great major league baseball pitchers of bygone days.

Grove, who entered minor league ball in the Blue Ridge League at Martinsburg, W. Va., starred with great Baltimore Oriole teams managed by the late Jack Dunn, was sold to the Philadelphia Athletics for $100,600 and wound up his big league career with the Boston Red Sox.

FAIRGO NOTES

Charles "Butch" Schmidt, first sacker of the Boston Braves of 1914, and "Lefty" Grove will be guests of the Cumberland Fair Association at a dinner today at the Jockey Club. Schmidt was a member of "miracle" team managed by the late George Stallings which put on a spectacular drive to win the National League pennant and then startled the baseball world by winning four straight from Connie Mack's Athletics in the world series staged 32 years ago. Schmidt is now engaged in the butcher business in Baltimore.

Ed O'Hara, treasurer of the Marlboro track, sent word here yesterday that minimum purses at the Maryland half miler have been increased from $800 to $1,000. The 10-day meeting opens September 14.

The highest amount wagered on a single race here this season was $52,252 last Saturday.

Pete Peterson, who holds the contract on the sensational apprentice Robert Runyon, currently leading the jockeys, parade at this meeting, has received several tempting offers for the boy's contract.

Runyon, who hails from Johnson City, Kansas, broke his maiden astride C. E. Nelson's Bullcold on July 10 at Charles Town, W. Va. Runyon rides at 100 pounds. He has won 13 races here. Peterson says that he will wait until Timonium's meeting opens Sept. 2 before deciding what he will take for Runyon's contract.

All fees received by the boys riding here yesterday were turned over to the Jockeys' Guild Fund. Sammy Palumbo, who represents the Guild, expected to be able to send more than $1,000 on to New York headquarters.

Jockey Ralph Kirk, who broke a leg at Charles Town, has been moved from that city to his home in Silver Spring, Md.

Owner-Trainer Stanley Greene, Jr., announces he will split his stable, sending Toonerville, Kitty Kilts and five others to the Atlantic City, N. J., track while his brother Marvin will take the remainder to the Marlboro course.

The halter brigade took five horses valued at $6,800 the first seven days of the meeting.

Fields Stops Hughes, Campbell Flattens Rios

CHICAGO, Aug. 29 (AP) — Jimmy Fields, Boston middleweight, knocked out Sam Hughes of Detroit, in one minute and 59 seconds of the second round at the Rainbow Arena tonight to score his fourth straight Chicago victory. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Fields weighed 166; Hughes, 168½.

In the semiwindup, Tommy Campbell, 133½, Rock Island, Ill., won by a technical knockout over Tony Rios, 140, of Sonora, Mexico, in the second round of a scheduled eight-rounder. Referee Tuffy Griffiths stopped the contest after Rios had been floored three times.

143 GOLFERS WILL COMPETE IN GOLDEN STATE OPEN MEET

Ben Hogan Is Favorite In $15,000 Event At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29 (AP)—The field—143 golfers, big and little—against new PGA Champion Benny Hogan is the lineup for the $15,000, 72-hole Golden State Open Tournament starting tomorrow at California Country Club.

The 135-pound belter from Hershey, Pa., will be a strong favorite to prolong the hot streak that has brought him $33,377, top winnings among the pros this year, as well as the PGA crown in Portland last Sunday.

Hogan, last of the pro contingent to arrive here, will tee off without practice on the California layout, which was closed to play today. But that wasn't expected to bother the dynamic ex-Texan who has won 10 major 1946 tournaments, taking over the driver's seat from Byron Nelson, who is second with $22,000 won.

Nelson is not entered, but Hogan faces competition from other consistent shotmakers including Herman Barron, who has amassed $20,000; Jimmy Demaret, $14,500; U. S. open winner Lloyd Mangrum, $11,500; Vic Ghezzi, $10,263; Harold (Jug) McSpaden, $10,689.50; and Herman Keiser, $9,609.57.

The 72-hole tourney will be spread over four days, with prizes running from $2,500 for first place down to $150 for 25th.

Boy Larkmead Captures Manley Memorial

Time Play and Roman Boy Cop Other Feature Races

Betting Hits $2,411,338; Gen. Markey Presents Trophies; Bob Runyon Boosts Wins To 13

Boy Larkmead, a 7 to 1 shot, won the Harry A. Manley Memorial, the main event on yesterday's program at the Cumberland Fair Grounds as 7,500 fans braved intermittent showers to wager $316,087 and increased the mutual handle for the eight days to $2,411,338, which is just $176,090 short of the all-time ten-day mark of $2,587,428 established at the Cumberland Fair Association's half miler last year.

The Manley, named in honor of the association's late president and general manager, went to Boy Larkmead over Comedy Player, which missed by one length of repeating its victory of 1945. A year ago White Easter, which finished first, was disqualified, and Comedy Player was declared the winner.

Tammaro Rides Winner

Johnny Tammaro was aboard Miss K. A. Slaughter's five-year-old son of Sting, which is the eleventh horse to give its owner a leg on the imported trophy valued at $1,000 and first placed in competition at Fairgo in 1936. Jons, coupled with Carlotta as the Corbin-August entry finished third.

Gen. D. John Markey, Republican nominee for the United States Senate, presented the Manley trophy to Trainer Dan Chamblin, who accepted in behalf of Miss Slaughter, owner of the winner. Gen. Markey also presented the Chaney Memorial trophy to Corbin. This award was offered by Mrs. Howard Chaney in honor of her late husband, one-time jockey, who conducted a bowling parlor and cigar store here for many years.

Two other trophy races appeared on the card. The Ward Hauger Jeweler trophy went to Mrs. James Tucker, whose veteran router, Time Play, stepped off the mile and a sixteenth sixth in 1:54 1-5 to emerge the winner over Stinging Sam in a Photochart finish. Whiscendent came in third.

Time Play Scores Again

It was Time Play's second win of the meeting and the third winning mount for Patrick "Tommy" O'Brien, the classy apprentice rider from Midland, this county, who received a nice hand from the crowd when introduced by Col. Nelson W. Russler. O'Brien's two other wins were scored on Paula Grier.

The S. T. Little Jewelry trophy, second offered by the Baltimore street firm during the meeting, went to P. H. Faulconer's Roman Boy, another two-time winner at Fairgo. The 10-year-old gelded son of Ha-Ha won by a head over She's Scotch, the favorite, while Granju, showed. C. H. Fitzgerald, trainer of Roman Boy, accepted the Little trophy in behalf of the horse's owner.

Rep. Randolph

one runway 2,700 feet long, with night lighting facilities and a custodian on 24-hour call. Expansion plans include lengthening the runway to a distance of 4,000 feet and building a cross-runway measuring between 2,900 and 3,000 feet.

The field was established about eight years ago by the Civil Aeronautics Administration as part of the CAA system of emergency fields, although it has been in active operation only about 15 months because of the war. A 40 by 100-foot hangar is located at the field, and seven training planes are kept there by O. R. Oates, flight instructor, as well as one private plane.

Other speakers at the meeting, who discussed problems of airport planning and construction, were Phillips Moore, CAA chief engineer; Paul Stafford, assistant CAA airport engineer; and George W. Pride, airport engineer for the West Virginia Board of Aeronautics.

The 52 persons attending the meeting included Mayor M. F. Gray and the town council, and representatives of the Kiwanis Club, Business and Professional Women's Club, Grant County Post No. 178, American Legion, and its Auxiliary; the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Petersburg Rod and Gun Club, all of which are co-sponsors with the Petersburg Aero Club of the airport expansion project.

Survey Authorized

The group decided to authorize a survey by R. W. Baker, Jr., Petersburg Army veteran and one of the engineers who assisted in building the Washington National Airport, who was appointed airport engineer at the meeting.

Baker will report to President Allan Foley and the three commissioners of the Grant County Court on his findings, after which cost estimates will be made and plans discussed for raising funds.

Dr. Hugh Allen, whose son, Hugh Allen, Jr., 17, is the youngest licensed private pilot in this section, acted as toastmaster. Melvin Muntzing introduced Rep. Randolph, who is president of the Congressional Flying Club, chairman of the West Virginia Planning Board Aviation Committee, and author of several legislative measures to promote the growth of aviation. Rep. Randolph left for Morgantown following the banquet. He is scheduled to give a similar address there tomorrow.

After the speaking program, colored movies of the Fourth of July air show here were shown by Rev. R. W. Morrow, Jr., pastor of the Methodist Church.

The entire group, including Rep. Randolph, made an inspection tour of the air field this afternoon.

"Lefty" Grove To Present F.O.E. Trophy In 6th Race At Fairgo

Two trophy races appear on today's program at Fairgo.

The fifth event will be known as the John J. Keating Memorial and to the owner of the winning horse will go the trophy offered by the Queen City Neon Company.

This race will be over 6½ furlongs and the field is topped by Paula Grier, two-times winner in seven days.

The owner of the winning thoroughbred in the sixth race will be presented the trophy offered by Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles. The presentation will be made by Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, of Lonaconing, one of the great major league baseball pitchers of bygone days.

Grove, who entered minor league ball in the Blue Ridge League at Martinsburg, W. Va., starred with great Baltimore Oriole teams managed by the late Jack Dunn, was sold to the Philadelphia Athletics for $100,600 and wound up his big league career with the Boston Red Sox.

FAIRGO NOTES

Charles "Butch" Schmidt, first sacker of the Boston Braves of 1914, and "Lefty" Grove will be guests of the Cumberland Fair Association at a dinner today at the Jockey Club. Schmidt was a member of "miracle" team managed by the late George Stallings which put on a spectacular drive to win the National League pennant and then startled the baseball world by winning four straight from Connie Mack's Athletics in the world series staged 32 years ago. Schmidt is now engaged in the butcher business in Baltimore.

Ed O'Hara, treasurer of the Marlboro track, sent word here yesterday that minimum purses at the Maryland half miler have been increased from $800 to $1,000. The 10-day meeting opens September 14.

The highest amount wagered on a single race here this season was $52,252 last Saturday.

Pete Peterson, who holds the contract on the sensational apprentice Robert Runyon, currently leading the jockeys, parade at this meeting, has received several tempting offers for the boy's contract.

Runyon, who hails from Johnson City, Kansas, broke his maiden astride C. E. Nelson's Bullcold on July 10 at Charles Town, W. Va. Runyon rides at 100 pounds. He has won 13 races here. Peterson says that he will wait until Timonium's meeting opens Sept. 2 before deciding what he will take for Runyon's contract.

All fees received by the boys riding here yesterday were turned over to the Jockeys' Guild Fund. Sammy Palumbo, who represents the Guild, expected to be able to send more than $1,000 on to New York headquarters.

Jockey Ralph Kirk, who broke a leg at Charles Town, has been moved from that city to his home in Silver Spring, Md.

Owner-Trainer Stanley Greene, Jr., announces he will split his stable, sending Toonerville, Kitty Kilts and five others to the Atlantic City, N. J., track while his brother Marvin will take the remainder to the Marlboro course.

The halter brigade took five horses valued at $6,800 the first seven days of the meeting.

Fields Stops Hughes, Campbell Flattens Rios

CHICAGO, Aug. 29 (AP) — Jimmy Fields, Boston middleweight, knocked out Sam Hughes of Detroit, in one minute and 59 seconds of the second round at the Rainbow Arena tonight to score his fourth straight Chicago victory. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Fields weighed 166; Hughes, 168½.

In the semiwindup, Tommy Campbell, 133½, Rock Island, Ill., won by a technical knockout over Tony Rios, 140, of Sonora, Mexico, in the second round of a scheduled eight-rounder. Referee Tuffy Griffiths stopped the contest after Rios had been floored three times.

143 GOLFERS WILL COMPETE IN GOLDEN STATE OPEN MEET

Ben Hogan Is Favorite In $15,000 Event At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29 (AP)—The field—143 golfers, big and little—against new PGA Champion Benny Hogan is the lineup for the $15,000, 72-hole Golden State Open Tournament starting tomorrow at California Country Club.

The 135-pound belter from Hershey, Pa., will be a strong favorite to prolong the hot streak that has brought him $33,377, top winnings among the pros this year, as well as the PGA crown in Portland last Sunday.

Hogan, last of the pro contingent to arrive here, will tee off without practice on the California layout, which was closed to play today. But that wasn't expected to bother the dynamic ex-Texan who has won 10 major 1946 tournaments, taking over the driver's seat from Byron Nelson, who is second with $22,000 won.

Nelson is not entered, but Hogan faces competition from other consistent shotmakers including Herman Barron, who has amassed $20,000; Jimmy Demaret, $14,500; U. S. open winner Lloyd Mangrum, $11,500; Vic Ghezzi, $10,263; Harold (Jug) McSpaden, $10,689.50; and Herman Keiser, $9,609.57.

The 72-hole tourney will be spread over four days, with prizes running from $2,500 for first place down to $150 for 25th.

Hyndman Firemen Jolt Barrelville, 4-3

Cumberland Eagles Gain In Battle For 4th Place

Herboldshimer's Triple Decides Tilt; Falyan Stars In Relief Role; Bridges Hits Homer

HYNDMAN, Pa., Aug. 29 — The Hyndman Firemen halted Barrelville's dash for fourth place and a playoff spot in the Interstate Baseball League's Shaughnessy series by nosing out the Marylanders today by the score of 4-3.

The defeat placed Barrelville a full game in the rear of the Cumberland Eagles, who are now in possession of fourth place. Barrelville and the Eagles are slated to meet twice on Saturday at Barrelville, the first game of the dual bill being a replay of a recent tie game from the tenth inning. This game was ordered replayed by League President John J. Long. The regular league season ends on Sunday.

Barrelville led by the score of 3-2 in today's game until the fifth when the Firemen knotted the count on Devon Menges' triple and George Elder's single. Hyndman registered the deciding run in the sixth when Roy Evans got a life on Moore's error and scored on Robert "Spike" Herboldshimer's long triple to right field.

Henry Falyan, who relieved Johnny Waltman in the fifth frame was credited with the victory. He yielded only two hits and fanned nine in five innings.

Tommy Morgan accounted for three of Barrelville's eight hits while George Elder, Bobby Shaffer and Menges shared six of the winners' ten blows.

A leaping one-handed stab by Shortstop Elder on Moore's line drive in the fourth was the best fielding play. Box:

Hagerstown Reports $170,000 Net Profit On 10-Day Race Meet

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 29 (AP)—The recent ten-day race meet here brought $170,000 net profit to the Hagerstown Fair Association, General Manager Roger C. Hershey reported today.

Hershey said gross income was over $370,000, with the $200,000 difference going for purses, salaries, wages and repairs to the racing plant. He said the betting was the highest in the history of the local plant.

Hooper Triplett Finds No Job In Mexico

MONTERREY, Mexico, Aug. 29. (AP)—Hooper Triplett, Columbus, Ga., outfielder, arrived here today to find his job had been yanked from under him as he drove across the border.

Triplett wasn't in today's Nuevo Laredo lineup against Monterrey, and instructions from League President Jorge Pasquel in Mexico City will keep him off the team.

So far, baseball officials here said, they hadn't received Pasquel's telegram ordering Nuevo Laredo and all other teams not to sign Triplett because "he has been expelled by United States baseball on a charge of betting against his club."

Strike Of Jockeys Fails To Materialize

DEL MAR, Calif., Aug. 29 (AP)—The threatened jockey strike at Del Mar track did not materialize today as stewards softened the wording of a ruling against Jockey Guild member, Willie (Smoky) Saunders.

The stewards, however, did not lift the ten-day suspension against Saunders.

After conferring with a jockey committee the track officials reworded their suspension order to read: "For an unsatisfactory ride and in the opinion of the stewards, not of illegal intent."

Board Goes Haywire

A mechanical defect at the start of the program put the "tote" board out of commission for 55 minutes, 2:20 to 3:15, but did not interfere with the operation of the machines in the grandstand, club house and paddock. Col. Russler announced the results until the board was put in working order for the third race.

Rocky Craig and Mid Knight (3 and 4) paid off $52.50 to holders of daily double tickets.

Patuxent Belle, coupled with Sandals Fleet as the Hall-Bond entry, won the third race and paid $11.20 for $2. Patsy Grant was aboard the winner. Sweet Barbara, which fell over backwards on the way to the post, tossed Jockey Ballenger to the track and ran away, finished third.

Careless Knight, the 13-year-old campaigner, entered the double winner class by defeating Clever in the fourth. Julette showed. This was Bobby Runyon's first winning mount of the day and his twelfth of the meeting.

Favorite Breaks Down

Those who bet on Merry Glow, the even money favorite in the eighth, were keenly disappointed when the J. L. Friedman gelding finished last in a field of six. Many of those who lost on Merry Glow charged that the horse was unfit to run and should have been scratched before the race got under way. Complaints by bettors were numerous and several threatened to write the Maryland Racing Commission in regard to the matter. Merry Glow pulled up early in the race and Gay Array, which paid $11.70 for $2, Neutrality, Caffeine, She's Tops and G. C. Hamilton finished in that order ahead of the son of Canaan.

The track veterinarian stated that the horse was fit to run when examined and it's breakdown was no fault of his or the officials conducting the meet.

Yesterday's wagering was $8,635 less than the $324,722 bet on the eighth day last year. The latter figure, however, was the highest amount ever bet here on a single race at Fairgo until last Saturday's $361,104 established a new mark. Yesterday's batting was the fourth handle exceeding $300,000 in as many days.

Boston Nationals Obtain Franchise Of Milwaukee Club

Braves Buy Controlling Interest In Brewers From Salenger

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 29 (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association, one of big minor league baseball's most valuable franchises, passed out of independent ownership today into the Boston National League club system.

Louis R. Perini, president of the Braves, announced at a press conference that he had purchased the controlling interest owned by Oscar Salenger, a Chicago attorney, leaving the association without an independently owned club.

Perini indicated that he had paid Salenger about $270,000 for 321 of the club's 357 shares. The remaining shares are owned by three Milwaukeeans, Armin McGregor an attorney; Chester Baird, a manufacturer, and Dudley Pierson, a sugar broker. Perini said he would be happy to have the latter retain their holdings if they wished.

The deal for the club was closed last night at a conference in Chicago attended by Perini, John Quinn, general manager of the Braves, and Salenger. Perini said that the present Brewer executive force, including General Manager Jack O'Connor, would be retained. Manager Nick Cullop, who had the club in fourth place today by a half-game over Minneapolis, has a contract extending through the 1947 season.

The transaction grew out of the recent purchase of the Pittsburgh Pirates by Frank McKinney of Indianapolis. Before buying the National League club McKinney had a piece of the Braves and the latter had a share of the Indianapolis American Association franchise.

McKinney wanted the Indianapolis Club for the Pirate organization and the Braves agreed to transfer their Indianapolis stock to him, leaving Boston without a Class AAA minor league connection. Perini wasted no time in making the deal with Salenger who put his Milwaukee holdings on the market several weeks ago.

Pittsburgh Purchases Two Hollywood Players

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 29. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today announced the purchase of Manuel Perez, right-handed pitcher, and Frank Klain, outfielder, from the Hollywood Club in the Pacific Coast League.

General Manager Ray L. Kennedy said the players were obtained under a working agreement which gives the Pirates the right to buy any two players from the stars for a fixed sum. They will not report until next year.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES TO BE GIVEN TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29. (AP)—Two proposed changes in football rules will be given a trial in the last quarter of the game between Fordham and Georgetown here Oct. 11.

Coach Jack Hagerty of Georgetown told a reporter today the officials of the two schools have agreed to use:

1. Four minutes actual playing time instead of the 15-minute quarter now required. Time will be measured only when the ball is in play, and will, Hagerty believes, prevent much of the stalling so commonplace now.

"For instance," said Hagerty, "the guy who kills time in the huddle will be out of luck. Time isn't counted until the play actually begins."

2. A trailer's choice after scoring. At present the team scored upon gets its choice of whether it wishes to kick or receive. Under the trailer's choice system, the team that's behind gets to decide.

Myers gathered about a dozen men, mostly backs, who were in town and decided on a little preliminary work to show them the style he plans to employ. As the work progressed, more candidates showed up, including several husky linemen.

Professional Football Players Arrive By Plane For Game

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29, (AP)—Members of the Buffalo Bisons and Miami Seahawks football teams, who will meet tomorrow night in the stadium, arrived in Baltimore today by plane.

Two planes, each carrying 37 players and four coaches, landed within 10 minutes of the other. Among the welcoming committee was Mayor Theodore McKeldin.

The teams will provide the first eastern test for the new All America Conference, and both are reported in top condition after several weeks of training.

Meagher probably will start Cotton Price, Texas A. & M., at quarterback, Monk Gafford of Auburn and Dick Erditz of Northwestern, halfbacks, and W. A. (Dub) Jones of Tulane and Louisiana State at fullback.

Dawson's probable backfield starters are Harry Hopp, Nebraska, quarterback; Lou Tomasetti of Bucknell and Steve Juzwik, Notre Dame, halfbacks; and Vic Kulbitski, Minnesota, fullback.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES TO BE GIVEN TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29. (AP)—Two proposed changes in football rules will be given a trial in the last quarter of the game between Fordham and Georgetown here Oct. 11.

Coach Jack Hagerty of Georgetown told a reporter today the officials of the two schools have agreed to use:

1. Four minutes actual playing time instead of the 15-minute quarter now required. Time will be measured only when the ball is in play, and will, Hagerty believes, prevent much of the stalling so commonplace now.

"For instance," said Hagerty, "the guy who kills time in the huddle will be out of luck. Time isn't counted until the play actually begins."

24 Candidates Report For Hopkins Squad

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (AP) — Although the official Johns Hopkins football practice isn't slated to begin until Sept. 4, head coach Howdy Myers has about 24 candidates already out in uniform.

Myers gathered about a dozen men, mostly backs, who were in town and decided on a little preliminary work to show them the style he plans to employ. As the work progressed, more candidates showed up, including several husky linemen.

MIAMI SEAHAWKS AND BUFFALO CLASH TONIGHT IN BALTIMORE

Professional Football Players Arrive By Plane For Game

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29, (AP)—Members of the Buffalo Bisons and Miami Seahawks football teams, who will meet tomorrow night in the stadium, arrived in Baltimore today by plane.

Two planes, each carrying 37 players and four coaches, landed within 10 minutes of the other. Among the welcoming committee was Mayor Theodore McKeldin.

The teams will provide the first eastern test for the new All America Conference, and both are reported in top condition after several weeks of training.

Meagher probably will start Cotton Price, Texas A. & M., at quarterback, Monk Gafford of Auburn and Dick Erditz of Northwestern, halfbacks, and W. A. (Dub) Jones of Tulane and Louisiana State at fullback.

Cards Increase Lead By Trimming Giants

Pollet Scores 4-0 Win; Cubs Edge Dodgers, 3-2

St. Louis Sweeps Series To Gain 2 1-2 Games Lead Over Brooklyn In Pennant Race

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 29 (AP) — Howie Pollet pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 2½ game lead in the National League race today with a brilliant five-hit shutout effort against the New York Giants, 4-0, for a clean sweep of the three-game series.

Routing the jinx that the Giants have held over the Cards all season, St. Louis rapped Dave Koslo for nine hits in handing him his 15th loss of the season.

Pollet never was in any serious trouble in registering his 17th win, sprinkling five singles over the route, never more than one in an inning.

Terry Moore's double following Red Schoendienst's third-inning single produced the first run and a combination of a walk to Erv Dusak and Marty Marion's two-bagger made it 2-0 in the fourth. Whitey Kurowski's single, Dusak's double and a walk to Marion loaded the bases in the eighth before Clyde Kluttz unloaded a two-run double to left field. Box:

SHORT FIELDER, EH?—Short and not so sweet to the umpire was this act by a midget in Boston during a game between the Red Sox and Indians. Cleveland was employing the famous "Williams Shift" wherein the infielders and outfielders move over to the right side of the diamond. A midget fan in the stands rushed out, grabbed Pinky Higgin's glove and began playing around short and third base. Joe Cronin, left, laughed and laughed but the umpire didn't see it that way. Manager Lou Boudreau argued for keeping the extra player, stating it only made nine and one-half men on the field. (P. S.) Williams struck out.

All-Stars Seek Junior Title Series With Fort Cumberland

President Harold E. Naughton yesterday issued a challenge in behalf of the Midget Baseball League All-Stars to the Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion team for one or a series of games for the junior championship of Cumberland.

"The Midget League has some promising material this season and I'm certain these boys are capable of giving the Legion juniors an interesting battle for the championship," Naughton said.

"If the Legion is interested I will gladly meet their representatives and arrange for such a series."

Naughton said players of his circuit will participate in the drive being conducted by the North End Playground Association to raise funds to sod the infield and make other improvements at Stitcher field where the Midget League stages most of its games.

Pence To Reduce Squad Of 75 To 50, Campers' Opener Is Sept. 20

Seventy-five candidates reported for football at Allegany High School on Tuesday but the squad will be reduced to about fifty next week, Coach Robert E. Pence announced yeterday.

Pence stated that twenty members of last year's squad have returned to school but the only regulars in camp are Owen Miller, lineman, and Tommy Powers, fullback.

Allegany hopes to play a schedule of ten games and has nine booked thus far. Eight of the contests are scheduled here and one away. Another contest is sought away from home for October 25 or 26.

Ohio Plans Endurance Contest For Horses

HAMILTON, O., Aug. 29 (AP)—Horse followers will be treated to a bit of old fashioned ring-around-the-rosie at the Butler County Fairgrounds Saturday when a running race, billed as "the longest over a half-mile strip" in the nation, comes up for decision.

The bangtails, pounding out two and one-sixteenth miles in the seventh running of the Hamilton endurance classic, will go thundering by the grandstand five times before the race is won.

St. Louis Sweeps Series To Gain 2 1-2 Games Lead Over Brooklyn In Pennant Race

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 29 (AP) — Howie Pollet pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 2½ game lead in the National League race today with a brilliant five-hit shutout effort against the New York Giants, 4-0, for a clean sweep of the three-game series.

Routing the jinx that the Giants have held over the Cards all season, St. Louis rapped Dave Koslo for nine hits in handing him his 15th loss of the season.

Pollet never was in any serious trouble in registering his 17th win, sprinkling five singles over the route, never more than one in an inning.

Terry Moore's double following Red Schoendienst's third-inning single produced the first run and a combination of a walk to Erv Dusak and Marty Marion's two-bagger made it 2-0 in the fourth. Whitey Kurowski's single, Dusak's double and a walk to Marion loaded the bases in the eighth before Clyde Kluttz unloaded a two-run double to left field. Box:

SHORT FIELDER, EH?—Short and not so sweet to the umpire was this act by a midget in Boston during a game between the Red Sox and Indians. Cleveland was employing the famous "Williams Shift" wherein the infielders and outfielders move over to the right side of the diamond. A midget fan in the stands rushed out, grabbed Pinky Higgin's glove and began playing around short and third base. Joe Cronin, left, laughed and laughed but the umpire didn't see it that way. Manager Lou Boudreau argued for keeping the extra player, stating it only made nine and one-half men on the field. (P. S.) Williams struck out.

YANKS WALLOP INDIANS

NEW YORK, Aug. 29, (AP)—New York clinched the season series with Cleveland today, walloping the Indians 9-1 behind Randy Gumpert's nine-hit pitching in the Tribe's final appearance of the season at the Yankee Stadium.

Making it 12 victories in 20 starts against Cleveland, the Yanks banged starter Steve Gromek, who beat them five straight times last season, and Bob Lemon for 12 hits including Joe Gordon's 11th homer of the season with a man on in the sixth.

Midget Leaguers Challenge Legion

All-Stars Seek Junior Title Series With Fort Cumberland

President Harold E. Naughton yesterday issued a challenge in behalf of the Midget Baseball League All-Stars to the Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion team for one or a series of games for the junior championship of Cumberland.

"The Midget League has some promising material this season and I'm certain these boys are capable of giving the Legion juniors an interesting battle for the championship," Naughton said.

"If the Legion is interested I will gladly meet their representatives and arrange for such a series."

Naughton said players of his circuit will participate in the drive being conducted by the North End Playground Association to raise funds to sod the infield and make other improvements at Stitcher field where the Midget League stages most of its games.

Pence To Reduce Squad Of 75 To 50, Campers' Opener Is Sept. 20

Seventy-five candidates reported for football at Allegany High School on Tuesday but the squad will be reduced to about fifty next week, Coach Robert E. Pence announced yeterday.

Pence stated that twenty members of last year's squad have returned to school but the only regulars in camp are Owen Miller, lineman, and Tommy Powers, fullback.

Allegany hopes to play a schedule of ten games and has nine booked thus far. Eight of the contests are scheduled here and one away. Another contest is sought away from home for October 25 or 26.

Ohio Plans Endurance Contest For Horses

HAMILTON, O., Aug. 29 (AP)—Horse followers will be treated to a bit of old fashioned ring-around-the-rosie at the Butler County Fairgrounds Saturday when a running race, billed as "the longest over a half-mile strip" in the nation, comes up for decision.

The bangtails, pounding out two and one-sixteenth miles in the seventh running of the Hamilton endurance classic, will go thundering by the grandstand five times before the race is won.

National Air Races Will Be Broadcast Today

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—A series of broadcasts from the National Air Races gets under way on CBS from Cleveland. The schedule calls for three transmissions, 8:30 a. m., 2:15 and 4 p. m., the events in order being the Bendix Trophy, start and finish, and the Halle trophy for women pilots. Before the meet is finished five other broadcasts are planned. Red Barber will be in charge of the microphoning.

Bout broadcasting as scheduled for ABC at 9 p. m., is a welterweight mixup. Principals are Tony Pellone and Billy Graham.

Meet the Press on MBS at 9:30 has scheduled Senator James M. Mead of New York, chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee, to supply the answers to newspapermen questions.

It will be a "nightmare" when Mystery Theater does another for NBC at 9. At least that's the title of the drama about a murder . . . Mary Watson's Sound Off on behalf of Army recruiting has five more weeks on the air, but in doing so CBS is moving the show from Fridays at 7 to Wednesdays at 6:30, effective next week . . . More NBC drama, coming in Tales of the Foreign Service at 10:30 will be a story about Yugoslavia during the war years. Title is "Government in Limbo."

Representative Clarence J. Brown, of Ohio, campaign director for the Republican National Committee, is to do the talking for the NBC weekly discussion time at 9:45. His subject, "Here's Where We Stand."

In memory of our beloved Mother, Mary Reager, who died five years ago today, August 29.

In loving memory of Mr. Roland T. Dayton, who passed away one year ago, August 29, 1945.

One year has passed without you,
We are very sad and blue;
There's never a day, dear Daddy,
That we don't think of you.

Some may think we are not lonely,
What at times they see us smile.
But they do not know the heartache
We suffer all the while.

Your voice we loved is still,
Your place is vacant in our hearts,
No one can ever fill.

MRS R. T. DAYTON and
DAUGHTERS AND SONS.

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved Mother, Mary Reager, who died five years ago today, August 29.

Today recalls sad memories
And the ones who think of her today

CHILDREN,
637 Elm St.
8-29-1t-N

In loving memory of Mr. Roland T. Dayton, who passed away one year ago, August 29, 1945.

One year has passed without you,
We are very sad and blue;
There's never a day, dear Daddy,
That we don't think of you.

Some may think we are not lonely,
What at times they see us smile.
But they do not know the heartache
We suffer all the while.

Your voice we loved is still,
Your place is vacant in our hearts,
No one can ever fill.

MRS R. T. DAYTON and

County Residents, Injured In Fatal Crash, Improve

Ellerslie Postmistress Loses Life In Wreck East Of Hancock

Three Allegany County residents, badly injured in an automobile-truck accident east of Hancock early yesterday morning that took the life of Miss Betty Jane Porter, 21, Ellerslie postmistress, were improving last night in Washington County Hospital, Hagerstown, according to attending physicians.

Miss Porter, daughter of Harry and Lydia Lowery Porter, died in the hospital a few minutes after she was admitted. Death was attributed to a crushed chest.

The injured were listed at the hospital and by State Police as Mrs. Marion Hast, 37, Ellerslie; William E. Clauson, 40, Corriganville, and David Masser, 27, Corriganville. Physicians gave this report on their injuries and conditions:

Chest Is Crushed

Mrs. Hast — crushing injury to right chest with a fracture of one rib and hemorrhage into the lung, numerous small cuts, deep cut in tongue. Her condition on admission to the hospital was considered critical, but after responding well to treatment during the day is now listed as serious. She was "doing satisfatorily" last night.

Masser—very deep cut in front of right ear which severed artery to head, extensive laceration to bottom part of right ear, smaller cuts of the forehead and neck, right hand split between index and second fingers, considerable loss of blood. His condition on admission to the hospital was considered critical, but he also has responded well to treatment and his condition last night was not considered as serious as Mrs. Hast's.

Clauson—concussion of the brain, deep cuts to forehead and back of head and right knee. He was least hurt of all and his condition was considered very satisfactory last night.

In the meantime, the body of Miss Porter has been returned from Hagerstown, but funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Clauson Listed As Driver

State Trooper Raymond F. McGuire, who investigated, said Clauson was the driver of the car and that the crash occurred about 2:30 a. m. yesterday about eight miles east of Hancock near Licking Creek bridge.

Clauson, headed east, attempted to pass a heavily loaded tractor-trailer truck bound for Baltimore and operated by Harry Sharp, Pittsburg, but tried to drop in back of the truck when he noticed an approaching automobile, the trooper reported. He said the car Clauson was driving struck the left rear of the trailer. Sharp was uninjured in the crash.

Constable Howard Murfin, Hancock, began the investigation but later turned it over to Trooper McGuire.

Besides her parents, Miss Porter is survived by two brothers, Robert Porter, this city, and Edward Porter, Maryland State Line, and two sisters, Mrs. Irma Burkett and Mrs. Hazel Griffey, both of Ellerslie.

Sunshine Camp Work Reviewed For Kiwanians

A review of the activities of the Kiwanis Sunshine Camp for the season just closed was presented to members yesterday by Herbert Platt, chairman of the board of governors of the camp; B. E. Sherwood, camp director, and Miss Jeanette Bonig, of the Associated Charities, the agency which supplies the children for the camp each summer.

Platt outlined briefly the history of the club's work with underprivileged children and said that a 10 year lease was signed on the present camp in 1939. He told the members that club doctors have performed tonsil operations on seven children who attended the camp this summer.

Miss Bonig, in her talk, explained to the Kiwanians how the children are selected and that in February of each year she and her assistants visited schools, talked to principals to find out what underprivileged children they thought should be sent to the camp. Health nurses were also contacted for any children which they thought would benefit by attending the Kiwanis camp.

Miss Bonig said it was necessary to visit the homes of the children several times to obtain complete information and to secure the permission of the parents for the child to attend camp. In selecting children for the camp this year it was necessary to make 307 visits, she added.

Sherwood said the children seemed to enjoy the camping period immensely and stated that the average weight gain of the 27 girls who were at the camp the last three weeks was 2 and 9-10 pounds and that two girls gained five pounds each. The average gain for the boys was 3 and 2-10 pounds with the largest gain being seven pounds. He said a well rounded program was carried out including games, hikes, swimming, devotional periods and other projects.

Other guests attending the meeting, who had a part in the camp activities this year, were Mrs. Sherwood; Jeanne Marquis, Georgia Huster, Nancy Williams, and Jack Pierce, counselors, and Miss Loretta Carney of the Associated Charities.

The club yesterday selected delegates to attend the annual Capital District convention to be held in Washington, Oct. 3, 4 and 5. In addition to O. J. Hale, club president, other delegates will be George Buchanan, vice president, and William J. Edwards, secretary. Alternate delegates are Lloyd Rawlings and Charles F. Helmrich.

Shaffer Teams Win Bulk Of Prize Money In Horse-Pulling Contest

Glotfelty Lumber Company Team Cops Heavyweight Event For $40

Three sweating, straining teams of horses won the bulk of the prize money for Charles Shaffer, Hagerstown farmer, in the horse-pulling contest held last night at the Cumberland Fair before a crowd that overflowed the grandstand.

One of Shaffer's teams won the lightweight event for teams weighing under 3,000 pounds, and others finished second and third in the heavyweight class, returning prize money of $70. A total of $155 was offered in prizes.

In the lightweight class, the team of Marvin Abbott, Sharpsburg, Washington County, placed second to win $40 and the team of Jack Horn, Keedysville, also of Washington County, placed third, also winning $15.

Glotfelty Team Wins

A team entered by the Glotfelty Lumber Company, Oakland, triumphed in the heavyweight class to return $40 to the owner. Shaffer's second place team earned $30 and his third place team $20. Fourth prize in the heavyweight division went to a team entered by Jack Horn, Keedysville. His prize was $15.

Figured out scientifically by means of a dynamometer, a device that figures the power of the pull into tons, Shaffer's winning light team pulled the equivalent of 14½ tons. The Glotfelty team pulled an equivalent of 18.7 tons to win the heavyweight event.

Joseph Vial, of the Livestock Department of the University of Maryland, was the judge. John Clark, executive secretary of the Maryland State Fair Board, was master of ceremonies.

Staged By McHenry, Miller

The contest was staged under the direction of Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, and Clarence Miller, Midland, who are in charge of the Livestock Department at the fair.

To conduct the contest, horses are hooked to a truck carrying weights, but when they pull, they pull the weights, not the truck. The truck free-wheels along.

Teams are required to pull a weight for 27½ feet in order to get credit for the full weight. If they pull the weight only a part of the distance, they are credited with the proper fraction of the weight.

Woman, 81, Killed When Hit By Train

Mrs. Emma W. Flora, 81, retired Washington government worker who once operated a restaurant here, was struck and killed instantly about 7:40 a. m. yesterday by a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad express train at Seibert in the eastern section of the county, according to State Police.

Officers said Mrs. Flora, who was spending the summer with Mrs. C. H. Hamilton at Seibert, was taking a bundle of newspapers to a mail box across the tracks when she was struck. Her body was found about 30 feet west of the crossing.

Dr. H. V. Deming, acting deputy county medical examiner, said Mrs. Flora's death was caused by numerous fractures on the right side of the body. State Trooper W. A. Wilt aided in the investigation.

Trainmen said the area where the accident occurred was very foggy yesterday morning and that trainmen on the express pulled into Cumberland unaware they had struck a woman. Her body was seen later by the conductor of the Romney local of the B. and O. as his train passed. He called division headquarters here and Stein's ambulance was sent to the scene.

Mrs. Flora was a daughter of the late Tilghman and Margaret Wood Seaman and is believed to be a native of this section. More than 35 years ago she operated a restaurant on Queen City pavement here. She was the widow of James W. Flora.

Although Mrs. Flora left Cumberland in 1913 to take a position with the Postoffice Department in Washington, she usually spent her summers in Seibert.

She made her home with a daughter, Mrs. Sam E. Grant, Washington. In addition, she is survived by a niece, Mrs. John Conway, 72 Pershing street, city. A son, Robert C. Flora, died in Texas last May.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in Stein's Funeral Home with Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, officiating. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Terminal Plans May Improve Businesses

Two property owners who operate businesses on North Centre street plan extensive improvements if the proposed bus terminal is located at Centre and Bedford streets, as advocated by representatives of several bus lines, Mayor Thomas S. Post said he was informed yesterday.

The men explained that they believe the entire North Centre street section will be improved if a modern terminal is located in that section, and that as a result they will be able to expand their establishments.

It was also learned today that arrangements have been made to finance the building of the terminal and that options on the property, the northwest corner of Bedford and Centre streets, have been obtained.

Preliminary plans would appear to provide sufficient parking space for buses, which would be kept off the streets, and attention is being given to having space for automobiles which would take passengers to and from the terminal.

The terminal problem will be considered at a meeting of the Mayor and Council and the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission along with other city and bus company officials Friday, September 6, at the City Hall.

Regular employes of the McCrory Store here earning less than $60 weekly will receive, without cost, $1,500 insurance policies, with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Paul E. Myers, manager of the local store announced yesterday. The agreement affects the entire McCrory chain, Myers added.

Roy F. Coppedge, chairman of the Board of Directors of the company explained that all regular McCrory employes with a year or more of service are eligible for the insurance policies without cost to any worker.

"The move marks another step forward in the company's efforts to look after the welfare of its employes," he said.

Other benefits accorded McCrory personnel include a retirement plan for all regular employes, which became effective in 1944.

MEYERSDALE, Pa., Aug. 29—Final plans for the Legion Day celebration to be sponsored by Charles E. Kelly Post No. 112, American Legion, at the Somerset County Fair on September 4 were announced today by M. Frank Beamer, committee chairman.

The celebration will be featured by the visit and address of Gov. Edward Martin in the afternoon and a parade with between 30 and 40 musical organizations in line, at night.

Gov. Martin, who is scheduled to speak at the fairgrounds at 3:30 p. m., will be introduced by William S. Livengood, state secretary of internal affairs. A platoon of military police will serve as a guard of honor for the governor.

Prizes totaling $1,000 will be offered to bands and drum and bugle corps marching in the parade, Beamer said. He added that although between 30 and 40 musical organizations are expected to participate, more are wanted, and said that bands interested should contact him, John Cover, Thomas Shipley, Charles Darrah, Richard Bolden and James Hartle, members of the committee.

Court Admonishes Defendant, Frees Him Of Contempt

Judge Capper Warns L. L. Reynolds He Must Abide By Order

With a stern admonishment to Lovell L. Reynolds that his divorced wife, Mrs. Irene A. Reynolds, Washington telephone supervisor, is to be permitted to see their two children in accordance with a previous court order, Associate Judge Walter C. Capper in an opinion handed down yesterday in Circuit Court dismissed her petition to have him adjudged guilty of contempt.

The court order was passed March 31, 1944, and provided that Mrs. Reynolds was entitled to see the children twice monthly from 4 to 9 p. m. away from the home. The order was subject to change or revocation in the event Mrs. Lovell caused any trouble between him and the children.

Judge Capper pointed out that testimony in the hearing August 22 showed that the children have been with Mrs. C. P. McCluer, Roanoke, Va., since July 1945, and said that it was not clear how much of that time Reynolds lived there, since his work makes it necessary for him to travel.

Successful Twice

Evidence shows, the jurist said, that Mrs. Reynolds went to Roanoke "over and over again" and tried to see the children but that she was unable to see them except on two occasions.

The court is convinced, Judge Capper said, that Reynolds "has hardly co-operated at all" in carrying out the order. He added that as long as the order stands Reynolds is to see that Mrs. Reynolds sees the children and is not "frustrated" in her efforts to see them.

"As long as this order stands," Judge Capper declared, "the court is going to see to it that she has the right to see the children." He said she should give notice, preferably by registered letter, when she wishes to see them.

Judge Capper pointed out that Reynolds testified he was moving to Cumberland with the children on September 1. If he does that and Mrs. Reynolds notifies him she wishes to see the children and he refuses that right to her, he will be found guilty of contempt if brought before the court, the judge asserted.

Must Be Carried Out

Judge Capper dismissed the contempt charge with the warning that "this order of court is an order of court" and must be carried out. If it is not carried out, the court has the power to punish him by contempt and imprison or fine him, the jurist said.

P. Brooke Whiting represented Mrs. Reynolds with Edward J. Ryan as counsel for the defendant.

George Is Named Optimist President

H. Wayne George was named president, and I. Newt Evans will serve as secretary. Other officers are C. Richard Hollar, vice president for membership and attendance; Hugh Funkhouser, vice president for program; F. Alan Weatherholt, vice president for publicity; Charles U. Weibel, vice president for boys' work.

The officers will be installed on "Charter Night," Friday, September 27, at a dinner at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. John T. McRae, Portsmouth, Va., district governor, will be the installing officer. The principal address will be given by Dr. Joseph W. Seay, Pittsburgh, past president of Optimist International, which has its headquarters in St. Louis, Mo.

Maj. Roy F. Seymour, extension counselor, presided and introduced ten new members who have been admitted during the past week.

Testimonial Party Is Given For Lutz

Henry P. Lutz was honored by members of the congregation of Beth Jacob Synagogue, at a stag farewell testimonial dinner, last night at the synagogue.

Moe Sacks served as toastmaster and, in behalf of the congregation, presented Mr. Lutz with a pen and pencil set. Short talks were given by Rabbi Jacob Aronson, Robert Kaplon, Dr. Samuel Jacobson, Samuel Barsky and Benjamin Levin.

Having served as president of the congregation for the past four years, Mr. Lutz resigned recently, and will leave town early next week for California, where he will go into business for himself. He has been associated in business here with his brother in Lou's Auto Store.

Rep. Randolph Urges Maintenance Of Nation's Air Power "Backlog"

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 29—Discussing "The Future of Airports and Their Needs," Rep. Jennings Randolph of the Second District of West Virginia said last night that the United States ranks No. 1 in air power "backlog," and that air superiority must be maintained for lasting peace.

Rep. Randolph addressed an airport planning meeting at a dinner in the Hermitage Hotel, sponsored by the Petersburg Aero Club to make preliminary plans for expanding the present emergency field one mile southwest of here on Route 220.

Stressing the importance of air power in national security, the congressman discussed the implications of the new national airport bill passed by Congress and signed by President Truman last spring.

Benefits Cited

Within a period of from three to five years, he said, Petersburg will benefit under the bill, which provides that the federal government will match amounts raised by sponsoring groups and the state for the improvement and development of airports.

This means, he explained, that if Petersburg raises $50,000, the state will match that amount and the government will match the total with another $100,000.

At present the field consists of

Demurrer Upheld In Action Filed Over Real Estate

Complainants File Amended Bill Saying Executor Refuses To Sell

Sustining a demurrer to a bill of complaint filed in a dispute over sale of real estate of the late Henry F. Knippenberg, Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper handed down an opinion in Circuit Court yesterday giving the attorney for the complainants right to file an amended bill for purposes of alleging that Frederick F. Knippenberg, surviving executor of his father's estate, has refused to make sale of the property as provided by will.

The opinion was handed down in the suit filed by Mr. and Mrs. Boyd C. Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Valentine against Frank Knippenberg, surviving executor.

The bill stated that Henry Knippenberg owned a large property on Irons mountain when he died in 1911, and that his will devised all of his property to his widow for life or until her remarriage. In either event, the property was to be sold and a certain amount of money given to seven sons and daughters.

Died In April

In their bill, the complainants said they doubted if the surviving executor had the power to sell the property and that he had made no attempt to sell it since Mrs. Knippenberg's death in April of this year.

The jurists said they believe Knippenberg has power to sell the property and pointed out that there is no allegation in the bill that the surviving executor refused to sell the property. The jurists said the bill was filed a little over three months after the widow's death, and added that they cannot say that a delay on the part of the surviving executor to make sale in that limited time is refusel, especially since there is no allegation that he refused.

Files Amended Bill

In an amended bill filed subsequently, William H. Geppert, attorney for the complainants, asserted that the surviving executor has refused to sell the property despite demands of the residuary legatees.

The amended bill declared that the complainants have been advised by counsel for the surviving executor that he proposes to proceed to a sale of the property in Orphans Court while the case pends. It asserts that the complainants believe fair sale would not be made and asks the court for an order to restrain the surviving executor until the case is disposed of. Judges Huster and Capper signed a restraining order.

Two Children Hurt When Auto Upsets

Two children were injured, neither seriously, when the automobile in which they were riding skidded across Route 40, hit a guardrail and overturned six miles east of Cumberland about 3 p. m. yesterday, State Trooper C. D. Mades reported.

The officer said the automobile was operated by Walter Grabenstein, 18, 541 Fairview avenue, and that he was headed west down a slight grade when the car skidded.

Brought to Allegany Hospital by a passing motorist, the injured were listed as Walter Grabenstein, 6, 541 Fairview avenue, a cousin of the driver, and Mary Margaret Barncord, 4, Mt. Savage. The boy was treated for a leceration of his head and the girl for several small cuts on her left leg.

West Virginia Couple Married At Court House

A West Virginia couple came to Cumberland yesterday afternoon to get a marriage license and brought their minister along with them. He performed the ceremony in the petit jury room of the Court House.

The bridegroom, Ronald Skelton Veach, Purgittsville, who gave his age as 50 and his occupation as a farmer, was accompanied by Rev. India L. Hockman, also of Purgittsville, when he applied for the license to marry Mary Elizabeth High, a widow, also of Purgittsville. He gave her age as 32.

When Veach and the minister said they didn't know where the ceremony would be performed, attaches suggested they use an unoccupied room at the Court House. When the bride-to-be gave her consent, the couple and the minister were escorted to the petit jury room on the second floor.

Four Are Injured In Two-Car Crash Near Fort Ashby

Lester C. Kidwell, Levels, W. Va., Is Critically Hurt

Four persons were injured, two of them seriously, as a result of a two-car collision on Route 28, about one and one-half miles south of Fort Ashby, W. Va., yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock.

Most seriously injured was Lester Charles Kidwell, age not available, Lewis, W. Va., who was reported in a "critical" condition at 11:20 p. m. in Memorial Hospital.

Howard Burkett, 36, Points, W. Va., was reported in a "fair" condition in Allegany Hospital.

Miss Audrey Foor, 28, 800 Easton avenue, Altoona, Pa., and Harry Grine, 36, 1709 Sylvan avenue, Natrona Heights, Pa., were both in "good" conditions in Memorial Hospital.

Was Bleeding Profusely

Kidwell, attaches at Memorial said, was unconscious upon admission and was bleeding profusely at the nose and mouth and was believed to be suffering from possible internal injuries.

Authorities were unable to say whether he or Burkett, who was taken to Allegany after the crash, was the driver of the car in which they were riding. Burkett was admitted at 6:30 p. m. suffering from possible fractures of the ribs, a laceration on the forehead above the right eye and brush burns of the face and nose.

Trooper L. W. Kelly, who with Cpl. C. R. Hawkins investigated for West Virginia State Police, said witnesses told him the Pennsylvania car was traveling north on Route 28 and had just started to pass another car when the driver saw another car coming, applied the brakes and skidded against the West Virginia car.

Cars Are Demolished

He said the right side of the Pennsylvania vehicle was completely demolished while the front end of the West Virginia car was a total wreck.

Mrs. Roy Smith, Romney, who was driving behind the West Virginia car involved in the crash, ran off the highway into a corn field in order to avoid striking the wrecked cars, Trooper Kelley said, and escaped injury.

Trooper Kelley said all the occupants of the cars had been taken to local hospitals when they arrived and explained that the investigation is still incomplete.

Three Others Injured

Treated in Allegany yesterday were Harold Hartsock, 17, Route 1, at 3:30 p. m. for a laceration on the right hand near the thumb. He said he was cutting cheese at the G. C. Murphy store when a knife slipped.

Mrs. Marie Logsdon, 67, 113 Bedford street, at 5 p. m. for a fracture of the right arm at the wrist. She said she was injured in a fall at Fairgo.

David Henderson, 15, Largent, W. Va., at 4 p. m., for a possible fracture of the right foot. He said he was helping at his father's sawmill when a log struck him on the foot.

CPA Regulations To Be Available At Housing Office

Copies of general restrictions on construction and repairs under Civilian Production Administration regulations, will be sent to the branch office of the National Housing Agency in City Hall, according to John F. Schnebly, Harrisburg, Pa., CPA compliance investigator.

Schnebly discussed the system in use here of issuing building permits at a conference with Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, yesterday afternoon. The latter pointed out that permits are issued under city regulations but are stamped "granted subject to federal building regulations."

Rizer suggested that copies of the regulations under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program be sent to the NHA office so that persons planning construction, work can obtain them.

Five Permits Granted

Clyde S. Slider, 520 Ridgewood avenue, secured a permit to build a five-room brick house on sections of Lots 13 and 14, Block 29, on Edgevale avenue, at an estimated cost of $5,000. The one-story structure will measure 26 by 34 feet and will have a concrete block foundation and a roof of asphalt shingles. Work will be done by the owner.

Charles C. Sullivan, Boulevard apartments, was granted a permit to close in the two present front windows and one door with glass blocks at 332 Virginia avenue, at an estimated cost of $300, provided a second exit is provided. Work will be done by Donald McGill. Sullivan stated in his application that the premises will be used for club purposes by an "authorized Democratic club."

William A. Lindner, 487 Goethe street, plans to remodel a one-story frame garage at 493 Goethe street for use as a residence, at an estimated cost of $300. The building measures 15 by 27 feet.

To Open Salesroom

A permit was granted to Russell D. Beery, 14 Pennsylvania avenue, to enclose a porch at his home, at an estimated cost of $75. The one-story addition will measure 7 by 9 feet, and will be enclosed with windows and frame walls.

Frank J. Mackert, 619 Columbia avenue, secured an occupancy permit to use the first floor of a two-story frame building at 620 Columbia avenue as a salesroom for washing machines, electric refrigerators, stoves and furnaces. Although the premises are in a Residential B zoning district, the permit was granted because the Board of Zoning Appeals in September, 1945, granted an appeal for similar use of the building, although that permit was never used.

The owner of the building is John M. Perdew, 232 Glenn street, according to the application.

18-Year-Old Bride Granted Divorce

Testifies Husband Began To "Tear Loose" After Getting Out Of Army

An 18-year-old bride of less than eight months was granted an absolute divorce in Circuit Court yesterday from her husband, declaring that he "was running with other women, and I couldn't take that."

The decree, signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster gave the young woman, Mrs. Thelma M. Christman, 236 West Oldtown road, right to resume use of her maiden name, Thelma Crowe, and ordered her husband, James A. Christman, to pay the costs of the proceedings.

Mrs. Christman testified that she and her husband were married January 8, this year, at Union Grove, and that they separated in April.

She declared, "He was a pretty good husband to me until he got out of the army on April 5, 1946, and then he began to tear loose, and has continued to do so ever since." Edwin M. Horchler was her attorney.

Alleging that her husband, Walter C. Hyde, has failed to pay her $15 weekly alimony during court litigation and $40 for counsel fee as ordered by the court, Mrs. Anna F. Hyde asked that he be ordered to appear and show cause why he should not be adjudged guilty of contempt. Morgan C. Harris is her attorney.

Edward Monnett, Frostburg, yesterday filed suit for an absolute divorce from Elizabeth I. Monnett, said to be a resident of Illinois, on grounds of desertion. Monnett's attorney, Edward J. Ryan, said they were married August 10, 1938, in Frostburg, and lived together until September 1, 1944. They have one child.

Jerome H. Bock filed suit for divorce from Frances Mae Bock on undisclosed grounds, and Angela K. McIntosh sued for divorce from Therold L. McIntosh, also on undisclosed grounds, Morris Baron is attorney for the complainants.

County Residents, Injured In Fatal Crash, Improve

Ellerslie Postmistress Loses Life In Wreck East Of Hancock

Three Allegany County residents, badly injured in an automobile-truck accident east of Hancock early yesterday morning that took the life of Miss Betty Jane Porter, 21 Ellerslie postmistress, were improving last night in Washington County Hospital, Hagerstown, according to attending physicians.

Miss Porter, daughter of Harry and Lydia Lowery Porter, died in the hospital a few minutes after she was admitted. Death was attributed to a crushed chest.

The injured were listed at the hospital and by State Police as Mrs. Marion Hast, 37, Ellerslie; William E. Clauson, 40, Corriganville, and David Masser, 27, Corriganville. Physicians gave this report on their injuries and conditions:

Chest Is Crushed

Mrs. Hast — crushing injury to right chest with a fracture of one rib and hemorrhage into the lung, numerous small cuts, deep cut in tongue. Her condition on admission to the hospital was considered critical, but after responding well to treatment during the day is now listed as serious. She was "doing satisfatorily" last night.

Masser—very deep cut in front of right ear which severed artery to head, extensive laceration to bottom part of right ear, smaller cuts of the forehead and neck, right hand split between index and second fingers, considerable loss of blood. His condition on admission to the hospital was considered critical, but he also has responded well to treatment and his condition last night was not considered as serious as Mrs. Hast's.

Clauson—concussion of the brain, deep cuts to forehead and back of head and right knee. He was least hurt of all and his condition was considered very satisfactory last night.

In the meantime, the body of Miss Porter has been returned from Hagerstown, but funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Clauson Listed As Driver

State Trooper Raymond F. McGuire, who investigated, said Clauson was the driver of the car and that the crash occurred about 2:30 a. m. yesterday about eight miles east of Hancock near Licking Creek bridge.

Clauson, headed east, attempted to pass a heavily loaded tractor-trailer truck bound for Baltimore and operated by Harry Sharp, Pittsburg, but tried to drop in back of the truck when he noticed an approaching automobile, the trooper reported. He said the car Clauson was driving struck the left rear of the trailer. Sharp was uninjured in the crash.

No charges have been preferred pending a more complete investigation, McGuire said.

Constable Howard Murfin, Hancock, began the investigation but later turned it over to Trooper McGuire.

Besides her parents, Miss Porter is survived by two brothers, Robert Porter, this city, and Edward Porter, Maryland State Line, and two sisters, Mrs. Irma Burkett and Mrs. Hazel Griffey, both of Ellerslie.

Sunshine Camp Work Reviewed For Kiwanians

A review of the activities of the Kiwanis Sunshine Camp for the season just closed was presented to members yesterday by Herbert Platt, chairman of the board of governors of the camp; B. E. Sherwood, camp director, and Miss Jeanette Bonig, of the Associated Charities, the agency which supplies the children for the camp each summer.

Platt outlined briefly the history of the club's work with underprivileged children and said that a 10 year lease was signed on the present camp in 1939. He told the members that club doctors have performed tonsil operations on seven children who attended the camp this summer.

Miss Bonig, in her talk, explained to the Kiwanians how the children are selected and that in February of each year she and her assistants visited schools, talked to principals to find out what underprivileged children they thought should be sent to the camp. Health nurses were also contacted for any children which they thought would benefit by attending the Kiwanis camp.

Miss Bonig said it was necessary to visit the homes of the children several times to obtain complete information and to secure the permission of the parents for the child to attend camp. In selecting children for the camp this year it was necessary to make 307 visits, she added.

Sherwood said the children seemed to enjoy the camping period immensely and stated that the average weight gain of the 27 girls who were at the camp the last three weeks was 2 and 9-10 pounds and that two girls gained five pounds each. The average gain for the boys was 3 and 2-10 pounds with the largest gain being seven pounds. He said a well rounded program was carried out including games, hikes, swimming, devotional periods and other projects.

Other guests attending the meeting, who had a part in the camp activities this year, were Mrs. Sherwood; Jeanne Marquis, Georgia Huster, Nancy Williams, and Jack Pierce, counselors, and Miss Loretta Carney of the Associated Charities.

The club yesterday selected delegates to attend the annual Capital District convention to be held in Washington, Oct. 3, 4 and 5. In addition to O. J. Hale, club president, other delegates will be George Buchanan, vice president, and William J. Edwards, secretary. Alternate delegates are Lloyd Rawlings and Charles F. Helmrich.

Shaffer Teams Win Bulk Of Prize Money In Horse-Pulling Contest

Glotfelty Lumber Company Team Cops Heavyweight Event For $40

Three sweating, straining teams of horses won the bulk of the prize money for Charles Shaffer, Hagerstown farmer, in the horse-pulling contest held last night at the Cumberland Fair before a crowd that overflowed the grandstand.

One of Shaffer's teams won the lightweight event for teams weighing under 3,000 pounds, and others finished second and third in the heavyweight class, returning prize money of $70. A total of $155 was offered in prizes.

In the lightweight class, the team of Marvin Abbott, Sharpsburg, Washington County, placed second to win $45 and the team of Jack Horn, Keedysville, also of Washington County, placed third, also winning $15.

Glotfelty Team Wins

A team entered by the Glotfelty Lumber Company, Oakland, triumphed in the heavyweight class to return $40 to the owner. Shaffer's second place team earned $30 and his third place team $20. Fourth prize in the heavyweight division went to a team entered by Jack Horn, Keedysville. His prize was $15.

Figured out scientifically by means of a dynamometer, a device that figures the power of the pull into tons, Shaffer's winning light team pulled the equivalent of 14½ tons. The Glotfelty team pulled an equivalent of 16.7 tons to win the heavyweight event.

Joseph Vial, of the Livestock Department of the University of Maryland, was the judge. John Clark, executive secretary of the Maryland State Fair Board, was master of ceremonies.

Staged By McHenry, Miller

The contest was staged under the direction of Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, and Clarence Miller, Midland, who are in charge of the Livestock Department at the fair.

To conduct the contest, horses are hooked to a truck carrying weights, but when they pull, they pull the weights, not the truck. The truck free-wheels along.

Teams are required to pull a weight for 27½ feet in order to get credit for the full weight. If they pull the weight only a part of the distance, they are credited with the proper fraction of the weight.

Woman, 81, Killed When Hit By Train

Mrs. Emma W. Flora, 81, retired Washington government worker who once operated a restaurant here, was struck and killed instantly about 7:40 a. m. yesterday by a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad express train at Seibert in the eastern section of the county, according to State Police.

Officers said Mrs. Flora, who was spending the summer with Mrs. C. H. Hamilton at Seibert, was taking a bundle of newspapers to a mail box across the tracks when she was struck. Her body was found about 30 feet west of the crossing.

Dr. H. V. Deming, acting deputy county medical examiner, said Mrs. Flora's death was caused by numerous fractures on the right side of the body. State Trooper W. A. Wilt aided in the investigation.

Trainmen said the area where the accident occurred was very foggy yesterday morning and that trainmen on the express pulled into Cumberland unaware they had struck a woman. Her body was seen later by the conductor of the Romney local of the B. and O. as his train passed. He called division headquarters here and Stein's ambulance was sent to the scene.

Mrs. Flora was a daughter of the late Tilghman and Margaret Wood Seaman and is believed to be a native of this section. More than 35 years ago she operated a restaurant on Queen City pavement here. She was the widow of James W. Flora.

Although Mrs. Flora left Cumberland in 1913 to take a position with the Postoffice Department in Washington, she usually spent her summers in Seibert.

She made her home with a daughter, Mrs. Sam E. Grant, Washington. In addition, she is survived by a niece, Mrs. John Conway, 72 Pershing street, city. A son, Robert C. Flora, died in Texas last May.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in Stein's Funeral Home with Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, officiating. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Terminal Plans May Improve Businesses

Two property owners who operate businesses on North Centre street plan extensive improvements if the proposed bus terminal is located at Centre and Bedford streets, as advocated by representatives of several bus lines, Mayor Thomas S. Post said he was informed yesterday.

The men explained that they believe the entire North Centre street section will be improved if a modern terminal is located in that section, and that as a result they will be able to expand their establishments.

It was also learned today that arrangements have been made to finance the building of the terminal and that options on the property, the northwest corner of Bedford and Centre streets, have been obtained.

Preliminary plans would appear to provide sufficient parking space for buses, which would be kept off the streets, and attention is being given to having space for automobiles which would take passengers to and from the terminal.

The terminal problem will be considered at a meeting of the Mayor and Council and the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission along with other city and bus company officials Friday, September 6, at the City Hall.

Mr. Lewis had been in ill health almost a year, and during Wednesday's program at Fairgo two of the horses he trained here in 1945, ran first. They were "Ted O" and "Maryland Morn."

Born October 27, 1896 in Upshur county, W. Va., he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Wave Lewis, a son, Patrick, and two sisters. The body has been taken to Buckhannon, W. Va., for burial.

Court Admonishes Defendant, Frees Him Of Contempt

Judge Capper Warns L. L. Reynolds He Must Abide By Order

With a stern admonishment to Lovell L. Reynolds that his divorced wife, Mrs. Irene A. Reynolds, Washington telephone supervisor, is to be permitted to see their two children in accordance with a previous court order, Associate Judge Walter C. Capper in an opinion handed down yesterday in Circuit Court dismissed her petition to have him adjudged guilty of contempt.

The court order was passed March 31, 1944, and provided that Mrs. Reynolds was entitled to see the children twice monthly from 4 to 9 p. m. away from the home. The order was subject to change or revocation in the event Mrs. Lovell caused any trouble between him and the children.

Judge Capper pointed out that testimony in the hearing August 22 showed that the children have been with Mrs. C. P. McCluer, Roanoke, Va., since July 1945, and said that it was not clear how much of that time Reynolds lived there, since his work makes it necessary for him to travel.

Successful Twice

Evidence shows, the jurist said, that Mrs. Reynolds went to Roanoke "over and over again" and tried to see the children but that she was unable to see them except on two occasions.

The court is convinced, Judge Capper said, that Reynolds "has hardly co-operated at all" in carrying out the order. He added that as long as the order stands Reynolds is to see that Mrs. Reynolds sees the children and is not "frustrated" in her efforts to see them.

"As long as this order stands," Judge Capper declared, "the court is going to see to it that she has the right to see the children." He said she should give notice, preferably by registered letter, when she wishes to see them.

Judge Capper pointed out that Reynolds testified he was moving to Cumberland with the children on September 1. If he does that and Mrs. Reynolds notifies him she wishes to see the children and he refuses that right to her, he will be found guilty of contempt if brought before the court, the judge asserted.

Must Be Carried Out

Judge Capper dismissed the contempt charge with the warning that "this order of court is an order of court" and must be carried out. If it is not carried out, the court has the power to punish him by contempt and imprison or fine him, the jurist said.

F. Brooke Whiting represented Mrs. Reynolds with Edward J. Ryan as counsel for the defendant.

Rep. Randolph Urges Maintenance Of Nation's Air Power "Backlog"

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 29—Discussing "The Future of Airports and Their Needs," Rep. Jennings Randolph of the Second District of West Virginia said last night that the United States ranks No. 1 in air power "backlog," and that air superiority must be maintained for lasting peace.

Rep. Randolph addressed an airport planning meeting at a dinner in the Hermitage Hotel, sponsored by the Petersburg Aero Club to make preliminary plans for expanding the present emergency field one mile southwest of here on Route 220.

Stressing the importance of air power in national security, the congressman discussed the implications of the new national airport bill passed by Congress and signed by President Truman last spring.

Benefits Cited

Within a period of from three to five years, he said, Petersburg will benefit under the bill, which provides that the federal government will match amounts raised by sponsoring groups and the state for the improvement and development of airports.

This means, he explained, that if Petersburg raises $50,000, the state will match that amount and the government will match the total with another $100,000.

Demurrer Upheld In Action Filed Over Real Estate

Complainants File Amended Bill Saying Executor Refuses To Sell

Sustining a demurrer to a bill of complaint filed in a dispute over sale of real estate of the late Henry F. Knippenberg, Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper handed down an opinion in Circuit Court yesterday giving the attorney for the complainants right to file an amended bill for purposes of alleging that Frederick F. Knippenberg, surviving executor of his father's estate, has refused to make sale of the property as provided by will.

The opinion was handed down in the suit filed by Mr. and Mrs. Boyd C. Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Valentine against Frank Knippenberg, surviving executor.

The bill stated that Henry Knippenberg owned a large property on Irons mountain when he died in 1911, and that his will devised all of his property to his widow for life or until her remarriage. In either event, the property was to be sold and a certain amount of money given to seven sons and daughters.

Died In April

In their bill, the complainants said they doubted if the surviving executor had the power to sell the property and that he had made no attempt to sell it since Mrs. Knippenberg's death in April of this year.

The jurists said they believe Knippenberg has power to sell the property and pointed out that there is no allegation in the bill that the surviving executor refused to sell the property. The jurists said the bill was filed a little over three months after the widow's death, and added that they cannot say that a delay on the part of the surviving executor to make sale in that limited time is refusel, especially since there is no allegation that he refused.

Files Amended Bill

In an amended bill filed subsequently, William H. Geppert, attorney for the complainants, asserted that the surviving executor has refused to sell the property despite demands of the residuary legatees.

The amended bill declared that the complainants have been advised by counsel for the surviving executor that he proposes to proceed to a sale of the property in Orphans Court while the case pends. It asserts that the complainants believe fair sale would not be made and asks the court for an order to restrain the surviving executor until the case is disposed of. Judges Huster and Capper signed a restraining order.

Two Children Hurt When Auto Upsets

Two children were injured, neither seriously, when the automobile in which they were riding skidded across Route 40, hit a guardrail and overturned six miles east of Cumberland about 3 p. m. yesterday, State Trooper C. D. Mades reported.

West Virginia Couple Married At Court House

A West Virginia couple came to Cumberland yesterday afternoon to get a marriage license and brought their minister along with them. He performed the ceremony in the petit jury room of the Court House.

The bridegroom, Ronald Skelton Veach, Purgittsville, who gave his age as 50 and his occupation as a farmer, was accompanied by Rev. India L. Hockman, also of Purgittsville, when he applied for the license to marry Mary Elizabeth High, a widow, also of Purgittsville. He gave her age as 32.

When Veach and the minister said they didn't know where the ceremony would be performed, attaches suggested they use an unoccupied room at the Court House. When the bride-to-be gave her consent, the couple and the minister were escorted to the petit jury room on the second floor.

CPA Regulations To Be Available At Housing Office

Copies of general restrictions on construction and repairs under Civilian Production Administration regulations, will be sent to the branch office of the National Housing Agency in City Hall, according to John F. Schnebly, Harrisburg, Pa., CPA compliance investigator.

Schnebly discussed the system in use here of issuing building permits at a conference with Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, yesterday afternoon. The latter pointed out that permits are issued under city regulations but are stamped "granted subject to federal building regulations."

Rizer suggested that copies of the regulations under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program be sent to the NHA office so that persons planning construction work can obtain them.

Five Permits Granted

Clyde S. Slider, 520 Ridgewood avenue, secured a permit to build a five-room brick house on sections of Lots 13 and 14, Block 29, on Edgevale avenue, at an estimated cost of $5,000. The one-story structure will measure 26 by 34 feet and will have a concrete block foundation and a roof of asphalt shingles. Work will be done by the owner.

Charles C. Sullivan, Boulevard apartments, was granted a permit to close in the two present front windows and one door with glass blocks at 332 Virginia avenue, at an estimated cost of $300, provided a second exit is provided. Work will be done by Donald McGill. Sullivan stated in his application that the premises will be used for club purposes by an "authorized Democratic club."

William A. Lindner, 487 Goethe street, plans to remodel a one-story frame garage at 493 Goethe street for use as a residence, at an estimated cost of $300. The building measures 15 by 27 feet.

To Open Salesroom

A permit was granted to Russell D. Beery, 14 Pennsylvania avenue, to enclose a porch at his home, at an estimated cost of $75. The one-story addition will measure 7 by 9 feet, and will be enclosed with windows and frame walls.

Frank J. Mackert, 619 Columbia avenue, secured an occupancy permit to use the first floor of a two-story frame building at 620 Columbia avenue as a salesroom for washing machines, electric refrigerators, stoves and furnaces. Although the premises are in a Residential B zoning district, the permit was granted because the Board of Zoning Appeals in September, 1945, granted an appeal for similar use of the building, although that permit was never used.

The owner of the building is John M. Perdew, 232 Glenn street, according to the application.

Lester C. Kidwell, Levels, W. Va., Is Critically Hurt

Four persons were injured, two of them seriously, as a result of a two-car collision on Route 28, about one and one-half miles south of Fort Ashby, W. Va., yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock.

Most seriously injured was Lester Charles Kidwell, age not available, Lewis, W. Va., who was reported in a "critical" condition at 11:20 p. m. in Memorial Hospital.

Was Bleeding Profusely

Kidwell, attaches at Memorial said, was unconscious upon admission and was bleeding profusely at the nose and mouth and was believed to be suffering from possible internal injuries.

Authorities were unable to say whether he or Burkett, who was taken to Allegany after the crash, was the driver of the car in which they were riding. Burkett was admitted at 6:30 p. m. suffering from possible fractures of the ribs, a laceration on the forehead above the right eye and brush burns of the face and nose.

Trooper L. W. Kelly, who with Cpl. C. R. Hawkins investigated for West Virginia State Police, said witnesses told him the Pennsylvania car was traveling north on Route 28 and had just started to pass another car when the driver saw another car coming, applied the brakes and skidded against the West Virginia car.

Cars Are Demolished

He said the right side of the Pennsylvania vehicle was completely demolished while the front end of the West Virginia car was a total wreck.

Mrs. Roy Smith, Romney, who was driving behind the West Virginia car involved in the crash, ran off the highway into a corn field in order to avoid striking the wrecked cars, Trooper Kelley said, and escaped injury.

Trooper Kelley said all the occupants of the cars had been taken to local hospitals when they arrived and explained that the investigation is still incomplete.

18-Year-Old Bride Granted Divorce

Testifies Husband Began To "Tear Loose" After Getting Out Of Army

An 18-year-old bride of less than eight months was granted an absolute divorce in Circuit Court yesterday from her husband, declaring that he "was running with other women, and I couldn't take that."

The decree, signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster gave the young woman, Mrs. Thelma M. Christman, 236 West Oldtown road, right to resume use of her maiden name, Thelma Crowe, and ordered her husband, James A. Christman, to pay the costs of the proceedings.

Mrs. Christman testified that she and her husband were married January 8, this year, at Union Grove, and that they separated in April.

She declared, "He was a pretty good husband to me until he got out of the army on April 5, 1946, and then he began to tear loose, and has continued to do so ever since." Edwin M. Horchler was her attorney.

Alleging that her husband, Walter C. Hyde, has failed to pay her $15 weekly alimony during court litigation and $40 for counsel fee as ordered by the court, Mrs. Anna F. Hyde asked that he be ordered to appear and show cause why he should not be adjudged guilty of contempt. Morgan C. Harris is her attorney.

Edward Monnett, Frostburg, yesterday filed suit for an absolute divorce from Elizabeth I. Monnett, said to be a resident of Illinois, on grounds of desertion. Monnett's attorney, Edward J. Ryan, said they were married August 10, 1938, in Frostburg, and lived together until September 1, 1944. They have one child.

Jerome H. Bock filed suit for divorce from Frances Mae Bock on undisclosed grounds, and Angela K. McIntosh sued for divorce from Therold L. McIntosh, also on undisclosed grounds. Morris Baron is attorney for the complainants.
